Literary Contest.

The prize offered by the Emmanuel Free Library is intended to stimulate research, and foster the study of standard works. It will be given to the young lady, or gentleman, who may send in the largest number of correct answers to a series of questions, which will be published in the PRESS.

Our query will be published each week, and answers to it must be sent in within a week after the question appears in print.

Answers to all of the questions will be found in the Emmanuel Free Library. Consequently a study of the books will enable those interested to answer the questions correctly.

The prize will be a handsome one. Its character must depend on the sex of the successful competitor, and the interest manifested in the contest.

Query No. 1: What city in the United States once formed the seat of Government of an Emperor?

All answers must be addressed to the Committee on Literary Contest, Box No. 163, Emporium, Pa.

Will be a Rich Man.

The Pittsburg Post publishes a picture and sketch of John Murphy, brother of M. Murphy, the popular propri-etor of the Commercial Hotel of town. John, through his masterly knowledge of electrical engineering, has in the past ten years forged to the front so rapidly that to-day he is General Superintendent of the Pittsburg Union Traction Company and the Allegheny County Light Company. Mr. Murphy is the inventor of a machine that makes flat car wheels round again without disconnecting them from the trucks. This excellent invention is in great demand all over the world, and its proceeds in connection with Mr. Murphy's salary will before many years make the inventor a rich man. The PRESS joins his numerous friends in extending congratulations.

A Cheering Prospect.

When William McKinley was the candidate of the Republican party for President the first time, in 1896, the promise was made that his election would be followed by a renewal of the prosperity which had fled the country under the last administration of Grover Cleveland. Everyone knows how well that promise was fulfilled and the marvelous prosperity which the country experienced during the four years following his election. Last year when he was a candidate for re-election the promise was made that his success would mean a continuance and increase of the prosperity then existing. Since his re-election last November this promise has been most amply fulfilled.

During the five months following President McKinley's re-election the gold reserve in the United States Treasury has increased $43,551,679, our foreign exports have increased $40,000,000. the increase in stock values has been about $$00,000,000, the increase in the general stock of money has been $44,-130.290, and the increase in the circula-$37,753,821. This is certainly a magnificent exhibit for the five months following President McKinley's reelection, and shows very clearly that the people did wisely in deciding to continue him in office. A few other figures covering a longer period accentuate the same fact. The increase in the number of national banks from March 4, 1900 to March 13, 1901, was 503, the increase in the capital of new national banks was $12,940,000, and the increase in individual deposits in national banks from April 26, 1900, to February 5, 1901, was $304,757,064. Wages throughout the United States have risen several per cent. above what they were a year ago, and with the exception of certain branches of the textile trade, especially cottons, all branches of industry are prosperous. As is well known our manufacturers are invading foreign markets every day; Great Britian, Russia and other European countries are seeking to borrow money from us, and the outlook in every direction is most cheering.-Pittsburg Times.

Letter to W. H. Cramer. Emporium, Pa.

Dear sir: No man is more interest-ed in the look and wear of the paint on the houses you build than you; not even the owner; not even the painter. the houses you build than you; not even the owner; not even the painter. And painters sometimes are suspect-ed of being more concerned for the look than the wear. What is your opinion? Which pays best, for a paint-er to have his paint last three years, or as long as he can? He can have it last six, if he wants to. Lead and oil lasts three; Devoe lead and zinc lasts six. Of course, condi-tions effect the time of both. Most painters know that zinc tough-ens the lead; some use it. Devoe lead and zinc is thorough!, ground in oil; the proportions are right, and the mixture is thorough. No painter need mix; he can't afford to. Hand work can't compete with Devoe lead and zinc. All interests lie in using it; yours, the owner's, the painters—unless he wants his paint to wear half as long. Yours truly, 35 F. W. DEVOE & Co.

If you want a good suit of clothes that will give you excellent service you can get the same of N. Seger and the price is very reasonable.
