households; and yet it is a great truth that woman do not possess all the goodness, the common sense and right judgment in the world and an equally great truth that men do have lofty and noble ambitions and do achieve great things in life, alone, free and independent, except as they are or may be indebted to God.

For some time it has been popular for public speakers and writers to eulogize the mercy, and goodness and greatness of mothers; but the minister, lecturer, teacher or writer, who places her qualities ahead of the father's is attempting to preach an untruth that has ruined many a family.

A woman's intuition may be great but it never kept her from making poor marriages and many bad bargains.

Some might ask what has home life, sociability and education to do with making a living on a rented farm of ordinary size in an ordinary back-country district, but the inquirer will not be the well-to-do farmer, nor the well-to-do laboring man.

The thrifty, honest, progressive citizen never questions the blessings of intelligent, upright living, and it is one of the hardest things in the world to understand, why the most unsuccessful men are the strongest in their belief in dreams and luck, and the loudest in their scoldings at marriage, honesty, religion, education or faithful service and good will to employer or assistant.

These things are as necessary to our life as the filling of the stomach or the expanding of the lungs.

The best farms, the best factories and the best men in the world, are those in sight of and under the influence of the best ministers, the best schools and the best women in the land; while the poorest farms and the most unreliable men stay away from the church and the school house and are under the influence of ignorant and indifferent women.

Now those are God's truths and are universal, applying equally to the farmer, manufacturer or merchant, to the rich man and to the poor man alike.

Three fourths of the farms are owned by the men living on them, so are a majority of the houses in a town owned by the people who live in them.

Tenants on a farm do not always pay the rent but the percentage of deadbeat tenants is much larger in the town than on the rented farm.

The fact that one-fourth of the farms in the country are rented and have been for some time, is evident that most of the rent is paid, and the fact that three-fourths of the farms are owned by the men living on them is evidence that some men can not only pay rent but in time can pay for and own the whole farm.

It is also evident that if we don't know how deep to plant our potatoes; don't know the best kind of fertilizer to use on them; don't have the best laying chickens, and don't have the best dispositioned and best pulling horses; if we don't know the cost and value of good country roads; if we can not appreciate the blessings of a friendly smile, or know the worth of a hearty laugh; if we are not able to so forecast the weather as to permit the proper harvesting of our crops, I am afraid we will not realize much of a bank account over and above the rental of our farm.

Education may be to know the why and how to do things, but true education is to learn to do and to use things. Let us fully determine to combine intelligence with our energy and brains; let us realize that we can gradually grow in brains and common sense just as we grow in age and size or knowledge.

Let us realize that common sense is an orchard, which, to be valuable, must be planted with good seed and have all suckers and idle thoughts constantly trimmed away.

Let us appreciate the efforts too, of the State Board of Agriculture, let us try to realize the benefits of farmers' institutes and let us show our appreciation by our attendance and interest, and then, I venture to say, the percentage of discontented and shiftless farm tenants will grow gradually less.

Now just one word in conclusion; the best crop to grow on a farm or anywhere else is not a balance in the bank. To have a good son is more satisfactory than to have a good bank account, and statistics show that the so-called poor farmer's boy marches step by step past the city laboring man's son, onward and upward past the rich man's son, and stands to-day in the majority on the foremost platform of our national life.

"All honor to the man behind the gun," but don't forget he needs an intelligent admiral in the watch tower, and that admiral perhaps may be his own dear wife.

JOSIAH HOWARD.

Emporium, Pa., Jan. 13th, 1900.

Hair-Health

Most people are gray—or worse—their hair fades, breaks off, or falls out before it should. The young matron of forty sees the frost stealing into her hair, or else it is losing its fresh look—or worse, is growing thin or breaking off—and she is showing signs of ageing before her time. This should not be.

Hair-Health

is a hair food, feeding and nourishing the roots, forcing new growth, restoring freshness and beauty, and positively turning the gray hair back to its youthful color. It is not a dye. It positively will not soil or discolor the scalp, hands or clothing; it is not greasy or sticky, nor does it rub off.

On the contrary, Hair-Health is a refreshing, dainty, delicately perfumed, necessary adjunct to the careful toilet and its use cannot be detected by your friends. Equally good for men and women.

HAIR-FINA SOAP is unexcelled for washing the hair. Makes it soft and silken. Destroys disease germs in hair glands of the scalp and body. Cures freckles and sunburn. 25c cakes at leading drug stores.

Hair-Health is sold by leading druggists everywhere. Price, 50c, for large bottle, or sent by express, prepaid, in plain sealed package, on receipt of 60c, by LONDON SUPPLY CO., 853 Broadway, N. Y.

Remember the name, "Hair-Health." Refuse all substitutes. Money refunded if it does not benefit you.
