CURRENT TOPICS.

Gold has been discovered in Norway. Aguinaldo is five feet four inches in height.

The age of Aguinaldo is uncertain. He does not know it himself.

A human hand can be dipped in lead at white heat without danger.

Eye-glasses are made from Brazilian pebble, which is a very transparent rock crystal.

The dikes of Japan, cost in the aggregate, more money than those of the Netherlands.

The output of the Beaumont (Tex.) oil field, it is believed, will soon be an important factor in the market.

On some of the Japanese railways terra cotta sleepers are used. They are far more durable than those of wood.

Lately two large firms in Constantinople have for the first time received extensive shipments of American shoes.

There are 150 square miles of streets in London. Each square mile averages 120 streets and each street 100 houses.

The crop report for March shows the condition of wheat throughout the country to be better than at any time since 1891.

The queen of Greece is the only woman admiral, the honor having been conferred upon her by the late Czar Alexander III.

In a state of nature, tea trees grow to a height of forty feet; in cultivation they are dwarfed by pruning to not more than three feet.

It has been practically settled that Alabama will be represented at the Buffalo exposition. The legislature will appropriate at least $5,000.

There is a well at Carisbrooke Castle, Isle of Wight, in which the water stands 170 feet below ground level. Yet drop a pin into it and you will distinctly hear it strike the water.

There are at a low estimate 10,000,000 human beings who are in servitude in the Celestial Kingdom. China has 80,000,000 families, and this makes one slave to every eight families.

Lake Morat, in Switzerland, has the curious property of turning red every ten years, owing to the presence of certain aquatic plants which are not known in any other lake in the world.

Of the 6,753 Finns who came to this country, only seventeen were sent back; only sixty-two were unable to read and write and only fourteen were said to be likely to become public charges.

Lord Salisbury, addressing the English chamber of commerce, advised all youth who were to enter the pursuits of commerce to know French, German and Spanish before Greek or Latin.

About the villa Friedrichshof, where the Empress Frederick lies dying, the beautiful gardens are full of nightingales, 500 of the birds having been loosed there by the late duke of Nassau.

Miss Jennie Benedict is the first woman to be elected a member of the Louisville board of trade. Miss Benedict is a confectioner, and was quick to see the advantages afforded by this business institution.

William Gwin, the colored messenger who has served thirteen secretaries of state during the last thirty years, carries a gold watch inscribed: "From William M. Fvarts to William Gwin, February, 1893."

Bees are known to be excellent weather prophets. There is a common country saying that "a bee was never caught in a shower." When rain is coming bees do not go far afield, but buzz about close to their hives.

William Davenport Adams, the English literary and theatrical critic, is also the author of dictionaries of English literature and the English drama. Among his other works are a book on theatrical burlesque and several works of essays.

William Abraham, member of parliament from Pontre, Pontyfridd, Wales, began his career as a working miner. Later he was a miners' agent and president of the South Wales miners' federation. He is called "Mallion" in his home district.

An elaborate organ is now being built in London for Yorkminster. By an ingenious arrangement the wind for the instrument will be supplied by means of power obtained by a fall of water from one of the towers of the cathedral, the water being pumped up the tower by a gas engine.

DOWNFALL OF AGUINALDO.

Anti-Imperialists Have Lost the Ideal at Whose Shrine They Worshiped.

It would be interesting to know the present sentiments of those who have worshiped at the shrine of Aguinaldo. That patriot has gone into liquidation, closed the doors of his patriot shop, and retired from the patriot business either permanently or temporarily. It is impossible to say just what he will do next.

It would be difficult to conceive of Washington taking the oath of allegiance to the king of England had a band of red coats descended upon and captured him at Valley Forge. Koscisko fell desperately wounded, but he neither took the oath of allegiance nor submitted to the will of the oppressor. He even refused favors and position, retiring into exile.

Doubleless his worshipers would not have had him do this, but he has shown more sense than they. There may have been some excuse for him at one time if he really did believe American rule in the Philippines would follow along lines laid down through the centuries by Spanish precedent. He

AN EMPIRE NOT FEARED.

"Higher Learning" That Does Not Lift a Biased Mind from the Pit of Error.

Evidently there are different kinds of "higher learning." A week or two ago President Hadley, of Yale, was kind enough to come forward and quietly warn the people that the United States is destined to become an empire, and that there will be an emperor in Washington within a quarter of a century. Some supposed that a man with such a gigantic intellect as his could make no mistake, and yet President Draper, of the University of Illinois, another man who is most gifted in "higher learning," now assures us that what Hadley said is all nonsense, and that there is absolutely no danger of the republic becoming an empire.

THE BEST HE EVER SAW.

A Missourian, Pronounces on the Farming Possibilities of Western Canada.

Just at present considerable interest is being aroused in the fact that a few new districts (of limited acreage) are being opened up by the Canadian Government in Saskatchewan and Assiniboia (Western Canada), and any information concerning this country is eagerly sought.

"I found surprising yields of grain of all descriptions. One farmer I visited threshed of 175 acres:

4000 bushels of wheat from 15 acres, 400 bushels of barley from 10 acres, 60 bushels to acre.

