EDITORIAL MENTION.

The Democratic party will be "reorganized" in the future as in the past by Republican victories.

By the way, what has become of Hogg of Texas. Can it be that he was caught in Lipton's pork corner?

Lord Roberts says the "war as a war" is over. Please tell us, Bobs, how much longer it is to last as something else.

We are still waiting patiently for the announcement of the forthcoming issue of the "Mrs. Oom Paul's Cook Book."

Anyway, the universal adoption of woman's suffrage would aid materially in doing away with the silent vote that so bewilders the politicians.

It is certainly hard on the Democrats to have nothing to show for all the hard work of the campaign except Webster Davis and Wellington.

We should like to know whether the governors of North and South Carolina have been duly invited to the irrigation Congress which is about to meet in Chicago.

It is perfectly clear from the news received from Pennsylvania that former Senator Quay stands an excellent chance of reelection and that he stands no chance at all.

Nebraska is now back in the Republican column to stay. Like Kansas and some other states, it has returned to its first love after having a razzle dazzle time with the boys.

Business is business. President McKinley is compelled to send the Kentucky along to collect that little bill despite the congratulations on his reelection just extended to him by the Sultan.

Once was an accident, twice was a coincidence, but three times will be a bad habit, and it isn't quite fair for Mr. Bryan to insist on the Democratic party forming any more of these. It has plenty already.

British bankers are preparing to take the next government loan at home and keep it from coming to this country. They are preparing by borrowing money in New York.

Boss Croker has at last taken one step towards purifying greater New York, thus proving that he is partially in earnest in his declaration of sympathy with Bishop Potter. He has taken himself off to Europe.

Prince Ching is going to Europe to humiliate himself before the Kaiser in apology for the death of Baron Kettler. It is dollars to doughnuts, however, that he is glad to get out of reach of Waldersee even at this price.

Now it seems that that telegram from Mr. Odell to Governor Roosevelt about the Ice Trust was sent only in the imagination of one of the New York yellow journals. This is about what we expected would turn out to be the case.

Yale always manages to get advertising out of things. There are some 50 colleges in the country that have acceded to the request of the Taft commission to educate certain Filipinos free, but Yale is the only one who has projected its benevolence into the newspapers.

The Ways and Means committee of the House is hard at work trying to devise some means whereby war taxes can be cut down without endangering the finances of the Government. It is believed that it is possible to do away with some $20,000,000 or $30,000,000 of these.

In the past Kentucky has been famous as the land of the ready rifle, but it has not been considered dishonest. But now that it seems to have decided to run a race with New York in the matter of hundred thousand dollar bank steals, it will soon attain undesirable prominence in that respect also.

The American jockey is having a hard time in Great Britain. He is comparatively so few in number that he will not go around and as he nearly always wins, the majority that cannot employ is so great that it seems likely that he will be barred from the race course there.

It is well understood that the present membership of the House of Representatives is unwieldy, and that it should at least not be further increased under the new apportionment. But unless it is increased, Nebraska, Kansas, Virginia, Ohio, and one or two other states will have to be reduced and there is a good deal of objection to anything of the kind.

When Carnegie was a Lad.

Apreros of the old-time telegraphers in convention at St. Paul, this story is told of Andrew Carnegie, who once handled a key.

A white-haired man had a desk in the editorial rooms of the Pittsburgh Times in the latter part of the 80's. He "did" exchange work, "marine" and commercial. One afternoon a messenger boy came in with a special. His slip was signed by the telegraph editor and the boy left.

The old man in the corner took off his spectacles, wiped them carefully, and said:

"Thirty odd years ago I was what they now call a 'telegraph editor.' We didn't get many messages in those days and the boys didn't wear uniform. One day a chunky little lad put a telegram on my desk, and I signed for it as you did just now. The boy was Andy Carnegie."

The old man replaced his spectacles and resumed his $20-a-week job.

Quay and the People.

From the New Castle Courant-Guardian.

The enemies of M. S. Quay who imagine that some of the members of the legislature who are not openly in his favor will vote against him, and so encompass his defeat, do not take into consideration several circumstances which will make his next canvas in the state legislature different than it was before.

But since that time he has been acquitted by the court and by the Republican party in the State, whose members have faith in him and believe that the charges against him were false and made for political purposes. His enemies were powerful and persistent, and by the very force of their accusation compelled attention, but the people have shown conclusively that they prefer to trust Quay to trusting the gang opposed to him, and he and his friends have been elected to the control of the next legislature of Pennsylvania.

The closer one gets to Bryan's Nebraska home, the less the people seem to care for him. The Minneapolis Tribune rubs it in after this fashion: "The better the country knows Mr. Bryan the less it wants him in the White House, or, indeed, in any place of responsibility and power. He made a more thorough canvass this year than he did four years ago; he talked to more people, he presented his views more fully, and he was beaten worse. It was evidently a case of familiarity breeding contempt." It is only in Massachusetts that they look upon Bryan as a "second Abraham Lincoln."

When the election figures are worked out for all they are worth they show, as the Chicago Journal proves, that "Bryan carried only four States, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, and Nevada, with a combined population, of 1,031,428, or nearly a million less than the population of the city of Chicago. The south, though its electoral vote will be counted, was no more concerned in the issues of the campaign than if it were a part of Africa."

Afraid of the Caucus.

