"Unto the third and fourth generations," upon the happiness of little The Price Mark children, is the on Everything. curse of American greed for dollars, rightly says Harper's Bazar. It was an American small boy, sick with typhoid fever, who, observing that he had one trained nurse on duty at night and another on duty days, that the doctor made two or three visits daily, and that at each visit something new was ordered to be got, said to his mother-his pitifully feeble voice burdened with anxiety: "Mamma, dear, I am afraid this sickness is very expensive. It is too bad I did not take some cheaper disease." Another small American boy had been having a birthday party. It was a splendid affairbeyond his parents' means, as becomes the American notion of being good parents. There were candles on the cake, lots of candy, ice cream "to burn," as the boy himself expressed it, and loads of presents besides. The small guests departed, the host was taking a last lingering look at the party (the cake) before going to bed. "Was it a nice party, son?" his mother asked. He drew a breath eloquent with satisfaction, and raised his eyes to answer. Instantly his expression changed. Perhaps it was the tired look he saw in his mother's face. At all events, his joy was gone. His answer was: "An awful nice party, mamma. Did it cost much money? His query laughingly dismissed, he went upstairs. In a moment he was back, bringing a big silver dollar in each hand-two out of five his grandmother had sent him for his birthday. "Here," he said, extending one piece of silver to his father and one to his mother, "please take this and pay for the party." So does everything in life in the United States flaunt its price mark in our faces

"After having supplied a moonshiner in a South Carolina jail with a month's supply of smoking tobacco," said a government surveyor to a writer in the Washington Post, "I presumed upon the deed to ask: 'Didn't you know it was against the law to manufacture moonshine whisky?' 'I heard that was a law once,' he replied. 'What do you mean by "once?" ' 'Why, Juba French told me thar was sich a law, but when I asked Jim Truman about it he says that Juba is sich a liar that nobody kin believe him under oath, and so I reckoned I was safe to go ahead. Shoo, but I wonder how Juba come to tell the truth fur that one time!' "

Mrs. W. Boyd Steele, of Stephen City, Va., had been missing flour and other things from her pantry. Her husband, who is an amateur photographer, so arranged a camera that if anyone dis turbed the flour the photographic plate would be exposed and a snapshot of the thief taken. The Steele family then went calling and on their return found a very good picture of a neighbor in the act of stealing flour.

A CAR AND ENGINE FAMINE.

Railroads Cannot Get Enough Rolling

Stock for Present Needs.

New York, Jan. 3.—The Commercial Advertiser says: The locomotive works, as well as the car shops in this country are overwhelmed with orders. President Callaway, of the New York Central railroad, says he s having difficulty in arranging for delivery of new locomotives, urgently needed on the Central system, before next fall. As many as possible of the 100 new locomotives authorized by the board of directors are to be made in the New York Central shops

Railroad men generally are com-plaining of the scarcity of freight cars and the lack of motive power. Although tens of thousands of new cars and hundreds of new locomo-tives have been built within the past two years, the abnormal growth of railroad traffic has surpassed even the steady increase in equipment Western lines are constantly calling on their eastern connections for more cars with which to move freight eastward, but the eastern lines are not able to comply with more than half of these requests.

After the probation of the will the widow, Anne H. Murphy, appeared in the circuit court and made applica-tion for permission to adopt Mr. and Mrs. Felder. The judge granted the petition and Mr. and Mrs. Felder thereby became entitled to all the rights and privileges of natural born children. This action was taken in deference to the wish of Mr. Murphy, expressed before his death.

Receipts Exceed Expenses.

Washington, Jan. 3.—The statement of the receipts and expendiures of the United States, issued by the treasury department yesterday shows that for December, 1900, the total receipts were $46,846,508, an increase as compared with December, 1899, of $87,404. During the last six months the receipts amounted to $291,841,861, as against $284,793,494 for the corresponding period last year. The expenditures during the last six months aggregated $273,094,155, as against $263,766,560 for the corre-

ENDORSED BY A CAUCUS.

