Shooting Affair.

Last Sunday one Wm. Adams, a one-legged man who resides at Beechwood, had some trouble with a young lad named Chas. Bush and emptied the contents of a shot gun in the lad's legs. Deputy Sheriff Hemphill went after the would be Jesse James yesterday. The prisoner was given a hearing before Justice Larrabee, in default of $200 bail being committed to jail.

Not an Impostor.

EDITOR PRESS:—An article appeared in last week's Driftwood Gazette signed "Regular." It has been circulated that I am the author of the miserable rot. Such is not the case. I wish to say to all who may think so that I have not become so low that I would try to slur some one under the guise of "Regular." J. M. ENGLISH. Mason Hill, Pa., Oct. 9, 1900.

Are You Going? Yes!

There was a gathering of minstrel lovers that packed the opera house to the doors last night, that assembled to pay court to Barlow & Wilson's minstrels, as they appeared on their annual engagement. The performance consisted entirely of modern minstrel attractions. The people went to witness the fin de siècle minstrels of the season, and found them leaders by several lengths, for everything went fast enough to keep the most lively on the qui vive. Their efficient agent told the truth when he said that the company was better this year than ever before. The performance abounds in new features, which kept the audience in a continual state of hilarity, the hit of the evening being made by "the great Barlow and Wilson." The vocal numbers are gems of the first water. The company is far superior to the usual standard attraction. — Cincinnati Enquirer.

This fine minstrel company will give their performance at the Emporium opera house Thursday, Oct. 11, 1900. Admission, 35c; children, 25c. Reserved seats, 50c, at Lloyd's.

Prices for the Barlow & Wilson minstrels 25c., 35c. and 50c. Seats on sale at H. S. Lloyd's book store.

A Feeble Effort.

The Emery aggregation pitched its tent in Emporium Monday evening at the opera house. "What was it?" is still asked by those who attended. Mr. Emery is the democratic nominee for Congress, duly nominated by the democracy in convention assembled, yet it appeared on Monday evening that the democratic bosses of Cameron county were ignored. W. H. Howard presided as chairman and tired the audience with a speech one hour and forty-seven minutes long to convince the listeners that he was not always a reliable Republican, in fact had recently voted the straight democratic ticket. A long list of vice-presidents was read, consisting of many men who were not present and loyal, straight Republicans, to make it appear that the Emery vote in this county would be largely from representative Republicans, when the facts are that about the only Republican vote Emery will catch in Emporium sat upon the stage last Monday evening. Eugene Mullin, Esq., of Bradford, was the first speaker. He labored hard and at a great disadvantage, and when he started out against expansion soon saw that he could not catch the audience by such talk. After floating all around and saying nothing he gave way for Senator Emery, who spoke for more than an hour to convince his Republican hearers that he was a Republican and in case Bryan was elected a good democrat. He failed to inform his audience how he would vote, if elected, upon the election of Speaker of Congress and failed to deny that he had agreed to vote for a free-trade, free silver Speaker in consideration of the democratic nomination. The meeting was a flat failure, and none of the enthusiasm expected by the Lincoln-Bryan-Dependent Republicans made its appearance. The meeting was a great disappointment to the Emery followers, while the democrats were keenly disgusted with the fusion and will result in one-half of the democrats voting for Emery has been three or four Republican (?) supporters. He had better put the head in his barrel and retire to California. He is not in it in Cameron county.

Emery's Contrasts.

Emery won't debate.
Emery won't abide by majority.
Emery won't stand by his "primary" convictions.
Emery won't practice anti-monopoly, which he pretends to represent.
Emery won't stick to any party's principles.
Emery won't say which candidate for speaker of the House he would vote for if elected.
Emery won't pay his oil workers the prevailing highest scale of wages.
Emery will run for any office, any time.
Emery will compromise with any and all political parties providing a few votes can be made by it.
Emery will repudiate political sincerity for personal selfishness.
Emery will encourage discord and promote strife in the party he pretends to support.
Emery will kill business competition and close factories to increase dividends.—Bradford Star.

