Only the purest drugs are good for sick people. They can't afford to experiment. You may safely trust your prescriptions with us. We make a specialty of this work and are proud of the success we have achieved.

R. C. DODSON. LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

PERSONAL GOSSIP. Contributions invited. That which you would like to see in this department let us know by post a card, or letter, personally.

Jas. Davison, visited in Emporium Sunday. Miss Delia Clare, of Cameron, was in town on Tuesday. Frank Hoag, of Sterling Run, was in town last Saturday.

V. A. Brooks, of Sinnamahoning, was in town to-day, after a long illness with gripe. E. G. Coleman, the very pleasant Secretary of the Climax Powder Company, of this place, was a Press visitor on Wednesday. Delos Burlingame came over from Austin yesterday to visit friends at Sizerville and is to-day calling on his Emporium acquaintances.

BRIEF MENTION.

Chas. Rishell has re-shingled his residence. Next Monday the new trains commence running. The Kane Odd Fellows are contracting for a building of their own. Mrs. Louise E. Strum has been appointed postmistress at Gardeau.

It is reported that Gov. Stone will appoint Dr. Reed, of Dickinson College, State superintendent of public instruction, when Dr. Schaeffer's term expires, April 14th. On March 9th Mrs. David Hamilton, of Fourth street, received the sad intelligence of the death of her granddaughter, Miss Orpha V. Horner, of Glade Run, Pa.

The Odd Fellows of this section were pained to hear of the death of James B. Nicholson, the veteran Grand Secretary of the order of this State, in his 81st year. Mr. Nicholson visited Emporium many times. The Shippen township auditors, Messrs. C. R. Kline, H. J. Newton and Thos. Waddington, are having their annual tussle with the finances of the township. Shippen will soon be free of debt.

Martin Radigan was arrested Tuesday for attempting to force an entrance into the residence of Mrs. A. C. Pennington, who resides in the Bosworth row, breaking a window and doing other damages. He was held in $200 bail for his appearance at court. Ridgway will hereafter have sixty street lights instead of thirty as heretofore. The Ridgway Light and Heat Company furnishes the gas for all the lights free and pays for the lighting and maintenance of forty of the lights.

William Howard was born in Yorkshire, England, on August 13, 1831. He received his education in England, and learned the stone masons' trade. In 1854 he came to the United States, located at Reading, Pa., and worked a short time for the Lebanon Valley Railroad company in building a bridge near the city of Reading.

He came to Williamsport in August, 1854, and worked on the dam on the Susquehanna in this city. He next found employment with the Water Mill company for a few years, and in 1857 he went into the lumber woods and engaged in that business. Some time later he organized the firm of C. B. & W. Howard, and then engaged in the lumber business as log stockers. In 1863 he purchased land in Cameron county and operated there until 1887.

In 1886 Mr. Howard went into partnership with John R. Cooke & Co., purchased the saw mill now operated by Howard & Perley, and engaged in the manufacture of lumber. He was later a member of the firm of Slonaker, Howard & Co., which was merged into that of Howard, Perley & Perley, and finally became Howard & Perley.

Mr. Howard was one of the pioneer lumbermen of Williamsport, and had been prominent in the lumber interests of this section of the State for many years, dividing his time between Williamsport and Cameron county. He was a staunch Democrat, and while living in Emporium, was Burgess of that borough for two terms, and served two terms as county commissioner of Cameron county. He was also a member of the borough council of Emporium for several years, and has served two years in the common council of Williamsport.

Mr. Howard was one of the organizers and is a stockholder and director in the First National Bank of Emporium, and was one of the organizers of the Emporium Water company, and was a director in that institution.

He was a stockholder and director in the Locomotive Rubber company, of which he was one of the organizers. He was active in securing the Demorest sewing machine works to Williamsport, and gave liberally of his means in furtherance of that project. He was a stockholder in the West Branch National Bank of this city, a member of the Merchants' association, Board of Trade and Ross club. He organized and was president of the William Howard Land and Lumber company, operating in Idaho. He was a stockholder in the Central Pennsylvania Telephone company and president of the Williamsport Furniture company. He was also president of the Williamsport Wood Working company.

