CAMERON COUNTY PRESS.

H. H. MULLIN, Editor

Published Every Thursday.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

ADVERTISING RATES: Advertisements are published at the rate of the dolar per square for one insertion and fifty nts per square for each subsequentinsertion Rates by the year, or for six or three months, e low and uniform, and will be furnished on vollection.

are low and uniform, and supplication.
Legal and Official Advertising per square three times or less, $2; each subsequent inser three times or less, $2: each subsequent insertion 50 cents per square.

Local notices 10 cents per line for one inserection: 5 cents per line for each subsequent consecutive insertion.

Obituary notices over five lines: 10 cents per line. Simple announcements of births, marriages and deaths will be inserded for per year:

Business cards, five lines or less 35 per year:

Business cards, five lines or less 36 per year:

No local inserted for less than 75 cents per issue.

JOB PRINTING

The Job department of the Press is complete and affords facilities for doing the best class of tork. Particular attention paid to Law o paper will be discontinued until arrear-s are paid, except at the option of the pubages are paid, except at the option of the pub-lisher.

Papers sent out of the county must be paid for in advance.

In the fuss and flurry made over the sweet girl graduate the boy who grad-The Bachelor uates at the same time is hardly getof Arts. ting the attention which he deserves. In the years to come, says the Chicago Tribune, if he does his duty, he will earn money for the support of the girl, who during the present month is the center of all eyes. He will be elected to the city council and possibly to congress; will preach the Gospel and practice law; he will start a factory or open a business. In a large degree the future welfare of the country will depend upon his intelligent and honest activity. The prejudice against the college graduate, which never had a sound foundation in fact, is gradually disappearing. He has shown his force in almost every department of life, until it has come to be admitted that the so-called self-made man does not hold a monopoly of all the brains and energy in the country. So, while all will unite in drinking a toast to the maiden in her white frock and blue ribbons, a simllar if not an equal honor is due to the newly made bachelor of arts. The college man of to-day knows as well as anyone can tell him that all his future success depends most largely upon his own unaided efforts. The world is his apple and his education is simply the knife with which he must

The act of selecting honorable and competent men to fill places of authority is not the only Individual duty of the faith-Reform. ful citizen. If it be certainly true that national life and welfare depend upon national character, and that national character is only the combined character of its individnal units, it follows that he who would be proud of his country's honor must keep his own unsoiled. Of what avail is it to rail at public injustice when we are ourselves unjust in our private dealings, or to accuse our rulers of cruelty and oppression when we oppress our own weaker brethren, or to point out the evils of party spirit when we wrap ourselves up in some small social clique, or to expose or to arraign scandal in our legislative halls when we are retailing sweet morsels of it at our

If we could see the success of public reforms, let us reform ourselves; if we loudly advocate the brotherhood of man, let us cultivate the spirit of brotherhood in our daily intercourse; if we value our national independence and freedom, let us see to it that we never interfere with the personal liberty and rights of any individual.

Rev. George F. Dickinson, pastor of the Hilton Methodist church, Newark, N. J., announced to his congregation on a recent Sunday that the regular Friday night prayer meeting would not be held in the church that week, as many members of the congregation would be busy harvesting the strawberry crop. There has been a small attendance at the church on Friday nights for the last few weeks, and inquiry on the part of the pastor developed the fact that the regular attendants were busy until late in the evening in the strawberry In announcing that there would be no meeting Rev. Mr. Dickinson said: "I do not wish to interfere between you and your harvesting. You have been blessed with a large crop of berries, and it is your duty to gather them. I am sure that you will attend services better when the season is done."

"A sympathetic strike" of unique kind occurred in New Jersey the other day. A poor old horse was used in a certain department of a glass factory. but did not have the privilege which his hum workmen enjoyed of "knocking" the whistle sounded, 7 ecestully to obtain s. or the old nag, and at la out gave notice that they adly resume work whenever rse's hours of labor should be a de to conform to their own. The newspapers are silent as to the result, but it is to be hoped that matters have - n settled to the satisfaction of allrially of the horse.

