Give Him Plenty of Rope.

Mr. Emery, in his Bradford speech accepting the nomination of the Democrats for Congress, devoted considerable time to the Congressional Convention of fourteen years ago, in telling about the effort on the part of some one to induce him to buy a county delegation and thereby secure the nomination. The district was then composed of McKean, Cameron, Potter, Tioga, Lycoming and Sullivan counties. A resident of Kane, who is quite familiar with the contest for Congressional nomination at that time, informs us that the Sullivan delegation was composed of three young men, the leader of which is now serving a term in the Eastern Penitentiary at Philadelphia. That delegation supported Emery most of the time and was ready to support him whenever his nomination was possible. It was that delegation which received the $1,000 which Mr. Emery refers to and our informant is positive that not a conferee from any other county received a cent outside his actual expenses. Mr. Emery closes his reference to this subject by saying: "I was again a candidate two years later and then I did not have an opportunity to pay the price, because somebody else bought my delegates." That assertion deserves attention from the men who represented Mr. Emery in the Convention twelve years since. Who were they? The district then had been re-apportioned as now constituted.—Kane Republican.

When we get our new town clock it is safe to say that some of our young people will be able to testify as to its time-keeping qualities while our boys in blue are slashing the Chinese in the full blaze of the sun.

The pool of water along the north side of the P. & E. R. R., in West ward ought to be looked after by the authorities, as it creates a stench very obnoxious to the families living along that portion of Fourth street, and certainly it is a disease breeder.

Out in Kansas when a mad bull gets after a boy he climbs a corn stalk and the corn grows so fast that the boy is soon out of the bull's sight. When the corn is cut the boy will come down in the fall.—Ex. He might come down on his ear if he was husky enough.

The literary entertainment given by the Epworth League last Friday evening was a decided success socially, but the attendance was not as large as the occasion merited. There should have been a larger turnout or members as the majority of those present were friends of the society.

By reference in another column it will be seen that Mr. R. Seger offers for sale his merchant tailoring establishment. Mr. Seger has been for many years one of our most industrious men and now feels that he should arrange his business matters so that he may take it easier in the future.

Ben Ross, Ira Barclay and John Mahon are in a pretty even contest in corn raising down in Wharton township. It is hard to decide which has the best field of corn at this time, but no bigger corn can be found in Potter county than the crops these farmers have this year. The corn stands about as high as a man's head already and glistens with a rich dark color.—Coudersport Journal.

Notice has been given to the stockholders of the General Electric Automobile Company that a sale of the property for the benefit of the creditors will take place unless 25,000 shares are deposited under the organization committee plan.—North American. This is a hint to those who may be inclined to purchase old stock now being advertised for sale, to look into the matter well before investing.
