Tariff Tinkering.

Some of our contemporaries, which are never satisfied or aware of the advisability of letting well enough alone, are howling for more Tariff tinkering on the ground that there are glaring abuses to be remedied, says American Economist. No tariff is perfect, of course, and the chances are that the tinkered bill would be far less so than that now in force. But the most foolish part of the argument is the querulous complaint against the purpose "not to disturb business." That it would disturb business is not denied, but it seems to be argued that this is a monopolistic consideration and ought therefore to have no weight. But nothing could be more fallacious than to assume that this is a matter which concerns monopoly alone. It is unworthy any but the veriest demagogue. Does any one forget the recent hard times of Democratic manufacture, and does any one assume that monopoly was the only sufferer? It was a disturbance of business, and the cry then was that monopoly did not suffer as much as stricken labor. It is just as well to bear in mind that hard times mean other things than monopolistic loss, and that every one has an interest in preventing the "disturbance of business." The people are not suffering. It is the consensus of opinion among those who have opportunity to know the facts that the past year has been one of prosperity not so much to the employer as to the employed. The savings banks show this clearly. And yet we are asked to give up all this, and fly to evils that we know not of except as far as 1893 et seq. taught us, merely because some Tariff crank has a theory. The objection that such a course would disturb business is vital. Business does not mean monopoly or corporations alone; it includes every ramification of trade where men, from the richest to the poorest, get their daily bread. The poor man has everything to lose and nothing to gain by "disturbing business," and he knows it. There is no call for inflammatory talk by these would-be tinkers. This is not election time, and the country is well off. Why, pray, not permit this to continue, and why not leave the nonsense out?—Lowell (Mass.) "Courier."

Back of the welcome to Prince Henry is the greeting of one great nation to another, of an enlightened, progressive and powerful people to a country of momentous significance in the affairs of the world. The Germans are an expanding race in population and creative industry. America is intimately familiar with them as a sturdy and valuable element in the development of American type and character. Americans know well the German as transplanted to this continent and that his qualities and methods have made a deep impress upon the new world. Germany is an empire under a constitution; the United States is a republic under a constitution. Here the dividing line is absolutely distinct, but not an excuse for churlishness or inhospitality. It is enough to say that the United States will continue to be a republic until the time for ruin and chaos. Prince Henry represents the German government and people, and the hand of cordial friendship is extended to him, officially and personally. All delight to honor him in the name of the past history, the present standing and the future potency of the German race, whose blood is infused in American as well as English veins, and whose intellect gives it one of the advanced places in the march of civilization.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)
 Washington, March 10th, 1902.
 The Senate has devoted the past week to the consideration of the Bill to promote commerce, popularly known as the ship subsidy bill, and the bill for the defense of the President, the former of which is the regular "order of business," and on which a vote will be taken on the 17th, inst. The discussion so far has been characterized by an able presentation of the merits of the measure by Senator Frye and a speech by Senator Hanna, whose plain, business-like statement of the advantages to be derived by it was exceptionally forcible. Senator Clay, of Georgia, opposed the bill in a speech which lasted four hours but which was largely a repetition of the oft-refuted arguments presented by the Democrats when the bill was considered by the last Congress. Senator Bacon has also argued against the bill for the defense of the President, claiming that the measure is an extension of the law regarding treason and therefore outside the province of Congress.

The House of Representatives has been the scene of an interesting and spirited debate on the bill providing for the substitution of the contract for the salary basis in the management of the rural free delivery. Party lines have not been drawn in the contest but much feeling has been displayed and it is impossible to tell what will be the outcome. The vote will take place to-day and there is considerable likelihood that the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads will be instructed to report a revised bill maintaining the service on the salary basis. Representative Newlands of Nevada, Williams of Mississippi, and several other Democrats have told me that they favor the contract feature. Representative Swanson, a prominent Democratic member, is the author of the minority report which condemns the change, and there are a large number of Republicans who support his view of the matter. Among the latter is Representative Hedge of Iowa, who tells me that while he at first approved of the bill as reported he now favors a change. "As a whole," said Mr. Hedge, "I regard the bill as a distinct advance for the cause of rural free delivery. It defines it and brings it down to a system whereas, heretofore, Congress has merely appropriated money for the service and has left its expenditure entirely at the discretion of the Postmaster General. There is no doubt but that the bill will carry when it comes to a vote though it seems quite probable that it will be so amended as to provide for the employment of carriers on a regular salary." Mr. Hedge, by the way, is opposed to any revision of the tariff and confidently predicts that none will be undertaken at this session of Congress. "The people of my state," he said, "are quite contented to let well-enough alone. We are enjoying exceptional prosperity and desire no change."