"The samples were all No. 1. I also saw a considerable number of stock. Swine do well and there is a good source of income to the farmer.

The cattle on the range beat anything I ever saw. Fat and ready for beef, fully matured and ripened on the nutritious grasses of the prairie. I am firmly convinced that this country offers better facilities for a poor man than any I have ever seen."

Information concerning these lands can be had from any agent of the government, whose advertisement appears elsewhere.

HER BABY BOY.

The One Suggestion That Struck the Boer Woman's Heart and She Showed It.

At a prosperous Boer farmhouse where Gen. Ian Hamilton requested shelter for the night, a bedroom and parlor were placed at his disposal, says the Youth's Companion.

He spoke through an interpreter, and her answers were given with so little grace that he relinquished the task. Only once had her stern face lighted; this was when he asked about her youngest fighting son, a boy of 13. Her lips quivered; emotion was not really frozen within her.

Next day the general had occasion to ride past the farm, and he called, for a moment, upon her.

"Tell her," said he to the interpreter, "that we have won the battle to-day."

They told her, and she bowed her head with some dignity.

"No answer. "Perhaps her sons will be taken prisoners. "Still no reply.

"Now, tell her to write down on a piece of paper the name of the youngest, and give it to my aide-de-camp. Then, when he is captured, she must write to me, and we will not keep him a prisoner. We will send him back to her.

At last her face broke into emotion. The chord had been struck.

Children Should Be Taught Thrift.

A savings bank account is a great incentive to thrift in children. If one is begun for the baby, even with a very small sum, and added to through childhood and youth with a certain proportion of the money that otherwise would be spent carelessly and thoughtlessly by the child, there will be a very respectable amount on the credit side of the ledger when the depositor is 18 years old.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your grocer to-day to show you a package of Grain-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate coffee gives it without distress, and the price of coffee. 15c. and 25c. per package. Sold by all grocers.

"Here, young fellow, I'll give you a nickel if you'll go in and tell your sister 'I'm here waiting for her.' 'And what'll you give me if I won't tell dad?'—Heitere Welt.

Extra Inducement.

The Merchants' Review tells this story of a drummer for an Ithaca grocery house: The grocer recently sent out an energetic young man to canvass for new customers. He worked hard for the interests of his employer, and also some what wearied the good housewives whom he called upon. At one house he used up his whole line of argument and gasped for more, as the lady of the house still said she was perfectly satisfied with her regular grocer. Then a happy thought struck him, and he said: "Mrs. Jones, I wouldn't for the world say anything against the grocer you patronize, but let me ask you if you think he cares anything for you except your money? Do you think he intends to plant roses on your grave? Now, you just trade with my firm, and I guarantee they will give you entire satisfaction."

Best for All Concerned.

Comedy—I noticed you in the audience last night. What did you think of my part? Critic—It suited you. "What did you think was the best thing I got off?" "The stage."—Philadelphia Press.

Hardened to It.

"It is said of Stumper, the politician, who was once confined to a desert island, that he never finished when the cannibals put him in the fire."

A Poor Exhibition.

Stranger—The citizens must have felt very bad when they discovered they had lynched the wrong man. Native—Terrible. Why, the man we strung up couldn't put up half the fight the real cuss could.—Chicago Daily News.

Somewhat Different.

Judge—Did I understand you to say that you consider the character of the defendant unimpeachable? Witness—No, your honor. I said I considered it unbleachable.—Chicago Daily News.

THE LAST OF THE BELLIGERENTS.

AGUINALDO—Come, fellows; take the oath and the war will be over.

had little personal knowledge of the American character. His followers here were better informed. He had been educated in deceit, schooled in corruption, believing both to be the rule of the world over. The American worshipers of the Malay hero knew the people of this country could never become the oppressors of a weaker nation, and if any administration should attempt to play that role there would be a lively session ending in a new administration. Having once sold out to Spain at a good figure he may have been ambitious to repeat the experience.

But whatever considerations influenced him and decided his course in the beginning he now knows he was mistaken. He can look around and see the results of American direction of insular affairs during a time of general disturbance, and he is satisfied. A gleam of common sense has illumined his mental vision. It is not at all probable he ever hoped to make as much progress towards substantial freedom under his own rule in a decade as the authorities now in possession have made in the short time they have controlled the affairs of the islands. By taking the oath he has practically acknowledged that he has changed his opinion.

At the same time his acceptance of the existing government after conferring with those who had been out of the woods and swamps for some little time, during which they had become acquainted with the real state of affairs, must cause his worshipers in this country deep sorrow. They have believed in him and slandered their own country because of that belief. He now informs them, in effect, that he was in error and that they, who could have known all of the facts, were willfully blind. He is willing to accept the situation as he finds it now, while the echoes of their treasonable railings have not yet died away. He has become an American citizen, voluntarily stepping down from the pedestal to which he was elevated aforesaid by his sentimental admirers. He will probably engage in business of some kind and leave them to hunt for some other hero upon whom they may lavish their poetical eloquent affections.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Aguinaldo's forthcoming manifesto calling an end to the war and urging the insurgents to lay down their arms will probably be denounced by Boston anti-imperialists as a base abandonment of principle.—Indianapolis Journal.