BOTH

McKinley and Roosevelt are Told of Their Nomination.

The President Delivers an Address on the Political Issues of the Day.

The Proceedings at Gov. Roosevelt's Home Were Less Formal than Those at Canton, and the Assemblage was Not Nearly so Large.

Canton, O., July 12.—William Mc-Kinley was yesterday officially noti-fied of his second nomination by the ned of his second nomination by the republican party for the highest of-fice in the world. Grouped about him were the friends among whom he has lived for more than 30 years, together with vast crowds from the surrounding towns. Following is Senator Lodge's speech:

lived for more than 30 years, together with vast crowds from the surrounds into more than 20 years. The with vast crowds from the surrounds that the property of the third states of the third States, for the crowds of the United States, for the Crowds of the Cr where he received the formal notification four years ago, and in the presence of men in hearty accord with his policy, he could not but create a fatorial may be a finished to the could not but create a fatorial may be a finished to the could not but create a fatorial may be a finished to the could not but create a fatorial may be a finished to the could not but create a fatorial may be a finished to the could not but create a fatorial may be a finished to the could not but create a fatorial may be a finished to the could not be considered to the could not be considered to the could not be considered as a finished to the could not be considered as a finished to the could not be considered as a finished to the could not be considered as a finished to the could not be considered as a finished to the could not be considered as a finished to the could not be considered as a finished to the could not underspraise either. Any one should not underspraise either. Any one who has borne the axis of the country and the formation of the country and the formation of the country and the family of the country and the family of the country and the considered to the country and the convention has my hearty approval. As some future date in the convention has my hearty approval. As some future date in the convention has my hearty approval. As some future date in the convention has my hearty approval. As some future date in the country at its close; that from its abundant reveney upon a sound and enduring basis can be safely trusted to preserve both our creation of the country at its close; that from its abundant reveney upon a sound and enduring basis can be safely trusted to preserve both our creation of the country as its close; that from its abundant reveney upon a sound and enduring basis can be safely trusted to preserve betto our creates were than the problem of the country is threated to the paths, but our steps have been guided by honor and duty. There will be no turning aside, no wavering, no retreat. No blow has been struck except for liberty and humanity and none will be. We will perform without fear every national and internal obligation. The republican party was dedicated to freedom 44 years ago. It has been the party of liberty and emanipation from that hour; not of profession, but of performance. It broke the shackles of 4,000,000 slaves and made them free, and to the party of Lincoln has come another supreme opportunity which it has bravely met in the liberation of 10,000,000 of the human family from the yoke of imperialism. In its solution of great problems, in its performance of high duties, it has had the support of members of all parties in the past and confidently invokes their co-operation in the future.

Permit me to express, Mr. Chairman, my most sincere appreciation of the complimentary terms in which you convey the official notice of my nomination and my thanks to the committee and the great constituency which they represent for this additional evidence of their favor and support.

While the speech of the president.

While the speech of the president

closed the formal notification, there had not been oratory enough for the gathering, and other speakers were called for. Senator Fairbanks, of Indiana; Senator Hanna; Charles Em-ory Smith, postmaster general; Col. Samuel Parker, of Hawaii, and Sen-ator Lodge were heard—the last named speaking twice. These speak-ers, with the exception of Col. Par-ker, who was called out of compliker, who was called out of compli ment to the Facific islands, took oc

ment to the Facilic islands, took oc-casion to refer to the recent action of the democratic national conven-tion in Kansas City. It was the first public occasion in which republic-an speakers had attempted to criti-cize the platform recently adopted by their opponents.

by their opponents.
Senator Fairbanks evidently intend-

Senator Fairbanks evidently intend-ed to make the money question the dominant issue of the campaign, de-nying that with 16 to 1 in their plat-form the democrats could make "im-perialism" the leading issue. Senator Hanna told republican voters to re-member the importance of the cam-member the importance of the cam-paign. Postmaster General Smith warned his hearers that democratic success would disarrange the busi-

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 13 .- On the breeze-swept veranda of Sagamore. his country home, Gov. Roosevelt was yesterday officially notified of his nomination for vice president on the republican national ticket. The cere-mony was so simple as to be almost informal. Surrounded by the members of the committee on notification, a little party of invited guests, Mrs. Roosevelt and the rest of the gover-or's family, Goy, Roosevelt listened to the address of notification by Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, chairman of the committee.