Hon. J. C. Sibley could not deny the prosperity of Republicanism, so he left the Democrats to become a Republican and now he is styled "a treacherous flopper" by some Democrats and all renegade Republicans. Hon. L. Emery was a Republican, supported Mr. Sibley for the nomination, then came out as a candidate against him, and is now posing as a Democrat before Democrats and as an Independent Republican before Republicans, and these same Democrats and renegade Republicans will tell you he is an honest man and a candidate for the purpose of purifying the politics of this district. These are plain facts that make the fusionists wince when forced to face them.—Smethport Miner.

I regard the Harp Recitals of Van-Vaughten Rogers as nothing short of wonderful. Have heard him with unbounded delight. His appearance here Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, in the Institute cause, should crowd the Court House.

O. S. METZLER,

Best in the Course.

The popular verdict of last night's entertainment in Bona Chapel showed that it was the best in the Y. M. C. A. Course. Messrs. Rogers and Grilley are artists in their particular lines, and delighted a large audience. It is safe to say that no one was disappointed with the entertainment last evening.—Gettysburg (Pa.) Star Sentinel. At Teachers' Institute October 16.

SIBLEY:—"Come up here, Mr. Emery, where the voters of this district can see you."

The Extreme of Perfidy.

On the 5th of last April the Republican primary election was held in McKean county and Mr. Sibley received a majority of 1,170 votes. Mr. Emery's paper had supported him and had written the strongest possible endorsements of his political position, great ability as a public man and personal character as a citizen. There was nothing too good to be said of him by Mr. Emery, in private conversation or in his paper. In the issue of that paper April 9, four days after the primaries he said:

"The result of Saturday's Republican primaries emphasizes the utility of the movement in McKean county. The returns give no hope of future success to the men who sought to disrupt the party organization. It is well. There is no doubt in the mind of anyone now as to the position of the Republican party in McKean county."

The "result" referred to was the nomination of Mr. Sibley in McKean county by 1,170 majority. The "insurgent movement" was the opposition to Mr. Sibley in that county, or as the Record has it, "the men who sought to disrupt the party organization." Looking upon the overthrow of the opposition to Mr. Sibley at that time the Record said, "It is well. There is no doubt in the mind of anyone now as to the position of the Republican party in McKean county." In Mr. Emery's opinion Sibley was the best man for the place and should have had a unanimous vote, but the "insurgents" had refused to have it so and had justly suffered an overwhelming defeat. He thought there could be no doubt about the position of the "insurgents." The Republicans of McKean had put the brand upon them of 1,170 majority and Mr. Emery's opinion was tersely expressed by declaring, "It is well." In less than a hundred days thereafter this man met the same "insurgents" in a public hall in Bradford and heard with approving smiles such charges against Mr. Sibley as ought to send a man to the penitentiary.

Glorying in the defeat of the "insurgents," and in less than one hundred days heading their number and joining in vile denunciation of the man in whose praise he had exhausted his vocabulary, is an act of perfidy few men were ever known to perform. Emery charges Sibley with being feeble, but every charge made by him has been in following the beckonings of honorable impulses, but Emery has changed at the voice of the tempter who held out illusive promises requiring the sacrifice of his honor. Neither Emery nor any friend has yet attempted to explain his changed attitude toward Mr. Sibley except by the fact that he wants to go to Congress himself. Now, what are voters of the district going to do? Are they dogs to be set on and called off at the pleasure of Emery? Are they to laud Mr. Sibley to the skies with fulsome praise in April, and from July to election damn him to the depths? Not very likely.—Bradford Era.

Thanks.

The ladies of the First Methodist Episcopal Church wish to extend to all contributors to and patrons of their fair their most sincere thanks. The splendid success achieved was made possible by the generous patronage of the public and they are deeply grateful for the encouragement given them. Mrs. F. P. STRAYER, President.

Best of the season—Barlow & Wilson Minstrels—Opera house, Oct. 11, 1900.

Emery is not sure whether he is for McKinley or for Bryan. He is "going to shoot so as to kill it if it is a deer but miss it if it is a calf." Republican as well as Democrat will say to Emery, as is said in Holy Writ, "Because thou art neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth." There is more in the same book showing that the proper way for a Republican to get to Congress from this district is to go through the primary election, viz: "He that entereth not in at the straight gate, but climbeth up another way, the same is a thief and a robber."—Bradford Star.