Mr. Quay Is Nominated for United States Senator — His Friends Organ-ize the Pennsylvania Legislature.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 2.-Col. M. S. Quay was the unanimous choice of the joint convention of republican senators and members held last night in the house chamber to nominate a candidate for United States senator. The caucus was attended by 123 legislators, or four less than the number necessary to a choice in the joint convention of the senate and house, which will be held January 15. Three of those present were Messrs. Hill and Tiffany, of Susquehanna county, and Tiffany, of Susquehanna county, and McPherson, of Adams, who absented themselves Monday night from the house caucus and voted with the democrats in the house yesterday for Gen. Koontz for speaker. Mr. Beaver, of Juniata, who voted with the stalwarts for Mr. Marshall, for speaker, was present, but did not answer to his name. It was stated that swer to his name. It was stated that he will abide by the caucus, Thompson, of Centre, and Haldeman, of Montgomery, who are detained at home by illness, were pledged by their colleagues to Mr. Quay. This apparently gives Mr. Quay 126 of the 127 necessary to a choice. The other absentees voted with the democration of the prograpization of the house and on the organization of the house and are classed as anti-Quay republicans. Speeches were made nominating Mr. Quay, Congressman Dalzell and Judge John G. Stewart.

On the balloting Mr. Quay received the votes of 26 senators and 93 members of the house. Before the result was announced the names of Messrs. Dalzell and Stewart were withdrawn and the nomination of Mr. Quay was made unanimous and he was thus given a total of 123 votes. With one present and not voting and two absent on account of illness, all three of whom it is claimed will abide by the caucus decision, a vote of 126 for Quay on joint ballot is indicated. As the house chamber a secret meeting of the anti-Quay republicans was held at their headquarters at the clothed with authority Commonwealth hotel. At the close whom the responsibility of the meeting the pledge of the anti-Quayites binding themselves to-gether to oppose Mr. Quay's re-election was made public. The pledge contains 68 names.

A call was issued last night for a caucus of the house and senate democrats on the evening of January for the nomination of a candidate for United States senator.

The first ballot taken Tuesday in The first ballot taken Tuesday in in the the contest for control of the organization of the house of representa-tives between the stalwart republicans and the fusionists resulted in 100 votes for Marshall, 99 for Koontz, for speaker. Four democrats voted for William T. Marshall, the stalwart republican candidate.

Senator Snyder, of Chester county, was the choice of the Quay faction for president pro tem of the senate, and was elected by a vote of 36 to 13 for Nidler, democrat, of Cumber-

When the detectives awakened Crowe he rubbed his eyes as if he were dazed.

'What do you want?" he demanded. "We're looking for you and Pat, We want Pat most, but if we can't find him, we want to ask you a few questions."

"I'll do anything I can for you, gentlemen," he said, "but I'll tell you right now, I can't do or tell much.' Edward A. Cudahy, jr., failed to identify J. J. Crowe as one of the men who kidnapped him. Young Cudahy appeared at the city jail and cudahy appeared at the city jail and confronted Crowe. After looking at the suspect five minutes or more, Cudahy remarked: "I never saw that man before. He is not the one who stood guard over me, and if he had anything at all to do with the kidnapping, I did not see him." Crowe was released from custody.

Divided the Offices.

Dover, Del., Jan. 2.—The Delaware legistature organized yesterday after the Addicks and anti-Addicks re-publicans held a conference over a division of the offices of the senate and house. Both factions jointly control 29 of the 52 members of the assem bly and they decided to divide the places. The anti-Addicks members chose Henry A. Ellison for president of the senate. The Addicks faction then chose Charles V. McCommons for speaker of the house. The other appointments were then made, each faction choosing alternately.

A NEW GOVERNOR.

New York and Michigan Each Has One.

Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., Is Inaugurated as Chief Executive of the Empire State and Aron T. Bliss Suc-ceeds Mr. Pingree in Office at Lansing.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Benjamin B. Odell, jr., was on Tuesday inaugurated governor of New York. The inauguration of Gov. Odell was one of the most elaborate ever held. There was a greater outpouring of people and a grander military display than have attended a ceremony of this character for many years. Over 1,-500 national guardsmen were in line in the except column in the escort column.

The ceremonies connected with the inauguration were of the most imposing character. Gov. Roosevelt, the retiring governor, shared with Gov. Odell to a great extent the demonstration of selection in the assentiate of the company of the selection in the assentiate of the company of the selection in the assentiate of the company of the selection in the assentiate of the selection of the selection in the assentiate of the selection in the selection of the selection in the selection of the selection in the selection onstration of welcome in the assembly chamber. Hoffman and the other members of his military staff who had assembied at the department of the adju-tant general and proceeded to the executive mansion.

Gov. Odell then delivered his inaugural address, as follows:

"With the assumption of responsibilities comes doubt and uncertainty which even the applause and good wishes of our friends cannot entirely dissipate. Especially is this true of him into whose keeping is placed the administration of the affairs of our commonwealth. New York, an empire in itself, with its vast population, its many and diverse interests, demands from its chief executive the the names of certain men who had greatest conservatism, wisdom as to been counted in the anti-Quay colits needs and that its business affairs been counted in the anti-Quay col-umn were called and they announced their vote for Mr. Quay there were demonstrations of great approval on the creat crowd present. Its necessary with economy and good judgment. Under our form of government when the will of the ma-jority has been expressed, we should to strengthen the hands of those whom for the time being we have whom the responsibility for the proper enforcement of our laws is placed. The success of our state administration depends as much its component parts as upon the gregate, and it is a right which the executive can demand and every loyal citizen should accord that in every municipality, in every township and hamlet the same economical conditions shall prevail as are expected in the administration of our state

"The burdens of taxation should be so adjusted as to fall lightly upon those who can ill afford to bear them. and be borne more generously those who have received from state protection and rights that have riven to their vast business interests the success they deserve. Combina-tion in restraint of individual rights should be curbed and a welcome ex-tended to all whose energy and gen-ius will add to the fame of the Empire State, and aid us in upholding our business and commercial supremacy. The care of our wards should be as generous as their necessities may require, never extravagant and never niggardly. To the governor intrusted the execution and to the legislature the law-making power of the commonwealth. The duties are separate and distinct, and can never be combined without serious impair ment in the efficiency of both shall be my object, therefore, to keep strictly within the letter and spirit of the law and to give effect to such acts of the legislature as may seem

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 2.—At noon
Tuesday Aaron T. Bliss, of Saginaw, was inaugurated governor of Michigan on the front steps of the state
'apitol building. The governor arrived from his home in Saginaw on a special train shortly before 12 special train shortly before o'clock. He was escorted by two companies of the national guard and the Saginaw division of the Michigan naval reserves. Gov. Bliss and his staff, escorted by the military, marched to the Capitol building, which was surrounded by an enthus-iastic crowd. Here they were met by ex-Gov. Pingree and the retiring officials. After exchanging greetings in the executive parlor all the officials proceeded to the Capitol steps where the oath of office was adminis-tered to the new governor and the new state officials by Chief Justice Montgomery, of the supreme court.

McMillan's Re-election Assured.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 2.—Senator McMillan, of Detroit, was yesterday nominated by the joint republican nominated by the joint republican caucus of the Forty-first legislature, which will convene to-day in the state Capitol, to succeed himself. Senator McMillan's re-election to his third term in the senate is assured, as the legislature is overwhelmingly appublican. The senator appeared at republican. The senator appeared at the caucus after he had been notified of his nomination and in a brief speech thanked the legislators for the honor. Last evening he tendered them a reception.
