The Gus Sun Rising Minstrels.

At Opera House Wednesday, Dec. 27th, 1899. Gus Sun Rising Minstrels will be seen for one night only. From the press notices we have seen from various papers we are led to believe this is one of the best minstrel companies that has appeared in this city for years. The organization is composed of thirty-five artists, culled from the best talent of the country, among whom we mention, Henry J. Yorkey, the prince of entertainers, principal endman and monologust; Brooks and Carr, song and dance artists; Lambert and Mack, female burlesquers; Ivy and Mack, musical mokes, late of the principal music halls of Europe; W. N. Miller, America's famous baritone; Sam Drane, song and dance comedian, Tom Shae, comedian and acrobatic dancer; The Emporium Band will hold a E. W. Chipman, bass soloist, Gus Sum, social dance in the Opera House, on Monday evening, December 25. Come and balancer, besides a large number of singers, musicians and dancers. The en-tertainment will open with a "Lawn Tennis" First Part, embellished with beautiful costumes, special scenery and mechanical effects—not the old mossgrown offering, but an entirely new and novel creation, introducing the entire personale of the company. Following this, the various artists in their respective specialties will constitute the olio, which will be closed with the big son and dance entitled "The Chicken Thieves." evening's program will terminate in Frank Dumont's funniest of absurdities, "The Summer Hotel." introducing the famous and popular comedian, Mr. Henry J. Yorkey, and others. This company enjoys the reputation of producing nothing but the newest and most successful songs, dances, specialties and acts, and we feel safe in assuring our readers this will be the minstrel event of the season-one long to be remembered as an evening of wholesome entertainment. teeming with fun and laughter, a welcomed release from business cares and worry. Seats now on sale at II. S. Lloyd's Book ered some more, and then it flicked. The telephone at the gas office was continu-ally ringing, until Mr. Weidenboerner, the urbane clerk, had his patience sorely tried, but finally night came and with the falling shades the gas came on once more, and all was well. But while the excite-ment lasted St. Marys was a busy place and there was a hurrying to and fro, and the hungry man coming home for sup-per was obliged to go out and hustle for wood, the merry ring of the woodsman's axe, reminding one of the good old times when wood and coal were the only fuel. Old lamps were hunted up, filled and trimmed, candles were brought into requisition and many ate suppor by the light of other days. And the whole stoppage of the gas supply only lasted about two hours, setting the people to about two hours, setting the people to pondering on what it would be like if the gas supply was to become exhausted. Wednesday morning there was another little shortage, but at present writing everybody has gas to burn. The cause of the shortage of gas was due to con-necting a new well.—St. Marys Gazette.

D. J. Mulcahy, son of our old patron, John Mulcahey, P. & E. track foreman at Fenton's, was a social caller at the PRESS office on Friday last and as a result this excellent family will read the PRESS another year.

Mrs. Lyman Lewis returned from Jersey City last Saturday, where she was called to see her nephew, Lawrence Barton, who met with a serious accident on the Belvidere R. R., where he is employed as an engineer. She also visited at New York, Brooklyn and Hoboken.

E. F. Cummings and Thos. C. Johnson, now located at Alleganey City, Pa., are agents for the Chartiers Land Company, for lands located in Rosslyn Park. Both are hustlers and their friends in this section hope they may live in brown stone fronts as a result of their energy.

Geo. H. Dickinson, one of the faithful and most intelligent employees of the Climax Powder Co., of this place, was an agreeable visitor at this office Saturday evening. Of course he reads the PRESS, has done so for years and will continue for years to come, we hope.

Don. M. Larrabee will arrive this Thursday morning from Philadelphia for a "special purpose," in addition to visiting his parents and friends, and Life Insurance people as a testimonial our paster for their services. of their regard.

The PRESS was honored with visits from Postmaster Chas. Seger, accom-panied by his brother H. G. Seger, of Chicago; W. W. Fisher, of Ashland, Wis., and J. H. Morehouse, of Pittsburg, the two latter named gentlemen being brothers-in-law to Messrs. Seger.

Cut in Twain By Circular Saw.

Walter Seely, of Sabinsville, a well known lumber manufacturer, met a shocking death at his own mill, located on the West Branch above Galeton. the afternoon of Dec. 4. No one knows how the accident occurred, for none of the mill hands were looking in Mr.

Seely's direction at the critical time. The first known was a cry of terror, and his body was discovered lying on the saw, which was tearing through his flesh back of the left shoulder and was nearly through his body when his clothing caught in the guides and stopped the saw. Mr. Seely asked for a drink of water and then relapsed into unconsciousness and died in a few minutes.

Mr. Seely was a hard working man and highly respected. He was familiar with machinery and operated a portable mill for some time between Westfield and Sabinsville.-Wellsboro Advocate.
