BURIED ALIVE THREE DAYS. Hypnotized Girl Tells of Her Strange

Experience, After having been buried in a grave in Woodlawn cemetery, at Lexington, Ky., for three days while hypnotized, according to the dispatches from that city, 16-year-old Maude Mathews was disinterred the other day in the presence of a thousand persons. She was in no way affected by her experience

"Oh, no, this is not the first time I have been under the ground, and the other time I was under the ground it was in a coffin, too," said Maude Mathews to a New York Journal reporter. "It was on the Fourth of July at Natural Bridge, in the Kentucky mountains. We had gone up there on a pleasure trip, and Professor Leon thought it would be a good place to make a trial to see what I could do. It was so far from civilization that should I die he felt safer, and so did I.

"I have seen hypnotic tests where men were buried a day or so, and I thought I could do it if they could, so I allowed him to bury me all day and stood the ordeal well. At night he took me up. I was convinced that I took me up. I was convinced that I would not fail if buried for a greater length of time, and they do say I look-

Emery in the Campaign.

Mr. Emery has come in from California to enter actively into the Congressional campaign. For years it has been Mr. Emery's ambition to reach a seat in Congress, but the way has not appeared to be open for entering into a contest with apparent possibilities of success until the virulent outbreak against Mr. Sibley promised the aid of an irregular contingent to the Democratic nominee, says the Kane Repubago, he stated plainly upon the stump that if elected he would be the representative of the whole people so far as he should be able; swerve him from what he should consider his duty in relation to the office which he should hold. He was elected by the combined vote of Democrats and Republicans. Yet certain Democratic politicians considered him their special property. When, therefore, he pursued the identical course in Congress that he had indicated in his pledges to the people the self-assumed directors of public officials charged him with rank ingratitude and party treachery. It is upon disaffected elements that Mr. Emery relies for his success in the coming campaign. The district is nominally Republican by about 6,000 majority. The disaffected forces in the Republican party have made repeated attempts to carry the primaries and have as often failed. The only hope they have of defeating the regular Republican nominee lies in their ability to carry a contingent of votes into the Democratic camp.

Money is necessary to make the battle. The co-operation of Democratic and irregular forces can only be secured by the lavish use of campaign funds. Every Democrat on the several local tickets in the district expects to gain votes and avoid expenditures by the use of funds contributed to aid the Emery battle. There is no issue involved except the success of the movement to "down Sibley" for his adhesion to his pledges to the people instead of standing firmly in the Democratic ranks in opposition to the policy of the McKinley administration. The majority of the people of the district support the McKinley administration, and Mr. Sibley has not misrepresented them in his support of administration measures. What is it that Mr. Emery undertakes to perform that renders him preferable as a representative of the people? Will he support the McKinley administration, or will he go into the Bryan camp? Is the money to be spent through his managers to go to the support of anything specially favored by the people of this district? Were he to be elected would his course satisfy the Democratic leaders or would he too, through fidelity to public duty become a supporter of Republican measures? The sum of the matter is that Emery wants to go to congress. Certain elements in the Democratic and Republican parties are willing to render him all the assistance possible in return for the substantial contributions he is expected to furnish in their fight to down a man whom they could not control. Mr. Sibley will go upon the stump and justify his position before the people. Let Mr. Emery go before the people and explain what he expects to accomplish for his disaffected Republican adherents and what he will do in return for his Democratic support. The policies of the Democratic and Republican parties stand in diametrical opposition. Which will he favor?