The third caucus held by the Republicans of the House on Thursday evening did not result in any decision on the question of doing something for Cuba. The floor, throughout the evening, was occupied by the friends of the Ways and Means measure but no vote was taken and the caucus adjourned to meet again tomorrow evening. When I saw Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, who is the leading spirit of the opposition to the measure, he said, "We are not particularly anxious that the substitute bill which I offered should be adopted. We are chiefly concerned in preserving the traditions and good faith of the Republican party. The party has promised protection to the beet sugar producers and the tobacco growers and those promises were made long before any promises could possibly have been made to Cuba, if any were made. If, however it is necessary to do anything for Cuba, a fact which personally I doubt, there will be no objection from the members whose sentiments I voice, provided it is done, not at the expense of a few industries but at the expense of all the people. That is what my substitute bill provides for and while we will not push the measure we will not accept the Ways and Means Committee measure." So many rumors had been circulated to the effect that the President had receded from his position, that the United States was in honor bound to do something for Cuba, that Mr. Roosevelt, last week, made public a statement to the effect that he had not receded a particle from his original position.

Letter to C. G. Catlin.

Emporium, Pa.
 Dear Sir: Perhaps you "won't have anything to do with Mixed Paints." We don't blame you; but Devoe lead and zinc is not a Mixed Paint; there is twice as much paint in a gallon of it as there is in a gallon of some of the Mixed Paints. N. Avery, Delhi, N. Y., owns two houses exactly alike—Painted one with mixed Paint—took twelve gallons. Painted the other with Devoe; bought twelve gallons—had six gallons left. It has taken a great many years to find out the best, and it takes a lot of machinery to grind it properly. More than 2,000 years, men painted with lead, and more than 200 with linseed oil. About 50 years ago, they began to use zinc. All painters know lead and oil; most painters know lead and oil with zinc mixed in—it improves their paint, wears longer, does not chalk or powder off so soon. One-third more zinc than lead is used in this country. But painters don't know how much zinc to put in; and zinc is hard to mix—needs grinding in—and they can't grind it in. Still, nobody uses lead without zinc, who knows his business.
 Yours truly,
 F. W. DEVOE & CO.

Could Not Breathe.
 Coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, other throat and lung troubles are quickly cured by One Minute Cough Cure. One Minute Cough Cure is not a mere expectorant, which gives only temporary relief. It softens and liquefies the mucous, draws out the inflammation and removes the cause of the disease. Absolutely safe. Acts at once. "One Minute Cough Cure will do all that is claimed for it," says Justice of the Peace, J. Q. Hood, Crosby, Miss. "My wife could not get her breath and was relieved by the first dose. It has been a benefit to all my family. R. C. Dodson.

How to Cure the Grip.
 Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed and a quick recovery is sure to follow. That remedy counteracts any tendency of the grip to result in pneumonia, which is really the only serious danger. Among the tens of thousands who have used it for the grip, not one case has ever been reported that did not recover. For sale by L. Taggart.

All the world loves a lover, and laughs at him.

Pneumonia Can be Prevented.
 This disease always results from a cold or an attack of the gripe and may be prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This remedy was extensively used during the epidemics of la gripe of the past few years, and not a single case has ever been reported that did not recover or that resulted in pneumonia, which shows it to be a certain preventative of that dangerous disease. For sale by L. Taggart.

Any fool can swear and most fools do.

Mrs. C. E. VanDeusen, of Kilbourn, Wis., was afflicted with stomach trouble and constipation for a long time. She says, "I have tried many preparations but none have done me the good that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have." These Tablets are for sale at L. Taggart's drug store. Price, 25 cents. Samples free. L. Taggart.

Matrimonial happiness does not need to go on dress parade.

Would Smash the Club.
 If members of the "Hay Fever Association" would use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the club would go to pieces, for it always cures this malady,—and Asthma, the kind that baffles the doctors—it wholly drives from the system. Thousands of once-hopeless sufferers from Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis owe their lives and health to it. It conquers Grip, saves little ones from Croup and Whooping Cough and is positively guaranteed for all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. Taggart's.

There's nothing in the good time that leaves a headache and a bad taste.

Danger of Colds and La Grippe.
 The greatest danger from colds and la gripe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventative of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of la gripe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by L. Taggart.

The social problem may be solved by one rule.

Lockjaw From Cobwebs.
 Cobwebs put on a cut lately gave a woman lockjaw. Millions know that the best thing to put on a cut is Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the infallible healer of Wounds, Ulcers, Sores, Skin Eruptions, Burns, Scalds and Piles. It cures or no pay. Only 25c at L. Taggart's drug store.

How to Cure a Cold
 Don't go to bed. Don't stop work. Don't take a Turkish bath and render yourself liable to an attack of pneumonia. Krause's Cold Cure, in convenient capsule form, will cure you in 24 hours. They are pleasant to take and cause no singing in your head or other disagreeable sensations. Price 25c. Sold by L. Taggart.

Solomon advised the sluggard to go to the ant, but most of them visit the uncle.

Nerves Like a Flat-Iron.
 A woman who suffered for three years from nervous prostration says two bottles of Lichty's Celery Nerve Compound effected a complete cure. She hardly knows today whether she has nerves or not, as she never feels them. It is certainly a wonderful remedy. Sold by L. Taggart.