Mr. Howard was first married December 28, 1853, to Mary Woodhead, a native of England, and has one son Samuel T., who is employed with the firm of Howard & Perley. He and his wife were members of Trinity Episcopal Church, and he was a vestryman in that organization. After the death of Mrs. Howard, he married Mrs. Amanda Crane, of Emporium, who survives him, and who was with him when he died.

Mr. Howard was a thirty-second degree Mason and was prominently identified with all the Masonic bodies. He was a member of the Blue lodge at Emporium, of Lycoming chapter, No. 22, R. A. M., of this city; of Baldwin II commandry, No. 22, Knights Templar, also of this city, and of Williamsport consistory. He received the Scottish Rite degrees at Bloomsburg and became one of the charter members of the new consistory when organized here recently. He was elected its treasurer and was such at the time of his death.

He was an enthusiastic Scottish Rite Mason and only recently purchased the Piper property, adjoining the Masonic temple, for the consistory, and perfected plans to build the cathedral upon it for that body. He was a member of the Temple club, the name of which has only recently been changed to the William Howard Temple club in his honor. The Piper residence is his gift to the club as a club house and permanent home.

Local Institute. A local institute will be held in the High School room, in Emporium, on Saturday, March 23d, 1901. The sessions will open at 10 o'clock a. m., and 1:30 o'clock p. m. All friends of education are cordially invited to attend the sessions.

The following questions will be discussed: (a) "Primary Reading;" (b) "Geography;" (c) "Literature in the pupils' Life;" (d) "Relation of Teacher and Parent;" (e) "Waste of Time in Public School Work;" (f) "The Teacher's Duty Toward the Backward Pupil;" (g) "History Teaching;" (h) "The Teacher's Authority and Influence;" (i) "Literary Teaching;" (j) "School Visitation."

Try it in Cameron County. A Wellsboro man named Putnam has received two car loads of white goats that will be turned out in the woods, in the vicinity of Pine Creek, where the land has been denuded of timber. The white goats, or New Mexican goats as they are called, have a heavy fur, their hides make good leather, and their meat is excellent and healthy food. Why not try this plan on the stripped lands of Cameron county?

Praise for 37th Regiment. The following article was clipped from a Manila, (P. I.), paper, in which General McArthur speaks in the highest praise of the services of the 37th regiment, to which several of our Cameron county boys belonged: The 37th U. S. Infantry was received by General McArthur yesterday, Jan. 7th at 5 p. m., and in a short address was thanked for its splendid service in the various campaigns it has gone through.

Luneta and bay, were the scene of the parade, with the city of tents as background for the long line of troops. The reviewing party took its stand almost beneath the drooping fringe of bamboo which line the street, behind it stood thousands of interested spectators, drawn thither, by some personal interest in the regiment, others by a martial glitter of a military function. Though its experience has been entirely in the field service, the 37th has not forgotten how to conduct itself on the parade ground and marched into position in splendid shape. All through the review its movements showed a precision which called forth much favorable comment from the army officers who made up a large percentage of the spectators.

General McArthur was accompanied by Brigadier General Barry, Chief of Staff; Colonel Woodruff, Capt. Kernan, Lieut. Harris, Lieut. Kenby, and Lieut. Craig. With Colonel Cheatham, commanding the 37th, was his personal staff, consisting of acting Adjutant, Lieut. Young; Captain Erickson, Lieut. Clark and Asst. Surgeon Capt. Sines. After the regiment had passed in review, battalions were formed about three sides of a street column in which were grouped, Colonel Cheatham, his staff and general officers, to listen to an address by General McArthur. The General spoke of their splendid services, of the hardships they had endured in the cause of their country and of the spirit they had shown in going through it all without a murmur. He assured them that their conduct was appreciated. The robust manhood of which they were such fine specimens was the foundation of our race.

The public certainly ought to appreciate such of its sons, and doubtless would show that it did, when the regiment reached the United States. I hope that when you reach home you will make records as citizens and men equal to those you have made as soldiers. God bless you, comrades, for your faithful services. The address was replied to, briefly, by Colonel Cheatham, though the effects of the speech was deeper than words could express.

