BRIEF MENTION.

The P. & E. R. R. have commenced work double-tracking the road from Emporium to Cameron.

Frank Shives has repainted and otherwise improved the interior of his meat market and store.

W. G. Bair has completely remodeled and improved the interior of his photo gallery, making a very marked improvement.

The Farmers' Institute was quite well attended and a marked interest manifested by the farmers and especially by the farmers wives.

You must bear in mind that the latest styles in collars and cuffs and other furnishings will always be found here as soon as they make their appearance on the market. BEDARD, THE TAILOR.

The Thespians, composed of State College boys, appeared at the opera house last Saturday evening, to a good audience. It was a very clever entertainment and was well received. The fire department netted about $30.

Augustus F. Nelson, one of R. Seger & Company's most reliable and energetic tailors, has returned from a profitable visit to their numerous customers and as a result that establishment is running to its full capacity.

Russell & Niver, who have been drilling a well for Pardee & Co., on Ingler Run, the right hand branch of Sterling Run, have commenced drilling again and expect to go to the depth of 3,000 feet.

Governor Stone has signed the death warrant for the execution of Daniel Kehoe, alias Frank Major, convicted of murdering Chief of Police McGrath, of Titusville. The date set for execution is Tuesday, April 16.

The Conellsville News says that the compulsory education law is a dead letter in all country districts, and that to give it efficacy the Legislature must do something to enforce it.

If the Morgan syndicate combines all of the iron and steel industries and the hard and soft coal industries and controls all of the railroads in the country, into one colossal trust, there will be nothing left for the people but to trust in God.—Punx's Spirit.

Hon. J. C. Sibley was one of the speakers at the annual dinner of the American Protective League, given at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, last Saturday night, and responded to the toast, "A Democrat Who Flopped."

One of the recent railroad rumors says an exchange, is to the effect that the Goodyears will extend their road from Keating Summit to connect with the Pittsburg, Shawmut & Northern railroad at a point near Clermont.—Austin Autograph.

Senator Focht, of Union county, has introduced a new ballot law, representing Stalwart Republicanism, and, of course, every Insurgent has commenced to howl. Well, let them howl, that's all the good it will do them, until they get it where the chicken did the hatchet.

Col. Hulings has sent regimental order No. 3 to Company C, which states that Company C will leave here on March 2, to attend the inauguration at Washington. They will go to Emporium, where they will meet the regimental train. Not more than 50 enlisted men, exclusive of musicians, will be taken.—Bradford Star.

This description of Carrie Nation comes from Topeka: "It is hard to accept her as the 'motherly old soul' she is said to be, or, to find in her the characteristics of godliness. She is fat, noisy and impertinent. She hasn't the first conception of good manners or politeness. She will snatch a cigar out of a man's mouth and go to roaring in the middle of the street about her own part to work out the vengeance of the Lord. She has no discrimination, and she is coarse and talky to the utmost degree."

The Harrisburg Telegraph thinks that the "Legislature of Pennsylvania can do no better service this session to the people of the State than to adopt the measures proposed by the road commission, which have been prepared with great care by the board, all of whom are most capable and intelligent citizens, after a thorough examination of all the laws bearing upon the subject."

Thomas Harrington's Interesting Letter From Luzon.

We have read the very interesting letter from Thos. Harrington, in last week's Coudersport Enterprise, and only regret we have not the room to reproduce the entire communication. However, we will quote that portion relative to the country:

GEN. YOUNG'S NORTHERN EXPEDITION, TABOC, a Little Ingorrote Barrio, in the Foothills, Seven Miles South of Bangued, Province of Abra, Luzon, P. I., New Year's Day, 1901.

