The Insurgent.

We have insurgents in all the walks of life as well as in politics. An insurgent is one who has an insubordinate and rebellious disposition. He likes to be disagreeable and to kick up trouble. He is happy only when doing his best to make himself and everybody else miserable. He loves to find fault, and acts on the theory that the world can be scolded into perfection. He is so certain that the world is going to ruin that any attempt to reassure him is taken as an insult to his sagacity.

An insurgent in a household keeps the whole family in an uproar. Everything displeases him. He sniffs the air for bad orders and scowls at everything, and looks about eagerly for something to complain of. It is not in his nature to praise or . commend. Perfections offends him more than faults. He thinks he is doing his duty only when frowning and scolding.

This fault-finding is a disease. It is the jaundice of the soul. What the world needs is encouragenent.

The wish to approve, to scatter joy and not pain about you, makes you hopeful and agreeable, puts color into you cheeks and a kindly curl in the corners of your mouth.

The insurgent's liver is out of order, and that makes him think that the country is going to the dogs. He does not count the blessings of life. He is constantly snooping around to find something to grumble about, and the greatest calamity that could happen him would be failure to find it. He is an owl, that loves the darkness, and his hoot is always melancholy.

To jeer and sneer is devilish. To appreciate and to praise is angelic. Beware of the person who sniffs.

What is the use in whining about the faults and imperfections of the world? God made it so. You cannot change it. You will do well to correct a single one of your own faults, much less all the faults of the world: "To reform a man," says Victor Hugo, "you must begin with his grandmother."

Every man should practice his reform theories on himself.

The natural born insurgent, the grumbler, fault-finder and pessimist-never smiles. He only grins. He has a hard, sad, meat-axe expression which stabs the joys of life and gives you the impression that his shoes hurt his feet.

These people we have always had in the world, and always will, and we must endure them. But we should not be lead into the dark caverns of their gloomy philosophy, strewn with skulls and dead men's bones. Let up keep in the sunlight.

Let us thank Heaven for the manifold blessings of of life, for the good men and true women who people the world, and let our eyes be turned always towards the dawn. Let us seek rather to correct our own faults than to exaggerate those of our neighbors

Blessed be that man and beloved of all the gods, who neither sniffs nor snoops.—Punxsy Spirit.

"Some years ago while at Martinsburg, W. Va., I was taken with cholera morbus which was followed by diarrhoea. The doctor's medicine did me no good. I was advised to get a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I did, and it cured me sound and well—G. A. Morris, Embreeville, Pa. Sold by L. Taggart.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S. Himelburger, "for three genera-tions of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found it's equal for Coughs and Colds." It's an unrivaled lite-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 at L. Taggart's. Trial bottles free.

Luck may carry a man across the brook if he will leap.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they be-ome "the best selling." Abraham Hare, leading druggist, of Belleville, O., a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 You know why? Most diseases years. begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, run-down man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by L. Taggart druggist.

A Violent Attack of Croup Cured. "Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Filley, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in a short time all danger was past and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptons appear will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by L. Taggart.

A hand full of luck is better than a sack full of sense.

Jumped on a Ten Penny Nail. The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by L. Taggart.

Diligence is the mother of Gook Luck. Luck steps in at the door, and asks whether Prudence is in.

To the Public.

Allow me to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I can recommend it with the utmost confidence. It has done good work for me and will do the same for others. I had a very severe cough and cold and feared I would get pneumonia, but after taking the second dose of this medicine I felt better, three bottles of it cured my cold and the pains in my chest disappeared entirely. I am most respectfully yours for health, Ralph S. Meyers, 64, Thirty seventh St., Wheeling, W. Va. For sale by L. Tag-

His Prayer.
The little son of an Episcopal clergyman of Los Angeles was visiting with his mother a Canadian city, where the two attended services at a certain church. It is the custom in that church for the clergyman and congregation to bow in silent prayer for a minute or two just before the sermon begins. It was a new proceeding to the child, for he was not accustomed to seeing this done in his father's church, but the little chap bravely and reverently did

After the service was over the clergyman, one of the old evangelical school, who had noticed the reverence and apparent devotion of the child, spoke to him and commended his reverence with an affectionate pat on the head. "It was very pleasing," he remarked to a group of bystanders, "to see this little fellow so deeply engaged in earnest prayer just before I began my sermon. What prayer did you offer to the throne of grace, my little boy?"

All unconscious of the effect it produced, the little fellow candidly and instantly replied: "I said: 'Now I lay me down to sleep. I pray the Lord my soul to keep."—San Francisco Argo-

Birds' Eggs Superstitions.
The old, wrinkled, dusky aunties of the south tell children: "Do not eat the bluebirds' eggs. They make you love to wander." They believe that the pale blue eggs of that beautiful creature, "that violet of the air," that bird with "sky tinge on his back, earth tinge on his breast," will make the greedy nest robber restless as long as he lives. No place, however enticing, can hold the being who has once tasted a bluebird's

He who eats a mocking bird's egg will be compelled to "tell all he knows." The one who robs a killdee's nest and eats its eggs will surely break an arm. He who eats a dove's egg will be fol-lowed by bad luck, while the egg of any bird of yellow plumage will be sure to cause a fever, and he who eats an owl's egg will be always shricking. The eat-er of a crow's egg will always, as old aunties say, "be gwine on foolish like a crow does go on, 'Ha, ha, ha!' But a partridge's egg," they declare, "du des make you thrive an' grow fas'. Dey is de onlies' sort er birds' eggs dat you kin eat widout findin' 'em danger-

A Cockney.
Bullokar, the lexicographer who gave the famous definition for "crocodile tears," was outdone by Minshen, another dictionary maker of London, who in 1617 issued the work which gave the following amusing account of the origin of the word "cockney:" "A cockney, or cockny, applied only to one born within the sound of the Bow bells that is, within the city of London-whiche terme came first out of the following tale:

"A citizen's sonne, riding with his father out of London into the country, and being a novice and merely ignorant of how corne and catel do increase, asked when he heard a horse neigh what the horse dide. His father answered, 'The horse dothe neigh.' Riding further, he heard a cock crow and said, 'Dothe the cock neigh too?' And therefore cockney, or cockneigh, by inversion thus: Incoctus,—i. c., raw or unripe in countrey-mens affaires."

When the Crowd Gathered.

At the close of some sports that were being held at a country village one of the competitors, coming across the local policeman, inquired when the theater opened.

"We have no theater here," said the policeman. "Well, the music hall, then?"

"No; nothing of that kind here." "Have you no evening amusement at
