CLEARANCE SALE

— OF —

COATS AND CAPES

SOME TIMELY BARGAINS.

Don't think they are old styles. They are not. Left overs from last month, that is all.

Did a very large Cloak business this year. Had a very large stock.

It is only to be expected that some of the garments were left over.

The left overs are just as pretty, just as desirable as they were a month ago, but just ONE HALF last month's prices.

We could let the lot dwindle down at regular prices if we liked. But that is not our way. We believe in ending each season with the season.

You benefit by that policy of ours.

Would you buy a stylish up-to-date Coat or Cape at HALF PRICE?

Then come to our Cloak Department. Prices have been cut squarely in two.

Possibilities of Making a Comfortable Living on a Rented Farm.

ADDRESS DELIVERED BY JOSIAH HOWARD, ESQ., OF EMPORIUM AT THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Any property on which the owner can place a mortgage in the open market at home, has a value; and the fact that all farms can be mortgaged, proves that they have a value, and answers in the affirmative the question as to whether a man can rent an ordinary farm and clear his living on it, over and above the rental; but I think the master of ceremonies to-day intended that we should consider some of the possibilities of a man doing even more than that and discuss why all farmers do not succeed in their attempts.

Now, first and foremost; any community that does not possess a social standard that inspires its young men to step out manfully, and to openly proclaim to their friends and neighbors their choice of a wife and companion, whom they promise to honor, support and cherish, so long as they both shall live; that community does not possess the elements of success for any kind of occupation.

I put this thought first, because I think it is the most important of all God's plans for the earthly well being of a man, and that without the encouragement and companionship of loving, sensible wives, men are but poor tools in any walk of life.

Why I should be confined to the question of success as applied to the tenant farmers alone, I do not understand, because the farmers stand with a higher average in the scale of health, and contentment and happiness than any other occupation; nor are the fundamental elements of success in farming, different from those pertaining to other branches of industry.

Let us see; a man can reach farther with two or three ladders than he can with only one, or than he can with his own hands.

We reach and talk around the world with a wire, and are beginning to reach so far with our big cannon and modern rifles, that war will soon be impossible among nations.

As God has made the Ocean and all its tributaries, up to the smallest brooks, alive with fish, so all the walks of life, be they ever so humble, hold opportunities for happy, peaceful progress to all who recognize and learn how to use them.

The fisherman uses the hook, and the line and the pole combined; even so we, in grasping and holding our opportunities must unite our energies and brains with education.

I know lots of men who are just as honest as my own good father, Chas. B. Howard, was in his lifetime, and some of them work hard and are always willing to work overtime, yet they do not seem to make the advancement he did.

I used to wonder why, and I know of only one reason; they do not couple education with their energy and brains.

Now I wish to make a note of this. My father's family were poor, and he only received about six months schooling, but he learned to read at Sabbath School and carried an arithmetic and spelled along on his all day trips to town with the coal cart.

As a man he went to work in a German settlement and made himself a German dictionary of the words the men used with him in their talk; later on he learned to scale logs and keep his own books and accounts. All this he learned at the same time he was learning to swing an axe and roll a log with a cant hook.

Many times he told me to always carry these three together, viz: Energy, Brains and Education. "Education alone won't do," he said, "but don't try to get along without it."

Now I think he was right, and it is simply surprising how many good points our fathers can give us if we admit the honesty of their intentions in advising us, coupled with the fact that they must have learned something in their longer life than ours, that we do not know; and right here I wish to emphasize what I think is a great truth which applies to us all: "My father was raised on a farm and gave the credit of all his higher aims and ability to his mother, who was the ruling spirit in the household, and custodian of the family earnings. My mother was also a good woman, and for many years had full charge of all my father's earnings, and this with a few exceptions should be the rule of all

Driftwood Rehash.

From Gazette.

C. W. Shaffer, Esq., of Emporium, was in town yesterday on legal business.

Mrs. W. E. Muthersbaugh who was reported critically ill at her home in Mix Run Sunday night, is improving.