There was no attempt at ceremony.

The party simply ranged themselves about the wide verandas and Senator Wolcott delivered a short address. To ness of the country.

ips in this time of distress to the design of consuls, and our merisionaries, or consuls, and our merchants in China. Stead of being compelled to leave our lizens to the casual protection of other wers, as would have been unavoidable diweffing the opportunities away and ithdraw from the Orient Events, moving with terrible rapidity, eve been swift witnesses to the wisdom your action in the east. The Philaphia convention had adopted your noty both in the Antilles and the Philippnes, and has made it their own and that of the republishan party. Your election, sir, next November aspress to us the continuance of that policy abroad and in our new possessions. To intust these difficult and vital questions of others, at once incompetent and hostile out abatement or modification. The gold but has been denounced and its dree renewed by the allied parties without abatement or modification. The gold but has been denounced and its dree renewed by the allied parties without abatement or modification. The gold demarded. The menace of 16 to 1, therefore, still hangs over us with all its direct consequence to credit and custry. The enemies of sound finances are rallying their scattered and overcome the advocates of repudiation. A congress which will sustain and, if a complete the provided in the proposed proposed in the provided in the provided by the allied parties without abatement or modification. The gold but abatement or medification. The gold but abatement or medification.

to the month, which every low and display to the volume and adopted your policy both in the Antilles and the Philips and the Antilles and the Philips and the total that of the republishan party.

Your election, sir, next Nevember as sures to us the continuance of that policy that of the republishan party.

A congress which will sustain and, it is the continuance of that policy the continuance of the policy display to the property of the policy display to the property of the policy display to the property of the gold standard, the very would be by the success of our opponents the whole fabric of our business conductively will be presented and continuance of the policy. They are the property of the policy display to the property of the policy of the property of the policy of the property of the policy of the property of

SMITH TALKS POLITICS.

The Postmaster General Discusses the

Canton, O., July 12 .- "You can say

Canton, O., July 12.—"You can say that we of the east are pleased with both conventions," said Postmaster General Smith yesterday when asked to say something on it.
"What kind of a campaign do you anticipate?" was asked.
"I look for an active and carnest campaign all along the line, with much speaking. The general speaking, I do not think, will commence much before Sentember 1 but between much before September 1, but between now and then there will be occasion-al addresses by Mr. Roosevelt and possibly some others."

possibly some others."

"Along what lines do you expect the campaign to be fought?"

"I think the contest will settle down to virtually two issues. One of these, probably the chief one, will be the currency question. The democratic convention has made it so.

They refused to account the vertice of They refused to accept the verdict of four years ago. They have proclaimed their stand for silver and the batthe of four years ago on that question will have to be fought over. There is no such issue as imperialism. That is a fiction. There can be no imperialism in a free country. But the question of upholding and strengthening the government in dealing with the issues growing out of the war and in issues growing out of the war and in administering the new people brought under our protection is an important issue and will figure conspicuously in the campaign."

"To what extent will the trust question enter into the campaign?"

"Not to a great extent. In my opinion that is a business question rather than a political issue and the republican party has declared in favor of such legislation as will correct any evils that may exist and control harmful combinations as clearly and as forcibly as any party can."

as forcibly as any party can."
"Do you think the Chinese question will enter the campaign?"
"No, I do not. It cannot become an

"No, I do not. It cannot become an issue. The government is doing nothing more than any government must do to protect the people. We have emphatically disclaimed intention to do anything else. The note of the state department bearing on this subject has been well received by the people and by the representatives of the ple and by the representatives of the powers.

pie and by the representatives of the powers."

