

THE PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION of the YEAR 1901

Buffalo Is Arranging for a Magnificent Display of the Products of the Three Americas for Next Year—Elaborate Floral, Horticultural and Electrical Features

THE EXPOSITION GROUNDS.

They Have Been Elaborately Treated by Mother Nature.

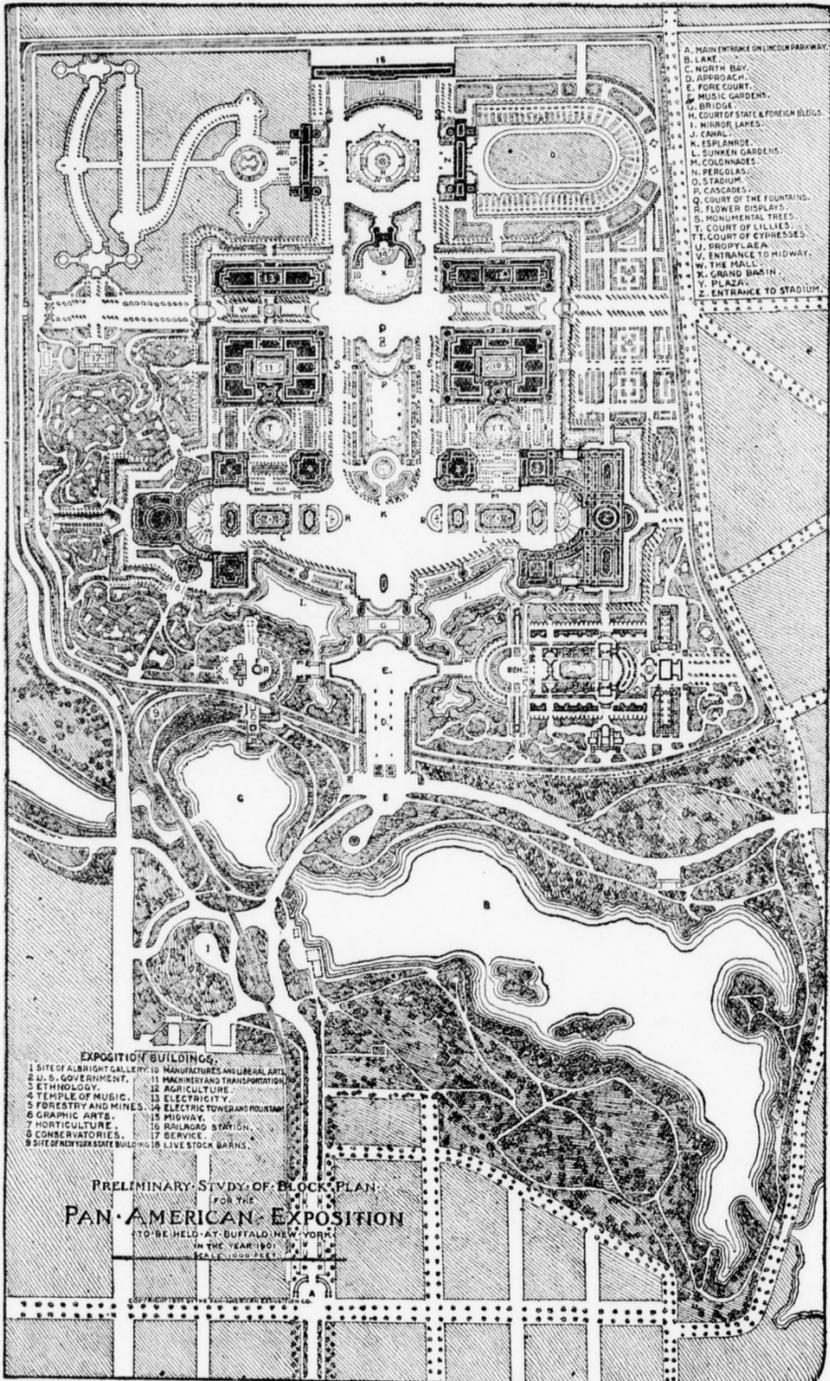

The hand of the artist has labored without restraint in arranging the grounds and grouping the buildings for the great Pan-American exposition, to be held at Buffalo in 1901. The plan has been completed after protracted and painstaking study of the grounds and their surroundings, and with a keen appreciation of all the requirements of an exposition upon the scale of magnificence here contemplated. The completed work will be a masterpiece, in which the designer of buildings and the landscape architect will alike share the Once inside the gates, the station of the intramural railway, which encircles the grounds, is at his left. But the walk is quite as tempting to the sight-seer. Nature has been assisted with consummate skill by the landscape architect, and here she presents her varied colors with the grace and refinement that years of culture have given her.