Dr. R. P. Heilman and wife and Commissioners' clerk I. K. Hockley, of Emporium, attended the farmers institute here on Monday.

Dr. Katherine Daley, we understand, will open an office in the old bank building in the near future.

Burgess S. G. McElwain delivered the address of welcome at the farmers' institute. Dr. R. P. Heilman, of Emporium, responded.

A letter received from John T. Earl on Tuesday says in part: "Mother, who has been ill for three months was taken worse and is very low. Her heart is so weak that the doctor has grave fears that she cannot rally. She seems some better to-day and we hope for the best." Mrs. Earl's many friends here would be glad to hear of her complete recovery.

"Mose Carpenter" says: Yes I noticed that scores of the up river farmers came to the institute and bragged about this being a successful year for them in all agricultural pursuits and yet many of them did not raise corn enough to fatten their hogs, and they have already commenced to haul bait hay from the big store. Some of these so-called farmers ought to be arrested for false pretense.

L. C. B. A. Install Officers.

At a regular meeting, Jan. 23rd, Deputy Miss Flynn, of Ridgway, installed the following officers: First Vice President, Mrs. Margaret Murry; Second Vice President, Mrs. Margaret Heher; Recorder, Miss Bridget Creighton; Asst. Recorder, Mrs. Josephine McCarthy; Financial Secretary, Mrs. Katharine Burke; Treasurer, Mrs. Bertha Jewell; Marshal, Mrs. Bridget Walsh; Guard, Mrs. Mary Farrell.

After installation a most enjoyable reception and entertainment followed consisting of the following program: Address of Welcome, Mrs. P. Burke Solo; Anna Lycett Recitation; Rose Bair Solo; Miss Dorothy Huff Music; Mrs. M. Wells Music; Misses Blumle Recitation; Miss Anna Fritz Solo; Clarence Quinn Recitation; Miss Anna Blumle Music; Deputy Miss Flynn Address; Rev. Father Downey Remarks; "Good Night Ladies" Chorus.

Death's Doings.

BURLINGAME.

ELVIRA BURLINGAME, aged 68 years, died at the family residence at Sizerville, Friday evening, Jan. 19th, 1900, after a protracted illness. Although Mrs. Burlingame had been seriously ill for some time she was not at the time of her death considered in a precarious condition. The call came very suddenly and she passed to the other shore to meet the loved ones gone before.

Deceased was a daughter of one of the earliest settlers on the Portage, Hiram and Polly Sizer, and was married to Delos Burlingame Jan. 24th, 1855. To them six children were born, Sidney the eldest son having died several years ago. The remaining members of the family left to console the bereaved husband are Miss Verne, at home; H. D., of Emporium; E. N., who resides in Chicago, and Elmer, who is at attending school at West Chester; Mrs. C. H. Sage, Johnsonburg.

Mrs. Burlingame was one of those wives and mothers who lived almost wholly for the comfort and happiness of her family. She was an economical manager and her great care is seen in and around their beautiful home, where she so loved to pass her days, for it was there she first saw the light of day and continually resided in the same home until the day of her death. In their early days the family were surrounded by the crude society characteristic of a lumbering community, her motherly influence gave her reason, as she always had, and justly too, to be proud of her family.

The funeral took place on Monday at two o'clock, at Sizerville, Rev. Shriner, of Emporium, M. E. church, officiating. The Rev. gentleman delivered one of his eloquent sermons to the bereaved family and large circle of sympathizing friends. A choir composed of some of Emporium's best singers, furnished the singing. The funeral was very largely attended, many from Emporium being in attendance. Interment in Sizerville cemetery.

The following relatives and friends from abroad were present: B. N. Burlingame, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sage, Johnsonburg; Elmer Burlingame, West Chester; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Burlingame, Emporium; Mrs. L. T. Sage, Arcade, N. Y.; Jonathan Colegrove and wife, Bela Colegrove and wife, Mrs. Laura A. Carter, Smethport; Leroy Burlingame, Kasson, Pa.; H. A. Avery and wife, Mrs. G. A. Wilber, Miss Myrtle Avery, Keating Summit; B. R. Carter and wife, Austin, Pa.