It is reasonably safe to guess that the name of Grover Cleveland is not on the Commoner's subscription list.—Albany Journal.

they are now higher than in any other land on the globe. Are we to look askance at the men who have been the leaders in this great fight and say, as has been said by one of our great college presidents, that they are going to turn this government into an empire? Draper asks how these men could overthrow the government, even if they desired to, which he very much doubts, when they are dependent on the thousands of honest American workmen they employ. "The people know their own political power very well and they expect to use it." Draper's "higher learning" is plainly of a higher order than Hadley's.—Iowa State Register.

PRESS OPINIONS.

In view of the latest development in the case of Aguinaldo, Mr. Bryan's order for an article from the pen of the ex-insurgent leader is likely to be in vain, or, if it is filled, the article will be found to be unavailable for the columns of the Commoner.—Albany Journal.

When the silverite legislature of Colorado passes a bill reducing the rate of interest on state warrants from six to four per cent, it is evident that the members have discovered that under the gold standard the price of money has fallen off 33-1/3 per cent.—Indianapolis Journal.

It must be exceedingly irritating to the disappointed and disgruntled foes of the administration to find the situation clearing in the Philippines. When a man has despaired of his country he doesn't like to find that he was in the wrong. It isn't human for even the most pessimistic to be reconciled to the fact that he has written himself down an ass.—N. Y. Sun.

Everybody rejoices at the passing of Altgeld, which, by common consent, is the most important result of the Chicago election. A Chicago crowd says that "the Altgeld crowd, which, it was asserted, would throw 40,000 votes to Haney, has in reality proved his downfall. Straightforward republicans refused to support a candidate who in any way was identified with Altgeld."—Albany Argus (Dem.).

The reorganization of the democratic party in Georgia, with the free silver plank forgotten, has begun. The movement is started by Congressman W. H. Fleming, of the Tenth district. The fact that this district has been the hotbed of free silver in Georgia makes the fact more apparent that the reorganization is going to succeed, and that the principles advocated by Bryan in his last two campaigns and followed by the people of this district implicitly will be relegated to the rear as useless political lumber.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Difference.

Little Clarence—Pa, what is the difference between a professional and an amateur? Mr. Callipers—Why, one does it because he has to, and the other because he doesn't have to.—Puck.

Change of Climate.

This is often necessary for those whose health is undermined, or whose blood is rendered impure by disease or unsanitary conditions. The following letter from Hannah G. Patten, of Cincinnati, Ohio, shows how it was unnecessary in her case. She wrote: "Palmer's Lotion has cured me of an exceedingly annoying and unsightly eruption from which I could obtain no relief, my physicians having recommended a change of climate as the only probable remedy." If your druggist does not have it, send to Solon Palmer, 374 Pearl Street, New York, for samples of Palmer's Lotion and Lotion Soap, which will be sent to you without delay.

On the Gas Man.

Robbs—There goes a fellow who makes extravagant statements. Dobbs—He looks respectable. Who is he? "I don't know his name. He writes our gas bills."—Baltimore American.

A Play on Words.

Tess—I see a notice in the paper of the wedding of Mrs. Nubria. Jones—Yes, I know her very well. "Do you? What was her maiden name?" "I suppose her maiden name was to get married."—Philadelphia Press.

Remember the Date—July 6 to 10.

The above is the time of the annual meeting of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, at Cincinnati, Ohio. The Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern Railway has issued a handsome souvenir map and guide to Cincinnati which will be of much interest and value to all who contemplate a visit to the Queen City on the occasion mentioned. The map shows the principal churches, suburbs, resorts, railroads, street car lines, etc. This souvenir may be obtained from agents of the B. & O. S. W. Ry., or direct from O. P. McCarty, G. P. A., Cincinnati.

One Good Thing.

"There is one good thing about this classical music," remarked Mr. Medderrgrass. "You can start or stop anywhere you want to without spoiling the sense of the piece."—Baltimore American.

DO YOU FEEL LIKE THIS?

Pen Picture for Women.

"I am so nervous, there is not a wisp of sleep in my whole body. I am so weak at my stomach and have indigestion horribly, and palpitation of the heart, and I am losing flesh. This headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I nearly had hysterics; there is a weight in the lower part of my bowels bearing down all the time, and pains in my groins and thighs; I cannot sleep, walk, or sit, and I believe I am diseased all over; no one ever suffered as I do."

This is a description of thousands of cases which come to Mrs. Pinkham's attention daily. An inflamed and ulcerated condition of the neck of the womb can produce all of these symptoms, and no woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is absolutely no need of it. The subject of our portrait in this sketch, Mrs. Williams of Englishtown, N.J., has been entirely cured of such illness and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the guiding advice of Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass.

No other medicine has such a record for absolute cures, and no other medicine is "just as good." Women who want a cure should insist upon getting Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when they ask for it at a store. Anyway, write a letter to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her all your troubles. Her advice is free.
