A very curious bi-literal cipher which has been discovered by Mrs. Gallup running through the first editions of Bacon's works, has excited wide interest in the literary world. This cipher consists of the use of two wrong-font letters at intervals, combinations of these two letters in groups of five constituting an alphabet. These repetitions of a wrong-font letter cannot have been matters of chance. Whether placed there by Lord Bacon or by the printer, remains in doubt. If by the printer, they relate a wonderful romance—the story of Queen Elizabeth's marriage to the Earl of Leicester when both were confined in the Tower prior to the Queen's accession; the birth of two sons, of whom Lord Bacon was the elder, the Earl of Essex the other. Lord Bacon considered himself the heir to the throne of England. The bi-literal cipher further tells that Queen Elizabeth condemned her own, the Earl of Essex, to death. The Cosmopolitan for March contains an article by Prof. Garrett P. Serviss fully reviewing this remarkable romance—if it is concluded to have been inserted by the printer—or tragedy if inserted by Lord Bacon.

She Soon Altered It.

Many young ladies have found it necessary to improve, or rather to alter, the spelling of the names with which they were originally blessed. Mabel becomes Mabelle, Jessie becomes Jessica, Mary becomes Marie, and so forth. A brother lately received a letter from his young sister at a fashionable boarding school. It was signed Jessica. He answered:

Dear Sister Jessica—Your welcome letter received. Papa and mamma are well. Aunt Mary and Uncle George started for Glasgow yesterday. I have bought a new horse. You ought to see it. It is a beauty. Its name is Maudie. Your affectionate brother, SAMICA.

The sister's next letter was signed "Jessie."

Items are scarce this week. Meetings at Elk Lick still continue.

We are glad that Miss German is able to be about her school duties this week.

Some of our people have been attending the Wesleyan meetings at Emporium.

Mr. John Hout and family have moved from Cooks Run to their home in Rich Valley, which they lately purchased from Mr. Lingle.

The ice groges have been the excitement this week. A few small bridges have gone out and some damage has been done by washing the land.

The people of the Valley were pained to learn of the death of Mrs. Luseeta Swartwood, who had resided here all her life until the last few years she has lived in Emporium.

La Grippe Quickly Cured.

"In the winter of 1898 and 1899 I was taken down with a severe attack of what is called La Grippe," says F. L. Hewett, a prominent druggist of Winfield, Ill. "The only medicine I used was two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It broke up the cold and stopped the coughing like magic, and I have never since been troubled with Grippe." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy can always be depended upon to break up a severe cold and ward off any threatened attack of pneumonia. It is pleasant to take, too, which makes it the most desirable and one of the most popular preparations in use for these ailments. For sale by L. Taggart.

First Fork.

Our saw mill is expected to start up soon.

The railroad below Barclay Bros. dam went out—also part of their log boom.

Mrs. Sadie Keck is visiting at this place, guest of her sister Mrs. R. M. Williams.

We had no stage on Saturday on account of high water, and consequently no Sunday papers.

A good many saw logs were swept away by the flood, belonging to Barclay Bros., and other parties.

A gang of men are at work clearing the ice from the railroad track, but the trains may not run for several days, perhaps weeks.

It seems a little early for thunderstorms but we had a heavy one on Friday night, which helped to bring the creek up bank full.

The passenger train is "tied up" between this place and Westgate's and can not get down past here on account of damage to bridge across Norcross Run.

The ice went out of the creek here Friday about noon, owing to the heavy rain of Thursday night and Friday forenoon, doing immense damage to the R. R. and lumber interests generally. It swept out the railroad bridge at Westgate's and also the one at Lorschbaugh Run. At the latter place they were pulling a Lima engine across when the bridge went down, taking engine and tender into the stream. The tender went down stream and lodged on a bar, perhaps one hundred rods below, near Israel Bailey's old place. The engine lies in deep water with her nose sticking out. No one was hurt in the accident.

Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct these disorders and cure the headache. Sold by L. Taggart.