The campaign of 1900 in Canton will not be a duplicate of the campaign of 1896. It is not the present intention of President McKinley to make speeches to delegations who may visit Canton during the summer and fall, even if he should remain here all the time. The president will be so much occupied with public business that he will have little time to devote to the campaign. Four years ago he was a private citizen and as the candidate felt justified in taking the active part he did in the campaign. Now he is president of the whole people and feels that he should give his attention to the many questions of government that are pending.

give his attention to the many ques-tions of government that are pending. It is the present intention of the president to confine his participation in the campaign to his speech to-day and his letter of acceptance. Vari-ous clubs and deputations have tele-graphed here asking when they can be received by the president. The re-plies sent in response to these mesbe received by the president. The re-plies sent in response to these mes-sages said that the length of the president's stay in Canton is indefi-nite and that he can make no ap-pointments for the reception of such delegations. Those who call to pay their respects will be received at times when the president is not en-gaged, as they would be were he in gaged, as they would be were he in Washington. But the president will not make speeches from the front porch to visiting delegations.

SIX ALREADY SECURED.

The Work of Getting a Jury in the Powers Trial Begins. Georgetown, Ky., July 12.—Judge Cantrill yesterday overruled the mo-Cantrill yesterday overruled the motion for a continuance in the case of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers, and the work of selecting a jury was begun. The regular venire of jurymen was called and out of that number only six were accepted. These are subject to peremptory challenge by either side later on, so there is no certainty that any of them will finally sit as jurors in the case.

Judge Cantrill ordered Sheriff Shuff to summon an extra venire of 100 cit-to summon an extra venire of 100 citizens who are to be tested for jury service. Before the jury matter was taken up Powers' attorneys filed the pardon issued to him by ex-Gov. Taylor and offered it as a plea in bar. The court overruled the plea, saying:

"The highest courts in this state and in the United States have decided that Taylor was not governor on March 10, when this pardon was issued. It is therefore void."

To be Sold Under Foreclosure.

New York, July 12.—The big Harper & Bros.' publishing plant will be sold & Bros.' publishing plant will be sold under foreclosure on August 9. The sale will include the right to use the name Harper & Bros., together with the real estate, machinery, stock, copyrights and authority to publish Harper's Weekly, Harper's New Monthly Magazine, Harper's Razaar and Harper's Round Table. The real estate includes the Franklin Square real estate, valued at $1,200,000. real estate, valued at $1,200,000.

Will Send Racers to Paris.

New York, July 12.—The United States will be suitably represented in States will be suitably represented in the world's championship bicycle races in Paris next month. At a directors' meeting of the American Bi-cycle Co. yesterday it was decided to send an American racing team to White Nominated for Governor.

Charleston, W. Va., July 12.-The feature of the republican state convention here Wednesday was the key note speech of Senator Elkins as ten porary chairman. The addresses of Hon. Charles T. Caldwell in present ing the name of Hon. A. E. White for governor and of Mr. White in accept ing the nomination were notably brilliant. Mr. White was nominated with usual unanimity. He was called the James G. Blaine of West Virginia by his eulogists, not only from his resemblance to the plumed knight, but for the similarity of his experience a million women?

CREDIT SHE DIDN'T SEEK.

Embarrassing Position of an Absents Minded Woman Who Had Made a Mistake.

A lady who keeps a summer boarding-house at the seashore near Boston went down the other day to look the house over and find out what must be renewed. She found numerous umbrellas left by former boarders, and the Boston Transcript, and tying their ogether, she took the bundle to Boston to have them repaired. She stopped in at Hovey's and laid the bundle on the floor at her feet at the counter. When she had made her purchase, she forgot her umbrellas, and absent-mindedly picked up an umbrella lying on the counter, thinking it was hers, or not thinking at all, and started off.

