The new fire company was called out but the flames were under control. The property was considerably damaged.

Lawson-Graham.

The four hundred were out in full force yesterday morning to the wedding in the A. M. E. church when Miss Adaline Lawson became the bride of Henry Graham, of Emporium. Though no one was admitted to the church who did not have cards, the ushers, Manny Green, Louis Mills, Fred Thompson and John Carter, had quite a time finding seats for all the guests. Miss Neil Valentine played the wedding march and the ceremony, by the Rev. J. G. Agnew, pastor of the church, was said so promptly at 11 o'clock that several of the gentleman diked up in their white vests, frock coats, boutonnieres and light gloves missed it entirely.

The bride was dressed in cadet blue cashmere trimmed with white and she carried white chrysanthemums. Her going-away gown was of dark blue broadcloth. After the ceremony the bridal party were driven to the home of James Carter, where the wedding breakfast was served. Accompanied by lots of rice, white ribbon, etc., the happy couple took their departure on the 1:05 train for Emporium where the groom has a barber shop. Adaline has been employed at Mrs. A. G. Curtin's for the last twelve years or more and she is not only highly respected but she is fully capable of running an establishment of her own.—Bellefonte Watchman.

Mr. Henry W. Graham of Emporium and Miss Adaline Harris Lawson, of Bellefonte were united in marriage this morning at 11 o'clock at the A. M. E. church on St. Paul street. There was a large audience present, many white people being in attendance, showing the high respect in which the bride and groom are held in this community. The words which united this happy couple for life were pronounced by Rev. F. J. Askew, pastor of the church. The ushers for the occasion were Messrs. Lewis Mills, Fred Thompson, John Carter and Emanuel Green.

The worthy couple entered the church to the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march as played by Miss Nellie Valentine.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Graham were driven to the home of James Carter on East High street where the wedding dinner was served, later they left for Emporium where the groom, who is a highly respected colored gentleman, is engaged in the barbering business.—Bellefonte News.

Mr. Graham and bride arrived in Emporium last Thursday and are comfortably located at their residence on Broad street, receiving the congratulations of their many friends. As will be seen from the above articles, from Bellefonte papers, the bride is highly respected and every way fitted to make a good helpmate for our respected citizen. The Press, and we feel sure our citizens generally, extends its compliments to Mr. and Mrs. Graham.

Most property-owners spend twice too much money on paint, some lose more yet by neglect of it. Devote lead and zinc wear twice as long as lead and oil.

HON. W. C. ARNOLD.

TESTED TIMBER.

Ex-Congressman W. C. Arnold a Possible Candidate for Congress Again—He is Able, Energetic and Always Active in the interests of His Constituents. An Eloquent Orator.

From Ridgway Advocate.

The recent re-apportionment of this state into Congressional districts makes a new political checker board on which to play next year. Leading Republicans all over the state are looking about and talking just now of the most available Congressional timber for their several districts. It is important to carry all the districts possible, to the end that our President may have the cordial support of a Republican Congress in carrying out the present admirable Republican policy. Men who will be winners are earnestly desired, but men who will be useful and reliable when they get to Washington are certainly just as much to be sought after.

A number of Republican leaders with whom we are acquainted have been talking very strongly recently that the most available man for the party to put up in the new Twenty-first district would be Hon. W. C. Arnold, who was elected triumphantly in the old Democratic Twenty-eighth in 1894 and then again in 1896. We do not know yet whether Mr. Arnold will consent to make the race or not, but we do know that it would be very hard to find a better man for the place. We tried him for four years in the old Twenty-eighth district, and we know he was the most active and able Congressman the district ever sent to Washington. Mr. Arnold is a man of wonderful capacity for work and he never allowed any interests of his constituents to suffer. He secured many benefits for his district while in Congress, and always stood ready to defend our rights on the floor of the House. As an orator and debater there were few there who could excel him. His patriotism and zeal in the cause of Republicanism were finely illustrated several times.

The believers in sound currency will recall the positive declaration of Mr. Arnold in his famous speech on Silver Coinage and Sound Currency February 6, 1896: "I am for protective tariff and sound money as against free trade and free silver." Those who believe the war was right from a humane standpoint have not forgotten his marvelous speech on "Free Cuba," March 24, 1898, and his earnest appeal for the suffering thousands on that island, and admire him for his stand in that critical hour. Citizens who have watched his career and have heard his voice on public questions, and have felt his influence in their behalf would gladly vote for his return to Congress. Men who have proved their ability in Congress should be kept there, for they develop and become more valuable each succeeding year. That's the secret of the great power wielded in Congress by the little state of Maine.

Mr. Arnold has always been found in the forefront on the vital public questions of the day. Before the policy of the Administration had been declared or decided upon in regard to retaining the Philippines. Mr. Arnold uttered these thrilling words in his speech at the "Peace Jubilee," which was held at Johnsonburg, this county, just after the declaration of peace with Spain: "Wherever the indomitable bravery of our boys has taken a forward step in the cause of suffering humanity; wherever the dauntless courage of America's sons has faced danger, disease and cannon, that the bound of a higher civilization might be enlarged; wherever the splendid valor of our gallant soldiers has planted our flag; there let it float forever and forever!"

Mr. Arnold was born July 15, 1851, in the village of Luthersburg, Clearfield county, Pa., and is a son of Samuel Arnold, a leading business man of the county for many years. He studied law with Judge J. B. McEnally and was admitted to the Clearfield bar in 1874; prior to this he had been cashier of the Curwensville Bank, of which the late Hon. John Patton was President. Mr. Arnold has been practicing law in the city of DuBois very successfully for nearly ten years. He redeemed the old Twenty-eighth district from the Democrats in 1894 because of his ability as an orator and practical politician. Should the Republicans of the new Twenty-first district composed of Clearfield, Center, Cameron and McKean counties, nominate Mr. Arnold as their candidate for Congress, there would be no question of his election, for he is one of the greatest campaigners in the state.

As we are not in the new district, we have no right to dictate to the Republican leaders as to what they shall do in the matter, but we do claim the right to say that we have tried Mr. Arnold and proved his ability and faithfulness. We know from personal experience that he not only stands by his party in every emergency, but he is also true to his personal friends. Nothing gives him greater pleasure than to do a favor in return for those who have helped him.