Theatrical Circuit.

Geo. H. Verbeck, manager of the Armstrong Opera House, Johnsonburg, Pa., and the Opera House, Kane, Pa., will next season have a circuit of five or six good towns, which will include a new theatre in Punxsutawney, which will be built early in the Spring, and be ready to open in September. It will be built on Main street, in the business part of the town and be a modern up-to-date house in every particular. Manager Verbeck will also have a new theatre in Kane for next season, and at present is figuring on a new house to be built at St. Marys, Pa., which is a good live town, and without any kind of place of amusement whatever. This will give Manager Verbeck a good circuit of towns, with short railroad jumps.—Exchange. What's the matter with Emporium? This is conceded to be the best show town between Warren and Williamsport and we hope Manager Verbeck will include us in his circuit.

Suffocated at the Furnace.

A Hungarian, named John Underchin, who has been employed at the furnace in the capacity of cinder snatcher, was found dead Sunday morning, in the engine room of the hoisting engine. Deceased had been in poor health for some time and complaining, about five o'clock Sunday morning he was told to lie down in a warm place till he felt better. When found he was dead, caused by inhaling gas. Coroner Baker was called and ordered the remains removed to LaBar's undertaking establishment, where they were prepared for burial. Deceased leaves a wife and three small children, neither of whom can speak a word of English. They are strangers in our midst.

Wonders Will Never Cease.

We regret to learn that one of our valuable citizens, Mr. J. A. Fisher, contemplates abandoning the blacksmithing business and launching into a new enterprise, having purchased L. S. Fisk's interest in the Emporium band, and a beautiful cornet. He is now taking music lessons and will soon be a full fledged band master. Success, Joe; but we think rent will be cheap in your locality.

Deputy Sheriff.

Sheriff J. D. Swope has appointed Harry Hemphill deputy. The appointment will give general satisfaction Mr. Hemphill being every way qualified for the place and has had many years experience as constable and in other official positions.

Ocean Bound.

Josiah Howard and party of invited guests sailed from New York yesterday afternoon for Puerto Rico, to be gone six weeks. Mrs. Howard went to New York Monday evening to witness their departure and wish them a pleasant voyage.

Died at Olean.

Mrs. O. M. Hanna, aged 72 years, died at Olean last week, Tuesday, at residence of her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Albro. Death was due to paralysis. The venerable lady had resided in Emporium with her husband and recently went to Olean. Mr. Hanna was called to Olean.

The University Association.

Program for Monday evening, January 29th: Josiah Gilbert Holland, Miss Heilman; Charles Dudley Warner, Miss Edna Warner; John Burroughs, Miss Bonham; Edmund Stedman, Miss Van Valkenburg; Edwin Percy Whittle, Miss McQuay; George William Curtis, Miss Prof. Stauffer; Richard Grant White, Miss Cush.

Letter From Manila.

Warren J. Mead, who is in the Philippines as a member of Company M, 37th Regiment, writes to Michael Murphy, of this place. We quote the following: "I think the war will soon be over. The enemy are getting scattered and are now harmless. They are trying to get to the south line now. It may be there will be some hard scrapping here yet, but it is doubtful. We get a chance for a few shots at the out posts, but they don't bother us much. We may move to San Pabito in a week or two. If we do look out for a hard fight. It is a walled city of 45,000 inhabitants, besides the soldiers. If the artillery and other heavy guns get there it will be easy for us. Send me the Cameron county papers."

In Full Blast.

The Emporium Furniture Company makes its bow to the Press readers this week and calls attention to their mammoth stock of furniture now displayed at their store one door west of Odd Fellows Block. The goods are all new and consist of everything from the cheap chair to the handsomest parlor or bed room suit. An inspection of the new goods will convince you that you can save big money by patronizing the Emporium Furniture Company. A first-class undertaking establishment, with competent attendants, will receive the closest attention. One of the handsomest funeral cars in the state has been purchased for this department.

