Mr. Josiah Howard's Letter.

The righteous government of King David built up the nation, but the political wisdom of his son Solomon, led only to folly and destruction.

This is ever true, no man ever yet advocated a dishonest cause or turned the crank in on the side of envy or spite that he did not go down in the fall of the unrighteous principle.

A few weeks ago I stated that I would not vote for Bryanism, either directly or indirectly, nor would I sit on a platform with Bryanite stump speakers. I did not mean just on account of the free silver idea which Mr. Bryan foolishly insisted upon and which not only died a natural death itself, but helped bury Mr. Bryan and nearly killed the whole Democratic party; by Bryanism, I meant that grater and fundamental principal of envious spite and hate which still exists between the narrow and more incapable portion of the classes and masses. To shorten the bridge between capital and labor, should be the earnest endeavor of all public men, the public schools and I am much inclined to say the ministers in our churches.

I do not think a clergyman should take an active part in the political questions which divide our people into two great parties, but it certainly is his duty to preach, that the church knows of no time in a man's life when it is right to lie, steal, or insist on debauching the manhood and moral integrity of his fellow citizens.

The bridge between capital and labor can be shortened in only one way; that is for the employer and the employee to treat each other fairly and as brothers, and both brothers to recognize capital as their best friend.

Now I just want to say that I am unalterably opposed to anything that stirs up strife between the classes and the masses, because strife widens the gap in all mental, moral and political structures, and nothing but good-will can shorten it. Bryanism stands for the former and against the latter.

The wealth of a farmer depends upon the improvement of his land and his cattle. The earnings of a railroad depend upon the enterprise and activity of the country; the income of a capitalist or a bank depends upon the success of the borrower, and the success of the manufacturer depends upon the prosperity of the purchasers.

The manufacturer and the store keeper are contractors trying to supply the needs of the world; the capitalist is the man or woman who loans money at interest and there are laboring men in this and many other towns who loan money to the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The world's capital, manufacturers and labor are dependent upon each other, and enjoy the greatest blessing when each and all are prosperous; these conditions are best when the best good-will exists between them. Will you help increase this good-will in the world? The attempt is honorable to a minister, profitable to a capitalist and a blessing to employer and employee.

Our people are intelligent and independent enough to vote as they please and if they will lay aside prejudice and spite we will have forty times four more years of prosperity and peace.

Respectfully,
JOSIAH HOWARD.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

The editor of the PRESS has been enjoying (?) the novelty of serving Uncle Samuel as juror in U. S. court at Pittsburg, during the past ten days, receiving $2.00 per day and paying $3.00 for board, yet there are many who wish they could be granted the privilege. Well, they can have my place, and my best wishes if I could only get away. Get excused, did you say friends Anchu and Hill? I guess Cameron county jurors have played that racket so successfully that in the future all persons drawn "must serve to the close of the war," and will not fare so lucky as you did.

This is our first visit to Pittsburg since 1891 and the many changes are wonderful to behold. Then the hundreds of manufacturing establishments used natural gas for fuel, yet the city was enveloped in smoke. The immense increase of manufactories has drained the gas belt to such an extent that soft coal has again come into general use and the blue sky is a thing of the past. White shirts are no good in this city and everything looks black and dirty, yet the average Pittsburger smiles when you call attention to the dirt or smoke. Those not familiar with the city are sure to have soiled linen, black hands and often faces of the same black, streaky smut color. Hotel carpets are always a black, greasy color. What town would not suffer this inconvenience if they could only have one-thousandth part of the business enjoyed by this city. Just think of the hundreds of mills, furnaces and factories within a radius of ten miles of Pittsburg employing almost 200,000 wage earners. Prosperity has struck this section and new skyscraper buildings are being rapidly erected, and go where you may you will see from three to four stories being added to what are now big buildings. Capital is seeking investment rapidly, and new towns are being "plotted," surveyed and springing into existence within three or four months.

Allegheny county, with a population of over 775,000, will march forward more rapidly within the next five years than she has the past ten years. The railroads entering the cities of Pittsburg and Allegheny are looking out for expansion and during the next two years millions of dollars will be expended in improvements, new cars, engines and a grand union depot are under consideration. Every branch of business is booming. Great is Pittsburg and the county of Allegheny. Greater still are its men of wealth who are daily donating large sums of money to afford every advantage to the poor boy or girl desiring to fit themselves to any vocation. Only last week Andrew Carnegie donated $3,000,000 more for institutions of learning for Pittsburg, in addition to former millions expended for the city where he made his hundreds of millions. One might write for days of the interesting points of grandness and the great men of Pittsburg, but I have not the time at my disposal just now to enlarge upon the subject further. The opportunities presented the citizens of Cameron county to cheaply enjoy a day's outing in this busy section are many.

Between the hours of duty I have looked up a number of former Emporiumites, now residing here and engaged in business. Hon. Fred C. Conrad, of Coudersport, United States Marshal for this district, resides here with his family and is a popular officer. He always greets his friends from the Northern Tier cordially and takes pleasure in making his friends feel at home. Dr. J. W. Snyder, also of Coudersport, but formerly a citizen of Emporium, is located here with his family, filling the responsible position of deputy to Mr. Leonard and is one of the most efficient men in the service. Thomas C. Johnson, son of our friend Hon. J. C. Johnson, is located here and is associated with a prominent real estate agency. We are pleased to note how well he is looking and also more than pleased to say he is a wide-awake business man and occupies a position of prominence. Another Emporium young man is climbing up the ladder—Harry Ness. He and his family reside at Bellevue, one of Pittsburg's suburban towns. Mr. Ness is the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Railroad's right hand man in this city and holds a very lucrative place. We enjoyed a visit of short duration with his family and found them nicely situated. Mother Hirsch, the PRESS readers will be glad to learn, is exceedingly smart and wishes to be remembered to all of her old Emporium friends.

