The Democracy Swallowed.

From the Lancaster New Era.
The State Democracy appears to have been swallowed bag and baggage by the Wanamaker nondescripts, whose longer stay in the Republican party was rendered ungenial by their failure to secure the offices. They accordingly turned their attention to the Democracy, whose managers welcomed them with open arms, placed them in the chief seats at the political table, and by way of showing their appreciation of their new found friends unceremoniously kicked out the old-line Democrats who for years had faithfully borne the party banner, but who refused to change their principles at the command of the multi-millionaire managers. The fact that the representatives of the party in State convention absolutely prohibited what Boss Guffey has just carried through did not cause a moment's hesitation. It is certainly a remarkable situation, and there is little cause for surprise that the Democrats in all parts of the State are outspoken in their refusal of support to the new combination. It must certainly be a pretty nauseous mess that is presented to our Democratic friends.

Card of Thanks.

Those Rural Boxes.

We are having so called free rural mail delivery from Driftwood, over Mason Hill, down Driftwood branch and it is undoubtedly a great convenience, but at the present time we think we are being imposed upon by a mail box trust. It seems that Congress withheld from the Postoffice Department the power to decide what kind of boxes the patrons of rural routes should use for the reception of their mail matter. And yet we who live along a mail route find that a way has been discovered to create a trust that will if not checked be far reaching in its results. I understand that the Post Office Department has assumed the authority to "approve" a certain pattern of mail box manufactured under the Bates Hawley patent, and some inspectors and postmasters construe such "approval" to have the force of law, and the postmaster refuse to send mail to any person who will not buy the "approved" box at a cost of $2.50 or $3.00 each, while if met with competition without official approval it would sell for forty or fifty cents each. Now ninety per cent of the patrons of the mail route take their mail from the boxes within a few minutes after it is left by the carrier. For such persons a weather-proof wooden box costing nothing but the labor of attaching to a post suffices to supply every consideration as a receptacle for mail matter and is much more convenient for the carrier, and we believe fills both the letter and the spirit of the law. No doubt this was the intention of Congress when it authorized no stipulation as to the character of such boxes. If any person desire to place their mail under lock and key it is perfectly right to require all such persons to provide themselves uniform boxes that the carrier can open with a single key, but this affords no excuse for compelling patrons to buy complicated boxes. But now comes the demand and all patrons are told they must either purchase a new "approved" box at the cost of $2.50 or go to the office for their mail as they did before the route was established. About all of the patrons of this route have had their mail changed the mail formerly coming to Sterling Run and to have it changed again will make no end of bother, as all parties concerned seem satisfied, why not let the boxes remain as before? Heretofore it has been the boast of the Postoffice Department that the most humble citizen could always secure a hearing and redress of grievances by applying to the Department at Washington but letters that have been written seem to be almost wholly ignored and have brought no relief. I think this fraud should be exposed and the parties brought to justice.
Driftwood, Pa., Oct. 21, 1901.

[Our correspondent evidently is laboring under a misapprehension. We are reliably informed that the department does not compel the patrons to purchase any particular letter box but submits fourteen different patterns ranging in prices from $1.25 to $3.00 To give U. S. protection it is absolutely necessary that certain stipulations must be lived up to and "any old thing" from an abandoned tin pal to a soap box would soon cause trouble. Our advice to the patrons of the route is that they select and place in position a regulation box and stop kicking. The service now given the Mason Hill people does not pay the department and too much fault finding might cause the abandonment of the service.]—EDITOR.

Having cut loose from the Republican party the organizers of the Union party and their sympathizers must expect to be treated as enemies. They have a perfect right to enlist under whatever banner they please, but they should not complain when they get in the way of the hot shot from the stalwart breastworks. An unholy political alliance brings its own pangs, says the Harrisburg Telegraph.

A large force of carpenters are on hand to-day to work on Martindale's new hotel at Brooks Run. Work was delayed several days, both mills at Austin being broken down the lumber could not be sawed out as soon as expected.

Washington Bailey departed this life at Wharton on Thursday last. Services were held at the Gilmore school house on Sunday. Rev. Holland officiating. Interment was made in the Gilmore cemetery. His children were all at the funeral, Mrs. John Schwartz being summoned from Pittsburg and Mrs. M. E. Coder from Straights, Pa. There was a very large concourse of relatives and friends present. Mr. Bailey's age was given as 72 years, although some seem to think he was older. He had been sick almost a year. Mrs. E. E. Bailey and little daughter also attended the funeral.

Ezra Logue returned last week, looking hale and hearty, from his second trip to the Klondyke, where he has been rafting and running lumber down the Yukon.

Mrs. Wilson Hey, of St. Marys, was called here by telegram on account of the serious illness of her brother, Ray Jordan.

Mr. Marshal Barr accompanied Mr. Yothers on his visiting trip to the voters of Mason Hill. He could not have had better company.

Walter Yothers passed over the Hill Monday looking at his political fences and thinks he has a nice majority enclosed, and so say all.

Mrs. M. A. Losey, of Sinnamahoning is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Barr on Round Top. No one is more welcome than Mrs. Martha Losey on the Hill.

The venerable G. W. Tanner, while on his way to Driftwood with a load of meat and cabbage, last Saturday, ran a narrow chance for his life. The tongue of his wagon dropped down and the horses made a dash ahead and jerked the wagon onto their heels, which made them jump the more fiercely, pulling him out in front of the wagon on his head and shoulders, the wagon passing over his limbs, but he held to the horses, (which are a spirited team) and after dragging him some rods he succeeded in turning them into a stump fence, and now the old gentleman is hardly able to get around.

The campaign is drawing to a close and next Tuesday will be the end of it. Just one-half of the candidates will feel good and the other half will feel bad. Yothers is making a manly fight and there are every indication of a successful issue. Walter is an ideal candidate, well fitted for the office for which he will be elected next Tuesday and will fill the office with dignity and honor. Good men can be trusted to do their part correctly, bad men are not wanted anywhere but at the mourners bench. Every Republican that goes to the polls on Tuesday next, should and will, cast their votes for Walter Yothers, and will feel that they have done an act that they will always be proud of, and I. M. RIGHT.
