THE PRESS AROUSED

Representative Newspapers Denounce Yellow Journalism.

THEY ENCOURAGED ANARCHY

Hearst and Wanamaker Yellow Sheets Come In For Their Full Share of Condemnation In the Comment Upon the Assassination of the President of the United States.

Throughout the United States the respectable conservative newspapers are roundly scolding yellow journalism and coupled with the Hearst New York Journal, the Wanamaker North American, with its Emma Goldman protection record, comes in for a full share of denunciation.

Following are a few editorial utterances on this subject: MORE THAN CONDEMNATION.

We are the only civilized people among whom the yellow journal exists. It could not live amid a European people. Its gross indecency would shock the public sense, so that room would not be found for it.

DOES NOT IMPLY LICENSE. It will be of no service to punish Czolgosz while Emma Goldman goes about the country instigating fresh assassinations and groups of anarchists openly meet to celebrate the crime against humanity.

YELLOW JOURNALISM AND ANARCHY. Little less deep than the indignation against the assassin Czolgosz in the denunciation of the newspapers of the yellow journal class, which, with their trades against the heads of governments and specious reasonings, have deluded such men as the attacker of the President to deeds of violence.

THE YELLOW PRESS. Another instance is called to mind in Philadelphia where another yellow paper was champion of Emma Goldman when the murderous she-wolf had arranged to deliver a harangue in that city.

PREACH MURDER AND ASSASSINATION. Would the bloodthirsty men and women who, while living in a civilized community, preach murder and assassination as a remedy for political evils, put their ideas into practice and kill one another off, or would their novel imprisonment awaken them to the error of their ways and resolve them into peaceable and useful citizens?

PUT HER IN A CAGE. Emma Goldman, anarchy's angel with the flaming sword, who, it is alleged, inspired President McKinley's assassin to commit his foul deed, is in the toils of the police.

CLAIMS TO BE RESPECTABLE. A Philadelphia newspaper which claims to be respectable speaks of Emma Goldman as "the representative of the American right to free speech," and "there is no law in the United States against preaching the gospel of anarchy."

THE YELLOWS ARE CRAWLING. The Philadelphia Inquirer has certainly performed a great service by its prompt, incisive and crushing indictment of the New York Journal and the Wanamaker yellow pest.

NO QUESTION ABOUT IT. There can be no question about it, the sensational newspapers must share in the responsibility for the President's assassination.

NORTH AMERICAN MUST ANSWER. The Philadelphia North American must answer the grave charge of aiding and abetting Anarchy, the direct cause of the attempt on President McKinley's life.

EMMA GOLDMAN WHO PREACHED MURDER. Emma Goldman, the leading anarchist of the country if not of the world, stands charged with conspiracy to murder the President of the United States, and it is the duty of officers of the law to discover every scrap of evidence that will tend to prove this and to present it to a jury.

American gave utterance to the following, among other printed remarks in criticism of the officials for her suppression: "The silencing of Emma Goldman is an outrage." "The example of lawlessness being given by the police authorities is at once dangerous and disgraceful. Should force be met with force the moral responsibility would rest upon the stupid despots of the City Hall."

The above is disgraceful reading; it should cause Americans to blush for shame. Emma Goldman, in Cleveland, spoke the words which fired the brain of a young man to attempt the life of our President. Had the officials of Cleveland acted with equal decision and prudence with those of Philadelphia, the crime would not have been enacted.

CRIMINAL AS ANARCHISTS. Emma Goldman and her nefarious principles are responsible for Czolgosz's determination to kill President McKinley. They inflamed his mind and they formed his devilish ambition.

YELLOW PERIL AND A CURE. The Journal has had no hesitation in pointing out where the real responsibility rests for the crime against the President.

Colony Fred Taylor Post Adopts Resolutions Denouncing Yellow Journalism.

Colony Fred Taylor Post, G. A. R., of Philadelphia, has adopted resolutions which set forth:

"The comrades of Colony Fred Taylor Post, No. 19, Grand Army of the Republic, record the fact that we deeply deplore and detest all such teachings and utterances that lead weak-minded and misguided creatures to deeds of assassination, and we stand pledged to help, aid and assist lawful authority, to the fullest extent of our power, in putting a summary ending to such treasonable utterances, whether made by Anarchists, Nihilists, Socialists, political leaders or editors of vicious and dangerous papers and magazines."

"We also enter upon record that we deplore and denounce the publication of the offensive and diabolical cartoons that appear in the most conspicuous places in sensational and unscrupulous newspapers, inflaming the minds of men and women to dastardly thoughts and deeds, and in the interest of American law, order, peace, government and decency, we recommend the passage of the severest laws against all such pernicious journalism."

"And we also enter upon record our approval of the action of the mayor of Philadelphia and his director of public safety in resolutely prohibiting quite recently the Anarchistic agitator, Emma Goldman, from publicly promulgating in this city her infamous doctrines of treason to the state and nation—doctrines which lead to the assassination of those high in authority, and for no other reason than that they are the legally chosen representatives of law, order, peace and government."

The Finlanders. No northern people are harder or more spirited than the Finlanders, with their clear complexions and dark blue eyes. In spite of their harsh climate they have the most healthful living of perhaps any of the northern races and keep equal degrees of romance, daring and good feeling in their natures. You do not find imagination, force and adventure in a race without coarse, piteous fare, pure air and cleanliness.