The figures and letters shown in the diagram represent the location of the following buildings and points of interest:

- No. 1.....Albright Art Gallery.
- No. 2.....Federal Government Buildings.
- No. 3.....Ethnological Building.
- No. 4.....Music Building.
- No. 5.....Forestry and Mines Building.
- No. 6.....Graphic Arts Building.
- No. 7.....Horticultural Building.

opment. The success of those departments is without precedent. At the close of the Columbian exposition, President Cleveland appointed Mr. Buchanan United States minister to the Argentine Republic. In this important field of diplomatic work he remained nearly six years, notwithstanding the change of administration at Washington. Mr. Buchanan's eminent efficiency and usefulness was generally recognized by the leading men of the Argentine Republic that a request for his retention there was favorably considered by President McKinley. During his mission he was chosen arbitrator by Chili and the Argentine Republic to settle one portion of their long-standing boundary dispute that had more than once threat-honors. American architectural genius has indeed here produced glorious results. If one were to see only the exterior of this splendid exposition he will find himself abundantly repaid for his visit to Buffalo in the Pan-American year.

The exposition grounds include 350 acres, of which 123 acres are improved park lands, a part of Delaware park. The grounds are about one mile from north to south and a half mile from east to west. Their situation is in the northern part of the city, accessible from every direction. The park lands form the southern part of the extensive grounds, and are pronounced by expert landscape architects to be among the most beautiful in the world. The trees and shrubbery in wonderful variety, the romantic foot paths leading in all directions among the thick foliage, the loveliest of lakes, on whose surface numberless swans and other water fowl of immaculate plumage are constantly at sport, the wide reaches of lawn and the rich embroidery of flowers, everywhere to be seen, all combine to refresh and restore the mind of him who tarries within those delectable precincts.

The visitor who approaches the exposition from the south will enter the grounds on Lincoln parkway, a broad, beautiful, shaded boulevard,

WILLIAM I. BUCHANAN.

He Is the Competent Director General of the Exposition.

The director general of the Pan-American exposition, Hon. William I. Buchanan, came prominently before the public when he took a leading part in the organization of the Sioux City Corn Palace Exposition company. He became the moving spirit of that very successful enterprise, which proved to be a stepping stone to larger responsibilities at the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago. Here he became chief of the departments of agriculture, live stock and forestry, his natural executive powers finding wide opportunity for their exercise and developed war between the two countries. The task was performed so successfully and the differences settled so amicably that, in addition to his receiving the thanks of both governments, a quantity of war equipment ordered from Herr Krupp, the famous gun-maker of Essen, Germany, but not delivered to the Argentine government, was exchanged for many miles of railway materials to be used in developing the resources of Patagonia. Mr. Buchanan also negotiated the commercial convention between the Argentine Republic and the United States and the extradition treaty with the same country now before the United States senate. When the necessity for choosing a director general of the Pan-American exposition presented itself the directors saw in Mr. Buchanan the man possessing the qualities required for the successful development of such a giant enterprise. He was induced to abandon his foreign post and take up the direct management of the great work in which the people of Buffalo had so heartily enlisted. Mr. Buchanan has an intimate knowledge of the needs, the resources and conditions of Latin America, and the excellent progress making in all departments of the Pan-American exposition shows him to be one who can view broadly the gigantic task before him and direct it with a master hand.

HE MADE HER TIRED.

And She Gave Him to Understand as Much in a Most Emphatic Manner.

"Anything wrong?" asked the hotel clerk of the New York drummer who had just got home from the west, relates the Buffalo Courier.

"I was thinking," was the reply. "I rode from Toledo to Buffalo with the prettiest girl I ever saw."

"But that didn't hurt you. Who was she?"

"Can't tell."

"You didn't introduce yourself and get her card in return?"

"No."

"No particular trouble, eh?" solicitously insisted the clerk.

"Well, it was this way," replied the traveler, as he braced up for the explanation.

"She sat opposite me, you know, and I tried for an hour to catch her eye. She simply ignored me and gazed out of the window. Then I rose and handed her a magazine, but she declined with thanks. Ten minutes later I bought the latest novel out, but she said she didn't care to read. Then I bought some fruit, but she would accept of it. She also ignored me when I tried to draw her out on music."

"But you persisted?"

"Oh, yes. That is, I was about to make another attempt to enter into conversation when the train came to a halt at a town and the girl beckoned me over. I was there in an instant, and with the sweetest smile you ever saw she asked me if I would do her a slight favor."

"With all my heart," I hastened to say.

"Well, she said, smiling even more sweetly, 'suppose you leave the train here and take the next one that follows, for you have made me dead tired, and I feel like taking a nap.'"

