LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Contributions invited. That which you would like to see in this department, let us know by post card, or letter, personally.

Miss Loretta Swayne, of Austin, is guest of Miss Ella Newton.

Mrs. Jos. Kaye went to Williamsport Tuesday morning to visit her mother.

Mr. B. W. Green and Mr. Josiah Howard are in Philadelphia this week on business.

Henry Long and Chas. Groll, of St. Marys, took in the Hamilton dance Monday evening.

Mr. Nate Burlingame, of Olean, visited friends in town last Monday and attended the ball.

Our old, true and esteemed friend E. H. Gregory was a pleasant caller yesterday evening.

R. Seger don't believe he would like a permanent position as night clerk. One night is sufficient.

J. W. Heath, of East Smithfield, Pa., formerly a resident of Buckwalter will read the PRESS during 1901.

Mr. and Mrs. James Norie, of Renovo, have been guests of Mrs. N's parents at this place during the past week.

We regret to learn that A. F. Andrews, (the energetic clerk at J. H. Day's), and family are all laid up with "those pesky colds."

Hon. F. X. Blumle has our thanks for an outlined map of Pennsylvania, giving the population and presidential vote. Many thanks, Frank.

Miss Lucy London and Miss Winifred Powers, of Austin, were in attendance at the Hamilton Hose dance, guests of Miss Golda Lyons.

Hon. L. Taggart has been confined to his residence for several days, quite seriously ill. Mr. Burrows, of Austin, has charge of his store during his illness.

S. L. Price, of Ashland, Pa., was guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Julian and Rev. Metzler over Sunday, at Mr. Julian's new and palatial home on Broad street.

Squire Blodgett, of Grove, while making his returns as judge of election, took time to call on the PRESS. We notice the voters of Grove continue this efficient gentleman in office.

Misses Mary and Susie Rich, of Williamsport, who have been guests of Mrs. J.S. Wiley the past week, leave for their home to-day, providing Grant does not secure a postponement.

Postmaster W. H. Mitchell, of Driftwood, was visiting his Emporium friends Monday evening. Mr. Mitchell in addition to being postmaster at Driftwood, conducts a first-class drug store. He is a wide-awake young merchant.

William Howard, of Williamsport, leaves to-day for Florida, for the benefit of his health. Associate Judge Geo. A. Walker of this place, who has also been in poor health for some time, accompanies him. We hope the trip may be beneficial to both gentlemen. Just as we go to Press we learn that Judge Walker who is now at Williamsport, will be unable to leave his business at this time to make the trip, but may do so at a later date.

Walter Morrison was a PRESS visitor to-day and made the heart of the printer happy. May your shadow never grow less, Walter.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Lamb, of Galeton, who have been visiting their Emporium friends during the past week, guests of Prothonotary Goodnough and wife, returned to their home last Monday, having evidently enjoyed their visit here. Numerous parties and receptions were held in their honor by old friends.

Chief of Police Frank Mundy last week received a letter from his son William, who has been on an ocean cruise as chief steward of steamer South Portland. The ship arrived at San Francisco on the 5th of this month. The young man reports a pleasant voyage and expects to come home in the near future.

Lumbering Conditions About Us.

Mid-winter finds the lumbering conditions in the vicinity of Austin in the worst possible shape. Very few of the sub-jobbers are solvent and a trip to the woods will be productive of seeing dozens of idle men, many of them with orders for their wages in their pockets. They have been unable to obtain their hard earned wages and are chafing about working under the present conditions.

This is practically the condition of affairs with the Messrs. Fee Brothers. Up Crooked Run, there is not a single jobber whose orders have not been refused. The writer recently saw a young man from Center county, Mr. Peter Miller, go home empty handed although he had earned a stake of nearly fifty dollars which he was unable to collect.

Many of Mr. Hart's jobbers have gone up in smoke but in justice to that gentleman it must be said he has in every instance protected the men who did the work. We have yet to hear of a single man being beaten out of his pay on any of Mr. Hart's work although we have heard of that gentleman going down in his own pocket and liquidating debts he knew there was no possible chance of ever being repaid to him.

Salt Run appears more favored than other localities. Will Reese is working a small crew of men and they are as sure of their pay as if they were employees of Uncle Sam. Ed. Haughney also is doing good work and like Mr. Reese is making some money. There may be others on "easy street" in this territory but we wouldn't want them to owe us over a thousand dollars at any one time.

Crooked Run has surely been rightly named, for some of the deals that have come to the writer's notice have the earmarks of not being exactly straight. Jobbers have beaten their men, at least the men cannot get their pay—but these same jobbers can go to the store and buy all the groceries, clothing, etc., they desire without a word of question. In some instances the men have been informed that they could "trade out their wages if they so desired." Probably a rigid enforcement of the law against "company stores" would not be amiss just now over in the woods.

In speaking of Crooked Run, there is one exception to the general rule in that locality. That is the work being done on Hart's job by Mr. Walter B. Moore of Port Allegany. Mr. Moore's finances are such that he could do a dozen such jobs and scarcely realize their drainage of his bank account. Besides, Mr. Moore is making money. This simple fact speaks volumes for his executive ability as a woodsman, and his popularity with the hicks speaks louder still for the straightforward and manly principles he is noted for.

Mr. Moore has no "pay days." When a man earns his money it is due him, without any question or cavil, and that gentleman's name on a check is the most popular paper obtainable at present up Crooked Run. While not speaking authoritatively, The Republican has heard said repeatedly that neither Mr. Geo. F. Hart or Al. Baldwin will accept any work the coming season. The withdrawal of these gentlemen from lumbering will mean the immigration of the better class of woodsmen from this vicinity.—Austin Republican.