We called upon Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Cummings, who reside at Bellevue, but were former Johnsonburgers. Mrs. C. was formerly Miss Mary More, of Beechwood and will be pleasantly remembered by many of the PRESS readers. Mr. Cummings is engaged in the insurance and real estate business in Allegheny city and enjoys a large business. He is a hustler and is bound to succeed. I met upon the street yesterday, John Farrell, an Emporium young man who is attending commercial college here. He will return home for the Holidays, although he has already been tendered a position in this city. Alfred J. Niles, son of Judge Niles, of Tioga county, who visits Emporium and Sizerville Springs quite frequently, is assistant solicitor of this city. He is a visiting member of the bar and very popular here.

There are many more Emporiumites in this vicinity but I have not had an opportunity to see them. I expect to return home this week, feeling greatly benefitted by my enforced vacation and ready to buckle down to business again. Full of new hope for Cameron county and its good people I am ready to help push forward.

WEATHER REPORT.

(Forecast by T. B. Lloyd.)
FRIDAY, Fair.
SATURDAY, Fair.
SUNDAY, Probably Fair.

Store News.

LADIES' JACKETS, GOLF AND PLUSH CAPES.

A representative gathering of the season's best styles from the foremost makers—each garment chosen and bought with regard to its peculiar style and beauty. We have had the reputation for being the leaders in Women's garments for many years. So we were, so we are, in more ways than one—in quality, of course, and in price lowness, too.

CHILDREN'S COATS.

The showing is greater than any hearabouts. We took especial pains to gather a "fetching" lot of coats for the little ones. You will not only find the new kinds of children's coats here. You will find them at new prices—lower prices. We discovered a new and better source of supply—that is the reason.

WE HAVE THE FINEST STOCK.
AND OUR PRICES ARE LOWEST.

Finger Cut Off.

Bing Hemphill came home from Tidoute last week to nurse a couple of sore fingers. While Bing and another young man were engaged cutting a board to fix a feed box—Bing holding the board and the other lad using the axe, the handle of which caught in his clothes and threw the tool into Bing's fingers, cutting the first finger on the left hand entirely off and almost severing the second finger. The injure member is healing as fast as can be expected and it is hoped he may soon be able to resume his labors.

The Ithica Concert Co.

Under the auspices of the First M. E. Church this capable company will appear in the Court House, Tuesday evening, Dec. 11.

Jubilee Singers.

Slayton Jubilee Singers will be the next attraction in the People's Course, Wednesday evening, Dec. 12. They are the leading colored singers in the country and a crowded house will greet their appearance.

Correction.

We mentioned last week that Dr. F. C. Rieck was going to leave us, but the Dr. informs us that he will not move before spring, and that he may change his mind by that time and not move at all. We hope he may conclude to remain here.

Large Apple.

Jos. Lechner has on exhibition in his store window, a large apple, sent to him by Frank Ayers, who is now in Portland, Ore. Mr. Ayers says this is a sample of the large fruit they grow in that state.

Took a Tumble.

E. G. Strait had a miraculous escape from being badly injured on Tuesday. A ladder on which he was fixing the spouting on the Central hotel, collapsed, letting him to the ground. Outside of a few slight bruises and a small cut on the head he received no serious injury.

Brought Here for Burial.

The ten months old child of Joseph Robison, of Johnsonburg, was brought here Monday morning for burial. The mother of the child is a daughter of Mr. John Lawson of Howard Siding, and is well known by many of our people who sympathize with her and her husband in their hour of affliction.

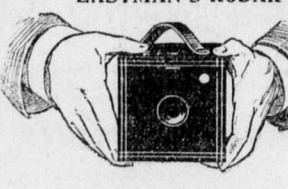

Robbed Again.

The store of J. E. Smith at Sterling Run was broken into last night and several hundred dollars worth of goods stolen. The burglars gained an entrance by cutting a pane of glass out of the door and unlocking the same relocking it after they secured all the valuables they wanted.

A Painful Accident.

Last Monday afternoon, while at work at one of Howard & Co.'s camps, David Kirkpatrick of Beechwood, sunk the blade of an axe through his left foot, completely splitting it and severing one of the toes from the foot. He was brought to town on the log train and comfortable quarters given him at the Cottage Hotel where Drs. Baker and Smith dressed the wound and administered the necessary medical application to alleviate his suffering. At this writing he is doing well, although it will be many days before he will be able to swing another blow like that which disabled him.

EASTMAN'S KODAK

You can carry it in your hands, on your shoulder, in your pocket or on your bicycle. You press the button and the Kodak will rest.

Fresh Candy.

I have just added a large line of fresh candy at my store, which is the purest the market affords.

Be Sure You'r Right, Then go Ahead.

That's a safe rule to follow all through life. It's a particularly good rule to follow when you are shopping. We don't want you to buy a single article here until you are sure that it and the price is right. We may charge you a certain price for something—before you buy it, we want you to know what other stores charge for the same thing.

HARRY S. LLOYD.

"The Rivals."

Charles F. Underhill, Impersonator, pleased a large audience at the Court House, Tuesday night, in the play of "The Rivals." It was the second attraction in the People's Star Course and in an artistic sense was simply delightful—the interpretation of the several characters being characterized by intelligence and true dramatic instinct—the pleasure of the audience was manifest from beginning to end, and Mr. Underhill is firmly established in the opinion of his auditors as an artist of the first rank.