OLD FRIEND:—This welcome New Year's Day is the sixty-first day of our marching and scouting through the mountains of North Luzon. Our expedition has been a most trying one to men and beasts of burden, but we who survive are cheered with the official assurance that our work has been recognized at headquarters as having been well done. And this is sufficient reward for any true soldier—especially an American. Our two month's work, I am glad to tell you, has effectually quenched the last life-sparks of insurrection in Gen. Young's territory. We have lost men, horses and mules, but comparatively our casualties have been light. To-day, for the first time in many weeks, we are resting and listening to circumstantial and incoherent stories from all soldiers, regarding the recall home of volunteers. We listen with no small pleasure to the report just reaching camp, that in fifteen days we will march to the coast near Vigan or San Esteban to take transport to Manila, preparatory to going home. On October 31st, when we started on this expedition, many of us were fairly fat. This lovely New Year's morning, 3,400 feet above sea level, finds us a regiment of living (and fever-consumed) skeletons. The men who sixty-one days ago averaged 170 pounds in weight, will not this morning round up at 130 each. I, the only G. A. R. man in the regiment, sacrificed less than did many of the young fellows. I started out at 143. I am 127 to-day. But with our flesh—which was rather flabby, anyhow, as all Philippine-grown meat and muscle are—we leave in the wide provinces of Ilocos Sur, Ilocos Norte, Abra and Cagaya, a believed-in impression among the native tribes of the God-guided good through their new protector under Old Glory, that is in store for all who would hereafter forever live in the full enjoyment of the peace, security and prosperity, which would be theirs under no other flag on earth. The most isolated tribes of mountain men we have found have shown extraordinary aptitude in their appreciation of the proper meaning of Americanism. These Northern Luzon tribes are probably the most intelligent semi-savages yet found in any part of the world. They have no religion that we can discover—not even sun or fire worship. But they bury their dead much after a Christian fashion. They are a home-loving, affectionate, hospitable and care tenderly for the sick and old. The women do the heavy labor work. The men smoke and hunt, but are not so much addicted to gambling as are the lowland or coast tribes. They treated us to most interesting peace dances in many villages in which we camped. Their dancing and music were almost exact reproductions of the dances, as I remember them, of the Mochi and Zuni Indians of New Mexico and Arizona. And the hand-loom on which they weave beautiful cloth (though they wear but shreds of it) are precise counterparts of the looms on which the Navajo Indians weave their world-famed blankets. The cotton of which the Ingorrotos make their cloth grows wild in the mountains here. It is fine, silky and more durable than cultivated cotton. On our expedition the fact has been solidly established that these Northern Luzon mountains are rich in gold and other precious minerals. But it will be two, three, perhaps five years before mining operations will be opened largely and safely in the Philippines. And with the immense virgin timber tracts at hand in every province, the inexhaustible convenient water on every side, the delightful climate of these high altitudes, the every-day-in-the-year working time, the easy transportation and the cheap, abundant food, will it not be the prospector's, the miner's paradise? Then, ah! crooked-headed, cold-footed, crawling "Anti-Imperialist," on what many string will you strike the discord accompaniment to your doleful lay?

Sincerely, seriously, old friend, no honest man on earth could see this country as I have seen it, and speak otherwise than enthusiastic of its glorious future! And let me assure you on the judgment of a clear eye and a clean hear that it will not be long until an American standing army may be dispensed with here. Under the eye of heaven and American policy of up-building and guarding instead of tearing down and destroying, may soon place with perfect safety to all and everything concerned, the full care of themselves and this American territory in the hands of the Filipino people. Ever-senseless "Imperialism" will soon, too, be dead and forgotten, thank God, and all political parties will again be American for America's common good.

A Young Man of Promise.

The many Cameron county friends of Rev. Richard S. Oylor, who married Miss Phoenix, of Cameron, will be pleased to learn of his marked success as a pastor. A communication from Tivoli, where he is now located, to the Pennsylvania Methodist says: "As the Methodist is taken by a large number of Methodists of our state we deem it advisable to give an account of the progress of Methodism in the little town of Tivoli. The enterprise of building a church here is an accomplished fact. On Sabbath, January 20, the handsome frame structure was consecrated to God. Rev. Dr. E. J. Gray, president of Dickinson seminary, preached finely in the morning and gave an excellent talk in the evening to a large, appreciative and attentive congregation after the full amount of indebtedness, $275, was promptly raised.

"This community is not blessed with a vast amount of wealth, but the congregation responded valiantly to the call of obliterating every cent of indebtedness on the church, after which it was impressively dedicated by Dr. Gray and the pastor, Rev. R. S. Oylor, preacher in charge of this circuit. This is the second year in charge of this circuit for Mr. Oylor, and we think the second year of his ministry. He is a graduate of Williamsport Dickinson seminary, under tutelage of Dr. Gray, and a young man of fine promise. He has worked assiduously in the erection of this temple of God, and it is largely owing to his persistent and protracted effort that the church is built. He preaches gospel truths from the pulpit and is now carrying on a successful revival."

Letter to Jos. Lechner.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: You know all about shoes. How many customers have you who know anything about 'em?

You have bought and sold shoes for years, and have learned what you know by your customers' liking one sort, and not liking another. They find out by wearing 'em.

So with paint; but we go deeper. We are 145 years old in the business; and we make, not buy—we make a good deal of paint.

We paint a good share of the railroad and steamer property in the United States, and may as well paint the private property. Yours as well as anybody else's.

Devoe lead and zinc is your paint. Costs half as much as lead and oil, because it wears twice as long.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & Co.
