EDITORIAL MENTION. Political Insincerity.

It would seem that the Democrats, who are holding Hon. Jos. C. Sibley up to ridicule and scorn for as they allege, scattering the 'long green' in a corrupt way, in the interest of his election to Congress, are condemning themselves as severely as they are Mr. Sibley.

Less than two years ago these Warren Democrats spurned the idea of Mr. Sibley using money for his election. We do not know whether Mr. Sibley used money in a wrong and corrupt way or not. But these Democrats now say he did. And if he did many of these Warren Democrats helped him do it.

It ill-becomes the pot to call the kettle black, or those who live in glass houses to throw stones. At a meeting in Warren last fall Mr. Sibley resented the charge that he was using money improperly and the whole Democratic party in Warren responded with a loud and a long drawn out 'Amen.'

If you will take up the Evening Democrat, Friday's issue, you will read, in the editorial column, about the whole game which is there exposed. Mr. Sibley could not have scattered his money in a corrupt way if he had not had agents to do it for him, taking for truth the statements of the Democrat that he did so. Who were those agents? Persons that did not belong to the Democratic party? Or were they imported for the purpose?

The distribution of Mr. Sibley's money, who gave it out, for what purpose, under what circumstances and conditions, who got it, etc., would make an interesting story, if some one, who was in the mystic circle, would write it up and give it to the public. If Mr. Sibley soiled his political garments in the mud, there are others who were as deep in the mire.

Now if these Democrats who are so liberal with their information about Mr. Sibley would tell us something about the persons who did this work for 'Honest Joe,' and expose the whole scheme, they would be doing a commendable public act and the state and district a benefit.

If Mr. Sibley had come forward as the Democratic candidate he would be the same old 'Honest Joe,' but as he has not done so he is 'Honest Joe' no longer. Democracy, Democracy, thy name is Insincerity, Inconsistency—anything to get the offices.—Warren Mirror.

Hotels and Politics.

The severe ruling of Judges Umbel and Reppert, of Fayette county, in disposing of the applications for licenses at the present term of court, will be likely to lead to more careful examination of license applications by the courts generally throughout the State. There must have been more than ordinary provocation by the abuses of the license system in Uniontown and Fayette county, to compel the Judges to make a deliverance so severely restraining the methods of hotel-keepers.

Among the requirements fixed by the Fayette county Judges for hotel people are the avoidance of fast living, drinking and gambling; the payment of their debts and the maintenance of a reputable position in the community. They are not permitted to take any offensive part in politics, at primary or general elections, nor to discuss politics in their bar-rooms or permit treating in the interest of political candidates. An additional requirement is that the hotels must be cleanly, with tidy porters and servants, and loafers excluded. In short, as the Judges declare, they insist that the liquor trade must be made entirely reputable by the avoidance of all offensive and social order. Of course, such rules would not be generally needed for the hotels in our great cities, but it is a well-known fact that in a number of the counties of Pennsylvania the men who can render the greatest service in obtaining licenses for applicants have the greatest political power. In one county close to this city, the local political movements have been largely if not wholly, controlled through the influence of the hotels and saloons. Their licenses were given to serve political ends, and in desperate political contests hotel-keepers were required not only to contribute, but to control all within their reach in the interest of the power that gave them the licenses. Such a condition must be not only demoralizing to the politics of the community, but generally demoralizing to the moral health of the people.

The courts could greatly elevate the liquor trade in every community by enforcing just provisions for the protection of the sobriety of the people, and avoiding all the many temptations to disorder and drunkenness which come from a considerable portion of our rural hotels. They are of necessity political centres, but there is no reason why a political conference at a hotel should not be as decorous as a political conference held at a school house or at a private residence. In many sections the rule is for political conferences to be held at hotels and end in a jolly spree, all of which would be well to avoid; and with such restrictions as are put upon the Fayette county hotels by the Court, all necessary political meetings and conferences, large and small, could be held without any demoralization whatever. The high standard fixed for licensed hotels by the Fayette county Judges is well worthy of imitation throughout the State.—Philadelphia Times.

BRIEF MENTION. The literary entertainment given by the Epworth League last Friday evening was a social success, and highly instructive and pleasing to those present.

If there is one thing above another that gives a genteel aspect to a man it is a handsome, well fitting suit of clothes with a properly adjusted shirt, collar and stylish tie, such as may be found at the old reliable clothing store of N. Seger's.

Mike Miller, who resides near Bradford and who has been drilling one of the deepest oil wells in this section, has struck the pay streak at the depth of 3,300 feet. The well is on his own land and he has been pegging away at it for the past 20 years. It is good for about 20 barrels a day and now he has the laugh on a number of producers who were in the habit of making fun of his venture.—Kane Republican.

In a recent interview in Pittsburg, Gov. Stone refers to the work the next Legislature will be called upon to perform, and comes to the following sensible conclusions. "The next Legislature will be a working body. There will be no deadlock, Senatorial or otherwise. A United States Senator will be elected, the choice of the Republican caucus, and but one joint ballot will be necessary to reach a decision. I believe an appropriation will be made to complete the Capitol Building. It is a blot on the Commonwealth in its present shape."

Judge Hazen, of Colorado, a brother of Mrs. Dewey's first husband, is evidently not favorably impressed with Admiral Dewey's candidacy for president. When asked on Saturday what he thought of Admiral's declaration that he was a candidate, his answer was: "I am not in a position to say much, but if the people of this country do not desire to place the destiny of the nation in the hands of a woman, it will be best to let the Admiral remain where he is. I know Mrs. Dewey very well, of course. She was my brother's wife. She is a bright, capable, ambitious woman, and quite familiar with public affairs at Washington."

Don't Lose Your Grip.

Gray hairs often stand in the way of advancement for both men and women, socially and in business. Many men are failing to secure good positions just because they look 'too old,' and no one knows how many women have been disappointed in life because they have failed to preserve that attractiveness which so largely depends on the hair.