The Philadelphia Press, Postmaster General Charles Emery Smith's paper, the official clearing house of the insurgent newspapers of the commonwealth, has editorially declared itself outside the pale of any and all political parties. Its hatred of Senator M. S. Quay seems to have been responsible for its severance of the last tie which gave its utterances party significance and party weight. The skull and crossbones of political piracy have been hung at the masthead. The mask has been removed and its man-hunting policy re-announced.

In its leading editorial the other day the Press declared:

The law makes the duty of the legislature to elect a United States Senator. That duty cannot be performed by a caucus. There is no law even of the party that recognizes the caucus.

This is a new doctrine for an alleged Republican newspaper to preach. It is one not recognized by Republicans, Democrats, Prohibitionists or any other political party yet formed. The Press will certainly not plead ignorance of the fact that party primaries and caucuses are the fundamental principals of political organizations. It is surely aware of the fact that the two great political parties of the United States, in every state and at every legislative session, caucus not only upon the question of a choice for the United States senatorship—when a vacancy exists—but also on questions of legislation and matters of political expediency.

It is also a matter of indisputed information to the Press that, in that the greatest of all councils of parliamentary and party law, the Congress of the United States, the Republican and Democratic members caucus upon all questions of party expediency, organization and legislation. The Press also knows that the individual participants in these caucuses are bound by the action of the majority. It knows that the member of Congress who does not respect this solemn obligation will forfeit the respect of his party associates and his standing as a representative of the people. And still the Press says "there is no law even of the party which recognizes the caucus."

This paper which voices the sentiments of the postmaster general, of Senators Flinn and Martin and Mr. Wanamaker, does not represent Col. Guffey, the Democratic leader, their partner in the state campaign, for he has declared that the Democrats will caucus upon the senatorship and legislative matters.

And further on in this treasonable editorial the Press declares: "There is no obligation on the part of any Republican to attend a caucus." Then the editorial leaks. It tells why the caucus is a bad thing and incidentally admits that the stalwart Republicans will not only control the caucus, but also insure the re-election of Senator M. S. Quay. The Press says:

The man who goes into the Quay caucus goes in as a Quay man and not as a Republican. By such an act he demonstrates that he is nothing but a Quay man. No Republican nominated and elected as an anti-Quay man can attend the Quay caucus and bind himself by its decision without betraying his constituents.

No Republican who wants to be free to exercise his own judgment and best serve the party will put the caucus gag on his vote. The caucus disfranchises the constituencies of the members who attend.

For a newspaper that contends that "Quay is beaten" the Press certainly exhibits little confidence in its own predictions. It shies at the caucus, and will shy at any determining test of political strength. —Pittsburg Commercial.

"If Quay is beaten, why should it be necessary to repeat it morning, noon and night?" says the Pittsburg Commercial - Gazette. "Why so much reiteration? Why juggle with figures and print misleading legislative tables if Quay is beaten? Quay does not seem to be worried over the matter. He is not saying a word. For a defeated man he is bearing his misfortune with truly Christian fortitude."

Great Luck of an Editor.

"For two years all efforts to cure eczema in the palms of my hands failed," writes Editor H. N. Lester, of Syracuse, Kan., "then I was wholly cured by Bucklin's Armic Salve." It's the world's best for eruptions, sores and all skin diseases. Only 25c at L. Taggart's. nov

Dewey Changed his Views.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—In an interview Admiral Dewey said: "I am out of politics definitely. In a moment of weakness I said I was willing to be a presidential candidate if the people wanted me, but I thank God I was not wanted. I once said that the president's sole duty was to execute the laws, but I changed my mind. The president obviously has to formulate policies, and it is not merely a ministerial office. I am not disposed to make suggestions for the guidance of any party, for while I explained when I was asked some months ago as to my politics that I was a Democrat, I am not a partisan. I am a naval officer, and if we have war again, which I hope we will not, I shall ask the administration in power for a chance to do my duty at the front.

"One thing I can say, and it is this: We should retain the Philippines until they are capable of self-government. We have a duty to perform and we must meet it."

Why They Oppose Quay.

Hon. George McNeess tells a good story on one of his rural constituents from Cowanshannock township. He was an old gentleman with shaggy whiskers, who does not keep as well posted on political affairs as some men who have little else to do, but had his own ideas of right, and did the best he could with the light he had. His district went strongly anti-Quay at the spring primary, and as he was something of a leader up there, Mr. McNeess said, the first time he saw him after election:

"Your township went pretty strongly anti-Quay, didn't it?" "Yep."

"Don't seem to like Quay very well up there, do they?"

"Well," said the old man, in a half apologetic tone, "they hain't nothin' particular agin' Quay, but you know his brother Andy has been wantin' somethin' for a long time, an' hain't been gettin' a tarnation thing. From what we could see in the Times we concluded that Andy Quay was'n't a bad sort of a feller, an' as Mat had been beatin' of him right along, an' we believe in passin' a good thing around, we jest voted for Andy Quay.—Punxy Spirit."

are the heads of the men we sell hats to. We sell all sorts of hats to all sorts of people. We can sell a good hat for two dollars, but it would be suitable only for the man who wants a two dollar hat. It wouldn't do for the man who wants a silk tile. Those who buy here get good honest values and the latest styles whether they buy two dollar hats or whether they want to pay three or five dollars, or any other price.