Then the owner of the umbrella, a woman standing next her, seized her and said very sharply: "You have taken my umbrella". Of course she apologized, feeling much cut up about it, and went on forgetting in her fluster her own bundle of umbrellas. The next day, on her way to Cambridge, she went to Hovey's and readily recovered her lost package of umbrellas, which had been kept for her. On the car for Cambridge she noticed a lady eyeing her very closely. Presently this lady leaned forward and said to her, with elegant emphasis:

"You seem to have been more fortunate." You seem to have been more fortunate

It was the lady whose umbrella she had taken the day before.

CHOATE AND THE BABY.

The American Ambassador's Nail Head Wit in an Address in England.

Lately, at the opening of a free library at Acton, England, Hon. Joseph H. Choate, the American ambassador to Great Britain, delivered an address, and caused much laughter by his impromptu references to a baby who persisted in distracting the attention of the audience by making its voice heard at the most inconvenient moments, says the San Francisco Argonaut. The first interruption occurred early in the speech. Mr. Choate was saying: "There is a special provision for children in your library, and I think when men come to make a choice of a residence in Acton they will not forget that fact." Here the baby screamed in such a manner as to drown the words of the speaker. There was some disturbance, but Mr. Choate said: "Don't be disturbed by the baby. Nobody knows better than my Lord Bishop that out of the mouths of babes and sucklings cometh wisdom." Things went fairly well after this, the baby appearing to be flattered by the reference, until Mr. Choate was saying: "There is a book with which all of you—"Here the baby waled loudly. "Except, possibly, the baby—are familiar," the ambassador went on; "it is Ecclesiastes, and it says, that of the making of books there is no end."

Her Tip of No Avail.

Her Tip of No Avail.

A determined woman from the west visited Washington not long ago for the purpose of interviewing a member of the cabinet on a subject of interest to her. She called, as it happened, just at the time when the frauds in the Cuban postal department were made public, and the majority of the president's advisers, absorbed in considering the matter, had given instructions that they were not to be disturbed.

"So you refuse to take my card to the secretary?" asked the determined lady of the messenger.

messenger.
"It would be against my orders, and I don't dare to," replied the messenger, politely.
The visitor turned away in high dudgeon,

The visitor turned away in high dudgeon, but a happy thought occurred to her and she retraced her steps. "Here my man," she said, insinuatingly, "here is 50 cents. Now will you take my card in?" "I'm paid a bigger salary than that to keep your card out, madam," responded the darky, shaking his head.—N. Y. Tribune.

Twain at the Telephone.

While living at his home at Hartford, Conn., Mark Twain was one morning deep in the composition of some humorism from which he expected a good deal, when he was called to the telephone. He told the servant to receive the message and bring it to him, but in a few moments was informed that the party at the other end of the wire wanted him. Provoked at the interruption, Mark went to the telephone, and, after "helioing" for some time without an answer, he used some language not generally seen in print, but which was certainly picturesque. While thus engaged he heard an answer in astonished tones and recognized the voice of an eminent divine whom he knew very well. "Is that you, doctor?" questioned Mr. Clemens. "I didn't hear what you said. My butler has been at the telephone and said he couldn't understand you."

Metamorphosed.

Metamorphosed.

It takes only a little thing in a translation to make it go wrong. The missionary who asked the pundit to put into the Indian vernacular the good old hymn: "Rock of ages, cleft for me, let me hide myself in thee," was taken off his feet when he heard his converts singing with prous fervor: "Very old stone, split for my benefit, let. me get under one of your fragments."—San Francisco Wave.

The Pinkham Record

Is a proud and peerless record. It is a record of cure, of constant conquest over obstinate ills of women; ills that deal out despair; suffering that many women think is woman's natural horitage; disorders and displacements that drive out hope.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

cures these troubles of women, and robs menstruation of its terrors.

No woman need be without the safest and surest advice, for Mrs. Pinkham counsels women free of charge. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

Can any woman afford to ignore the medicine and the advice that has cured