Those early Spring suitings have arrived at R. Seger & Company's tailoring establishment. Some very fine bargains.

From the Bellefonte News we learn that the M. E. Church of that place have passed resolutions highly commendatory of Rev. W. P. Shriner and request his appointment to that city for another year.

The Galveston News gives a resume of the damage done by the terrible storm last September, giving the property loss at $17,058,275. Number of homes destroyed was 4,131. Since the storm $2,258,600 has been expended in building. In each district, which was swept clean by the storm, more than 1,000 houses have been built. The total relief received by Galveston, including money and supplies, was $1,549,000. Galveston's retail trade since the storm has been better than before the storm. The wholesale houses suffered very heavy losses, but are ready for 1901 business. Galveston rises from the wreck and ruin of the storm and flood with a determination to live, and in a few years the frightful calamity will be no more than a bitter memory.

The Theatians of State College, a literary and dramatic club, will give their popular performance at the Opera House Saturday night.

An exchange says: "The law provides that school directors, by one or more of their number, shall visit every school in the district at least once each month, and shall cause the results of each visit to be entered on the minutes."

The Goodyears are preparing to test a great contrivance at their Potter county lumber operations. It is a machine to cut down trees, peel bark and cut logs. It is owned by the New York syndicate and when fastened to a tree will peel it from the ground to the limbs, then cut down the tree and saw it into logs. It is operated by an easily movable power, and, owing to the closeness to the ground which it cuts a tree, effects a great saving in lumber.—Bradford Star.

A writer in the Jamestown Journal says Asa Carr's people of Russell have been troubled for a long time with honey bees coming into their house and lately they became so numerous that Mr. Carr concluded to investigate and find their home. He removed several of the weather boards on the side of the house where he found an immense lot of honey. We understand that when it was all removed it weighed 120 pounds. Surely it was a sweet find.

An exchange is moved to remark: Among the most enterprising people in every community are the merchants and shopkeepers. They are always ready to help every public enterprise to the extent of their ability. When they have money they invest it. Now, in order to encourage enterprise and start in the new century right, let every citizen arrange to pay all his old bills. Economize a little if necessary; even borrow a little, if forced to do so, but by all means pay the bills that you owe and lay the foundation for better times.

Two young people of Jersey City, desiring to marry and not having enough money, have entered into an agreement, which was duly drawn up before a Justice of the Peace, to contribute weekly to the raising of a fund of $1500. If in two years the sum shall not have been completed the idea of marriage is to be forever abandoned. It is provided that the woman is to contribute $10 a week and the man only $5. This is not because his incidental expenses will be greater than those of the woman during the two years, but because he is making only $10 a week, while she makes $14.

The new game bill now before the Legislature does not change the open season in any particular, but cuts down the number of pheasants, wild turkeys and deer that may be taken any one day or season by a single hunter. No person shall kill in a single day more than five pheasants, nor kill more than two turkeys or one deer in one season.

Rabbits may be killed from the 15th of October to the 15th of December, and you may kill them any other time when known to be destroying fruit trees or vegetables on your premises. The law continues to prohibit selling of pheasants, woodcock or quail, or shipment of same out of the State. The reduction in the number of pheasants that may be taken in any one day to five is a great improvement on the old law, and will have a tendency to stop the work of the game hog.—Ex.

The Punxsutawney Spirit treating on human frailties says: People who have small intellects like noise. Intellectual people who have thoughts to think, and enjoy thinking them, detest noise. Children and people who are almost purely animal, enjoy hubbub and turmoil. A healthy imbecile likes to rattle a chain, pound with a stick, or do anything to make a noise. Give him a horn to blow, a drum to beat or a bell to ring and he will grin like a wood fox. Bright little children will do the same. What Josh Billings terms an "ordinary dampfool," will whistle or sing, or beat the devil's tattoo with his fingers to keep his meagre intellect busy. Wealthy people who have no particular brains to speak of and nothing to do, put on claw hammer coats and low necked dresses and go to balls, where they act like savages at a snake dance to the music of an orchestra. They call themselves "society." Society people are any sort of people who can amuse themselves with frivolities. What is known as "high society" may be distinguished from ordinary society by the fact that its members drink champagne instead of beer. That is the purely animal idea of pleasure.

Letter to Fred Julian.
Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: Is a gallon of paint a gallon of paint, or half-a-gallon? Sometimes one, sometimes the other. E. P. Lynch, and his predecessor, Delhi, N. Y., sold a well-known mixed paint for twenty years—it's a good paint, as mixed paints go.

N. Avery owns two houses exactly alike there. He painted one four years ago with this mixed paint—took 12 gallons. Last spring, he painted the other house with Devoe; bought 12 gallons and had six gallons left. Same painter: George Gilbert. Same result, so far as looks go.

But the point of this tale is: 1st: That a paint is dear or cheap according to what it is; no matter about the price. 2nd: That a gallon of one kind of paint can contain twice as much paint as a gallon of another kind of paint.

Devoe goes twice as far as Mixed Paint—two to one—but that isn't all. This story, however, skips the rest—how it wears is the rest.

Another, same town—Ferguson & Thompson's store was painted some years ago with this same Mixed Paint—32 gallons. Repainted last spring with Devoe. Mr. Lynch said 16 gallons would be enough. They have 3 gallons left.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & Co.