Cards of Thanks. EDITOR PRESS:—To our friends who so kindly remembered us and our children when they were afflicted with scarlet fever, we extend our thanks for their many kind acts. Especially do we desire to thank Dr. A. W. Baker, Rev. Robertson, Mrs. B. W. Green, Mrs. A. Chapman and grandpa Beattie. MR. AND MRS. ED. MORSE.

EDITOR PRESS:—We wish to return our thanks to our kind friends and neighbors for their many assistances and kindness shown us during the illness and death of our beloved daughter FREDA. MR. AND MRS. JOHN METZGER.

True Sayings. When your struggling neighbor strikes the toboggan slide, sprinkle it with sand instead of oil. As one of our exchanges says, if the ground hog will call it off, all will be forgiven. Envy obstructs man's own course in life; to succeed in this world you must concede to your fellow-man the same right as you claim yourself.

Some men say that a woman in calico looks as fair and inviting as a woman in satin or silk, but the women don't believe it. They know very well that fine feathers greatly become fine birds. —Youngstown Vindicator.

If the victims of false accusations and their accusers were brought face to face and the command given, "He that is without sin, let him cast the first stone," there would be but few stones change location. The four corner stones on which to build man's fortune and to establish a reputation that will stand proof against worldly tests are sobriety, honesty, sincerity and charity.

Boorish. De Vere—That's Miss Winter. Lovely girl, but awfully boorish. Pomsonby—How do you know? De Vere—I proposed to her the other day, and she said that, though she liked dogs, she didn't care for puppies.—Pick-Me-Up.

Temperate. Grimsby—So you want to marry my daughter, sir! What are your principles? Are you temperate? Fledgely—Temperate! Why, I am so strict that it gives me pain even to find my boots tight.—Pick-Me-Up.

Close Resemblance. Contractor—You won't sell me a car-load of bricks or credit? Dealer—No. Me and my brick are very much alike. We're hard pressed for cash.—Philadelphia Record.

Letter From Alaska. Editor Press:—DEAR SIR:—I inclose a small slip showing what Klondyke weather was for Jan. 1900 and 1901, [the lowest 68° below zero and the highest 2° below zero.] It may be interesting to your readers to know that we have a cold snap here occasionally; and we have experienced some much colder weather than given in that report, having been 78° below zero.

This cold climate, however, agrees with me very much; I like it. One must take the best of care of himself. My partner and I went on a stampede the other night, walking 17 hours, with the temperature 66° below zero. On account of the depth to which the earth freezes the search for gold is very difficult. My partner and I have been working on two shafts about three months, and are only down 45 feet in one and 50 feet in the other. We have had encouraging results thus far but cannot tell yet just how bad rock will show up. If the digging was like the earth in the States this would be a great country.

I met Isaac Mallet's brother yesterday and he reports Isaac as doing well and said Messrs. Butler, Ed. Dion and son Ludger, and Jarvis were in good health. I also saw Harry Jewell and Ed. Powell the other day, and they were both looking well. Mr. Powell is quite fleshy and looks better than he did before leaving Emporium. Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I am Yours respectfully, H. C. KAYE. Dawson City, Alaska, Feb. 9, 1901.

The Appeal of the Horse. The following beautiful appeal of the noble animal, the horse, has been handed us for publication by a well known lady, who has taken an active interest in the care and protection of the animal: "Please dip the bridle bit in water in winter weather before putting it in my mouth. If you doubt the necessity of this, put your tongue on a frosty nail. "Use castor oil on the wagon in winter. Axle grease stiffens in cold weather and makes pulling harder. "If you must check me at all, uncheck me while standing, and blanket me in cold weather. "Do not speak harshly to me; I can do my work better under gentle treatment. "Remember, I get tired—just like yourself. Brace me up with a lunch at noon and give me a good bed to sleep on at night. "Sharpen my shoes in icy weather. "When you tie me in a draft turn my head from the wind."