His Only Request. It happened once that a faithful Moslem married, but when he saw his wife she proved to be very unprepossessing. Some days after the marriage his wife said to him, "My dove, as you have many relatives, I wish you would let me know before whom I may unwell." "My gazelle," he replied, "if thou wilt only hide thy face from me I care not to whom thou showest it."

Extremes. Mrs. Crawford—So you haven't found the course of lectures on cooking you attended to be of much practical use? Mrs. Crabshaw—No, my dear. They either told you how to prepare terrapin and canvasback or else how to live on 15 cents a day.—Life.

police to permit Anisichy to be preaching as a means of viciously attacking the mayor and city administration, giving the woman had the right to where.

The attempted assassin of the President confesses that his act was inspired by the inflammatory speeches of her hideous cause, The North American cannot but be more or less responsible for the fruits of her efforts. The fearful results attained are on a line with the intemperate, vicious and untrustworthy character of this journal's teachings.

YELLOW JOURNALISM'S BLAME. To the yellow journalism that has persistently vilified, misrepresented and abused the President is mainly due the crime at Buffalo, and it is up to the reputable, honorable portion of the American people to say how long that vile and malicious and criminal inciting of murder shall continue.

A Mule as a Life Saver. The mine mule knows a thing or two quite as well as does the army mule. In one of the mines in the Pittsburgh district the ever patient mule proved himself possessed of an almost human sense of coming danger. One morning when the full shift was at work there occurred an unusual thing. The air currents had seemed defective, and there was a restless feeling among the miners, something like the uneasiness of live stock before a storm. A few days previous a chamber had been closed on account of gas, and the men were instinctively thinking of what that might mean. Suddenly there was a clatter of hoofs, and a mule appeared. Its long ears were quivering, and its intelligent eyes were full of terror.

It gave a shrill bray and then was gone down the entry, broken traces flying after it. The men looked at one another, and then the feverishness of the air moved them with one impulse. Dropping picks, they ran precipitately, making a headlong dash through the labyrinth for the open air. With scared faces other miners joined them, and while they were wondering what it all meant a dull, deep explosion went rumbling through the hollow back of the men, followed by wave upon wave of noxious vapors. Then they understood. When the bodies of the few poor men who had been hopelessly entrapped were recovered, another was tenderly carried out with theirs—that of the little gray mule that sounded the warning.—Leslie's Weekly.

Serpent Worship. It was probably in the character of a healer that the serpent was regarded by the Milesians, since most of the localities of Ireland connected with traditions of these reptiles destroyed by St. Patrick were esteemed places of healing. To these spots, generally holy wells, the people of the poor and ignorant classes still resort as pious pilgrims taking relief from their infirmities. They drink of the sacred waters and circle about the fount on their knees while repeating their prayers, and it is a curious fact, as we are informed by an old time traveler in Ireland, that this circling was formerly done "groveling on hands and knees or even lying flat on the ground and wriggling like a snake."

In the same way they still on Bel-tane eve (Bel-tinne, or Bel's fire) kindle "bale fires" on the summit of every hill and send flaming wheels rolling down their sides, though ignorant that they are celebrating a day consecrated to Bel, or Baal, by their Phœnician and Irish ancestors, who observed it in a precisely similar manner.—New Lippincott.

Requirements of a Good Stroke Oar. During practice a good stroke is one who is regular in his rowing and easy to follow. He must give the big men plenty of time to finish the stroke out. He must keep them swinging steadily, and in a trial over the whole or any portion of the course he must get every possible ounce of work out of them, so that they are completely rowed out without having got short or flurried on the way. In a race he must know the capabilities of his crew and must be able to feel how they are going, when they want easing off and when they are capable of higher pressure, while above all he must have that degree of generalship which will enable him to decide in a well contested race when to put the pressure on in order to take the advantage of station at a certain point of the course, when to ease off if he is holding his opponent at a slower rate of stroke, how far it is necessary for him to save himself for an effort at the end and especially in a really close contest the exact moment at which he should make the "grande attaque."—Saturday Review.

They Were All Tired. The parlor entertainer has some amusing experiences, although he is not always good natured enough to tell them against himself. One who appreciates a joke, however, relates that on a certain occasion he had been performing at an "at home" and responding to so many entreats that the programme became unusually long.

After it was over his hostess with her young daughter came up to him and, after congratulating him on the success of the afternoon, said most cordially: "Oh, Mr. Blank, come and have some refreshments and sit down for awhile. I know you must be awfully tired."

"Yes," chimed in the sweet young daughter, with the best intentions in the world; "I'm sure we are."—New York Mail and Express.

A French Novel. Ion—I adore her! Narcisse—I idolize her! "Ha, then we are rivals!" "Yes, but still friends!" "Aye, friends till death!" "Let us tell her!" They tell her. She says: "Let us die!" Illustrating His Subject. "No, you can't see Mr. Blankblank this morning during office hours." "But he's a public official, isn't he?" "Yes, and he's engaged in the public service."

"May I ask what he's doing?" "He's writing a magazine article on How Can We Improve the Officehold's Neglectful Treatment of the Public."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