"Good gracious," whispered the clerk.

"Yes, sir," said the drummer, as he reached for a cigar, "and I want to go up to my room and sit and think and try and figure it out. Perhaps it's time I left the road and settled down at home."

An Ironic Condolence.

When a man becomes suddenly rich it not infrequently follows that he becomes as suddenly oblivious to his old friends. Thus, a Persian having obtained a lucrative position at court, a friend of his came shortly afterward to congratulate him on the new. The courtier asked him: "Who are you and why do you come here?" The other coolly replied: "Do you not know me, then? I am your old friend, and am come to condole with you, having heard that you had lately lost your sight."—San Francisco Wave.

Ostentation.

"Such ostentation I never saw in my life," declared Mrs. Nugget, of Dawson City, after her return from church on Easter Sunday.

"What was it, my dear?" asked Mr. Nugget, who had remained at home.

"Why, that odious Mrs. Placer had her new bonnet festooned with strings of dried beans."

"He acted quite well to-night," said Hamphat's friend, "despite the fact that he was sick." "More probably it was because of that fact," remarked the critic. "Because he was sick once, he was a sample of our Cigars." EAGLE MFG. CO., 21 John Street, New York.

An Aitchison business man says that the desire to look out of a window is responsible for half the failures in life. He says that the people rubber too much; the working day is short, and the man whose desk is near a window spends a great part of it in looking out.—Aitchison Globe.

Fay—"That Miss Snapp is just hateful, isn't she?" May—"Yes. You were present yesterday when she told me I was 'the homeliest girl in our set,' weren't you?" Fay—"Yes, and I gave her a piece of my mind about it." May—"That was the kind of you, dear; but I hope you weren't severe?" Fay—"Well, I told her she ought to remember how sensitive you must be about it."—Catholic Standard and Times.

"There goes a man," said Mr. Sherlock Holmes, "who is completely under the influence of government." "Of course you know something about the man?" suggested the interested interlocutor. "Never saw him before in my life," replied the great detective. "It is all a part of my art. Perhaps you saw him kick that dog just a moment ago? Well, he spoke in an angry manner to the newsboy at the corner. The inevitable inference is that his wife is a little bit of a woman, and that he is afraid to death of her."—Boston Transcript.

SEE TO THE WALLS.

A Danger in Schoolrooms and How to Prevent It.

Owing to the gathering of so many different classes of persons therein, the interior walls of churches, schoolhouses, hospitals, etc., are apt to become repositories of disease germs unless preventive measures are taken. These walls should always be coated with a clean and pure cement, such as Alabaster, which is disinfectant in its nature and more convenient to renew and retint than any other wall coating. The first cost is no greater than for inferior work, while renewals are more easily and cheaply made.

Willing to Show 'Em.

An honest young man, who had escaped a great peril by an act of heroism, was much complimented for his bravery.

One lady said: "I wish I could have seen your feat."

Whereupon he blushed and stammered, and finally pointing to his pedal extremities, said: "Well, here they be, mum."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Grain-O Made Her Fat.

Westfield, Mass., Nov. 27, 1899.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.: Having used your Grain-O for the past three months I thought I would write and let you know how much good it has done me. When I was away on my vacation last summer the people I visited asked me to try Grain-O, and I drank some, but I didn't like it at all. But the more I drank the better I liked it, and now I wouldn't drink anything else. I never weighed over 100 pounds, and last winter I was down to 103 pounds, and last winter I was up to 120, and never felt better in my life. It gives me an awful appetite, and makes me strong. It is doing me more good than anything I ever took, and I would recommend it to everybody.

Two of Them Helped by Mrs. Pinkham—Read their Letters.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am sixteen years old and am troubled with my monthly sickness. It is very irregular, occurring only once in two or three months, and also very painful. I also suffer with cramps and once in a while pain strikes me in the heart and I have drowsy headaches. If there is anything you can do for me, I will gladly follow your advice."

—MISS MARY GOMES, Aptos, Cal., July 31, 1898.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—After receiving your letter I began the use of your remedies, taking both Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am now regular every month and suffer no pain. Your medicine is the best that any suffering girl can take."—MISS MARY GOMES, Aptos, Cal., July 6, 1899.

Nervous and Dizzy

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my thanks to you for the great benefit I have received from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered constantly from terrible sideache, bad chills, was nervous and dizzy. I had tried different kinds of medicine but they all failed entirely. After taking three bottles of Vegetable Compound and three of Blood Purifier I am all right. I cannot thank you enough for what your remedies have done for me."—MISS MATHILDA JENSEN, Box 19, Ogdensburg, Wis., June 10, 1899.