The surest way to get the ill-will of a mean man is to do him a favor. It is a noticeable fact that the small band of Republicans who are going about actively opposing their party nominee for Congress have all been office-holders. The fat on their ribs has been placed there by the misplaced kindness of the Republican party. Let the voter consider the following array: Lew Emery, ex-Senator; J. W. Lee, ex-Senator; Fred Hayes, ex-member of Legislature; John Mattox, ex-member of Legislature; B. F. Gault, ex-Sheriff. Each one of these men, when he was the nominee of the Republican party, claimed that the nomination at the primaries pledged the Republicans to vote for him at the general election. Now they claim that the rule which required the party to support them does not require them to support the nominees of the party. "On what meat do these Caesars feed that they have grown so great?"—Bradford Star.

The Quay Spellbinders.

Last Thursday our people were privileged, for the first time, to greet Senator M. S. Quay and the gentlemen accompanying him, Gov. W. A. Stone, Attorney Gen. Elkin, Maj. Alex. McDowell and others. The distinguished guests were resting here between trains, being enroute to Coudersport, where a monster demonstration was held Thursday evening. Both the court house and opera house were crowded to meet the grand old man. While it was not intended to make a demonstration at Emporium, yet many of our citizens, representing both parties, called upon the stalwart of stalwart Republicans. He made a very favorable impression upon many who formerly were led to believe that Senator Quay actually had horns. The receptions tendered Senator Quay and party exceed anything witnessed in this state in twenty years. No speaker has appeared before Pennsylvania audiences in many years who has so combined the qualities that hold the crowd with those that attract the mind of the scholar. What Senator Quay is in his private conversations he is in his public addresses. It is the man himself that people see and hear, without veneer or pretense. He is a grand old man and the glorious receptions tendered him wherever he goes is evidence that the people, always right, are with him.

Wedding Bells.

A pleasant home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Boutain, in this place, last evening, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary E., to Mr. Fred. Mills, of Seattle, Wash. Only about fifty intimate friends of the contracting parties and family were invited. Rev. Downey tied the knot in his usual substantial manner. The pleasant home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Promptly at 6:30 the bridal party entered the parlor (Mr. Jno. Vail acting as best man and Miss Sydna Boutain bride's-maid) to the strains of the wedding march, rendered by Miss May Gould. It was a very happy occasion, and the congratulations extended the young couple were many. The bride was richly gowned, and, while always a handsome young lady, was more beautiful than ever. They were the recipients of numerous handsome presents. After a sumptuous wedding dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Mills departed on Erie mail for an extended tour, taking in New York, Washington and Florida; returning to Emporium for a short visit, after which they go to the Pacific coast.

The bride has resided in Emporium a number of years, and has always been highly respected by our citizens, one and all of whom wish her a long life of happiness with love's choice. Mr. Mills, who is a stranger in our midst, is a member of a gold mining company in Alaska, although his parents and home are in Seattle. After returning from Alaska, Mr. and Mrs. Mills will make their home at Seattle, Wash. The PRESS editor had the pleasure of meeting the groom and found him a very intelligent and pleasant gentleman, well posted upon all public matters, especially his chosen calling—mining.

Death's Doings.

LINGLE,

MRS. PERCILLA LINGLE, aged 65 years, wife of John Lingle, Esq., one of Rich Valley's most estimable citizens, also mother of Jos. J. Lingle, of this place, died at the family residence last Thursday, after an illness of several months. The funeral was held from the home where she so long resided last Saturday afternoon, and was largely attended. Rev. Walter Reddette officiated and held appropriate services in the church. Mother Lingle was a kind and benevolent lady and highly respected by all who knew her. The aged father and children have the sympathy of our citizens. While the writer was not personally acquainted with the lady yet we know, from having listened to the motherly kindness bestowed upon a friend, that she must have been a good mother and a faithful wife, and made the world better for her having lived in it.

Benefit Ball.

There will be a benefit ball at the opera house, Wednesday evening, Oct. 17th, for the benefit of a worthy lady. Tickets, $1.00. The Ridgway Orchestra will be present and furnish excellent music. It is hoped our citizens will liberally patronize the occasion.

The cold, chilly weather is fast approaching and as this is the time of year for heavy wears you should not forget that N. Seger keeps a full line, and that he is the popular clothier.