Says the Philadelphia Record: The saying was once trite that "the doors of Castle Garden always swing inward, never outward." The meaning of this was that America offered so many advantages to residents that all people wanted to come here, and none cared to leave. For a somewhat similar cause the doors of our business houses which advertise swing inward constantly. The daily and weekly announcements of such houses attract customers to the mutual advantage of buyer and seller.

Hon. Warner Miller says: "In all by business career times were never better than they are now." We have never had so complete and scientific a system of Protection to American interests as we have now. That explains in part why times are better now than ever before. For the other part we have never until now seen the completed effects of a Protective tariff. In the past we have been struggling, by means of protection to American industries, to put them on their feet. To-day, in many instances, says the American Economist, this has been accomplished and the sole duty of the Protective tariff in regard to these enterprises is to preserve to them what they have already achieved and to give them a chance to branch out, now that, at last they stand on a firm basis. Times are better than ever before, and they are likely to remain so because Protection is likely to continue to be the policy of the country.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method returning our heartfelt thanks to all our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in our sad bereavement.

The Modern "Junius Letters."

"An American Mother" will conceal the identity of one of the most prominent women of the day in the authorship of a series of frank articles about to begin in The Ladies Home Journal. The articles will deal with the vital questions entering into modern American womanhood, and the directness of their character is in a way revealed in the title of the first article, "Have Women Robbed Men of Their Religion?" which the writer boldly answers in the affirmative. The series will then go on and deal with the exact conditions prevailing in girls' colleges, revealing an unusually keen insight, and drawing some emphatic deductions which will awaken unusual interest.

BRIEF MENTION.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Swartz's infant daughter. The funeral took place on Sunday.

The Commissioners filled the wheel for 1900, on Tuesday, also drawing the grand and traverse jurors for April term.

The borough school report is unavoidably crowded out this week but will be published next issue.

The L. C. B. A. gave a banquet Tuesday evening at their lodge room, to the members and their friends. It is reported an enjoyable affair.

Mrs. C. A. Bell, of Lebanon, who is pleasantly remembered by many of our citizens, we regret to learn is dangerously ill, in a Philadelphia hospital, where she was taken for an operation.

Last Tuesday evening some kids knocked a cap from a gas pipe in the shed adjoining C. C. Ritchie's residence. The little scamps lighted the gas and for a time it looked as though the building would be consumed. No alarm.

At a meeting of the Moore Literary Society, of the West Chester Normal school, at West Chester Normal School at West Chester, Pa., Jan. 13th, Miss Mary Robinson was on the program. The Daily News says: "Miss Mary Robinson recited with ease and ability the burlesque, 'Pyramus and Thisbe,' and on being recalled gave an imitation of Irish dialect, which was received with appreciation."

Resolutions of Condolence.

At a regular meeting of Sizerville Tent, No. 103, K. O. T. M., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our beloved brother, Wm. E. Crawford, who died from injuries received in the woods while working for his father, H. C. Crawford; therefore be it

Resolved, That we sincerely mourn his untimely end and deplore the sad fate that has deprived us of the companionship of a noble hearted brother.

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this hour of great affliction and may they not be as those without a hope but ever bear in mind that for true consolation they must look to God, who alone can heal the broken hearted, and while they mourn the loss of one so dear to them, we grieve for one who has mingled with us almost nine years, having joined with us as a charter member in the year 1891, and always been true to his obligations to protect the widow and care for the orphan.

To know him was to love him, his noble manhood and great heart never failed to touch the hearts of those who knew him. Although taken away so early in life, his many generous and charitable acts will live forever in the hearts of those he left behind him.

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of God, the Ruler of the universe, we realize with much sorrow the death of our departed brother.

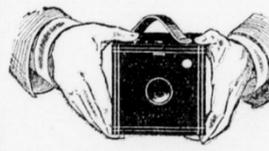

Resolved, That as a token of respect to our deceased brother we drap our charter in mourning for sixty days, that these resolutions be entered upon our records and printed in our county papers, and a copy of the same be sent to the bereaved family.
