Simple Formula of Prayer and Song at Milburn Home.

Touching Scenes at the House—Body Lay in State Several Hours at the City Hall and Was Viewed by Thousands—Roosevelt Took Oath as President—Doctors Announced Cause of Death.

Buffalo was a city of mourners Sunday. Gay and flaming decorations of the Pan-American exposition gave way to the symbol of sorrow.

In the morning a single service took place at the residence on Delaware avenue where the martyred President died.

When 5 o'clock came 40,000 people had already passed and the crowds waiting below in the streets seemed undiminished.

When the doors were closed at midnight it was estimated that 80,000 people had viewed the remains, but thousands of disappointed ones were still in the streets.

of an attempt at repair on the part of nature and death resulted from the gangrene, which affected the stomach around the bullet wounds, as well as the tissues around the further course of the bullet.

Death was unavoidable by any surgical or medical treatment and was the direct result of the bullet wound.

The death certificate, issued later by Coroner Wilson, states the cause of death as given in the official report of the autopsy. It says nothing of a poisoned bullet or anything except the cause stated by the surgeons.

HIS PEACEFUL DEATH.

President's Last Words Were "God's Will, Not Ours, Be Done." Last Conscious Moments Spent With Wife.

President McKinley died at 2:15 Saturday. He had been unconscious since 7:50 p. m.

His last conscious hour on earth was spent with the wife to whom he devoted a lifetime of care.

He died unattended by a minister of the gospel but his last words were an humble submission to the will of God in whom he believed.

He was reconciled to the cruel fate to which an assassin's bullet had condemned him and faced death in the same spirit of calmness and poise which has marked his long and honorable career.

His last conscious words, reduced to writing by Dr. Mann, who stood at his bedside when they were uttered, were as follows: "Good bye, all. Good bye. It is God's way. His will be done."

His relatives and the members of his official family who were at the house, except Secretary Wilson who did not avail himself of the opportunity, of some of his personal and political friends, took leave of him.

The funeral ceremony was simple. His friends came to the door of the sickroom, took a longing glance at him and turned tearfully away.

But the powerful heart stimulants, including oxygen, were employed to restore him to consciousness for his final parting with his wife.

He asked for her, she sat at his side and held his hand. He consoled her and bade her good bye.

Before 6 o'clock it was clear to those at the president's bedside that he was dying and preparations were made for the last sad offices of farewell from those who were nearest and dearest to him.

But in this period, when his mind was partially clear, occurred a series of events of profoundly touching character downstairs.

Secretary Root, Secretary Hitchcock and Attorney General Knox, Secretary Wilson also was there, but he held back, not wishing to see the president in his last agony.

One by one they ascended the stairway—Secretary Root, Secretary Hitchcock and Attorney General Knox.

Secretary Wilson also was there, but he held back, not wishing to see the president in his last agony.

After they left the sick room the physicians rallied him to consciousness and the president asked almost immediately that his wife be brought to him.

The strong face of the dying man lighted up with a faint smile as their hands were clasped.

The president in his last period of consciousness, which ended about 7:40 o'clock, chanted the words of the beautiful hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—When shown the press despatch announcing the death of the president, Emma Goldman, the anarchist now being held at the Harrison street station, carefully adjusted her glasses, read the bulletin and after a moment's pause, without a change of expression said:

"Very sorry. Absolutely no shade of regret or pity showed itself upon her countenance."

"I do not see how that can affect my case," she added, "if it is carried on lawfully and legally. They have no evidence against me. Chief Bull and Chief O'Neill, have admitted they have none. They are holding me without evidence. The death of McKinley will only lengthen my term of imprisonment if they convicted me. I feel very bad for the sake of Mrs. McKinley; outside of that I have no sympathy."

President McKinley Left a Will. BUFFALO, Sept. 16.—President McKinley has left a will. The instrument was executed some time before the shooting and at no time during his final suffering was there any wish or occasion to revise it or to frame a codicil.
