PARTY MEN LIBERAL

An Exciting Contest For Governorship Without Any Bitterness.

IT IS A FREE AND OPEN FIGHT

Lively Campaigning Throughout the State, and a Great Crowd Expected at the Coming Republican State Convention.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, May 6.—General Frank Reeder, chairman of the Republican state committee, when here this week conferred with T. Larry Eyre, his chief assistant, regarding the arrangements for the state convention, which will be held five weeks from tomorrow, on June 11th. As the date for the convention draws near the contest for the gubernatorial nomination becomes more interesting. A battle royal is under way and the election of delegates in several counties have been attended by spirited rivalry. Attorney John P. Elkin and Colonel L. A. Watres have been the sole active candidates in the way of competing for delegates, but the woods are full of dark horses hoping that something will turn up to let them have a chance for the big prize.

NO STATEMENT FROM QUAY.

The efforts of the Philadelphia party leaders in behalf of Judge Pennypacker for the governorship followed with increased activity after Senator Quay's visit to that city last week. The senator did not authorize any public statement that he was irrevocably committed to Judge Pennypacker, in fact, he did not give any public interview going on record as favoring any candidate.

Friends of Judge Pennypacker have, however, been quite hopeful of getting his active co-operation in the canvass for the nomination. Some have stated that Senator Quay, while not advocating the nomination of Judge Pennypacker has at least not discouraged his Philadelphia supporters in their plans to try to carry off the nomination. Others believe that Senator Quay will be guided by developments and be largely influenced by the showing the Pennypacker men make before the convention meets.

ELKIN MEN ACTIVE.

From Luzerne county, the home of Attorney General Elkin come reports that they would be pleased to have their opponents unite upon Judge Pennypacker, as they would then have a good excuse to appeal to the Republicans of the interior of the state to stand together against allowing Philadelphia to have both the governorship and the United States senatorship. The Elkin men say they are strongest in the interior counties and that they would prefer to have the opposition take up a Philadelphiaian.

Colonel Watres' admirers continue their aggressive work and will not admit that Senator Quay is committed to Judge Pennypacker. They hope to get his support. In Allegheny county former Governor Walter Lyon has been working up sentiment in favor of Frank J. Torrance, of Allegheny, for governor, but as yet there are no indications that Allegheny county will take part in the favorite son campaign.

In Venango county the friends of Congressman Joseph C. Sibley were in control. Sibley can have these state delegates should he become a candidate for governor.

ALL CLAIM ALLEGHENY.

The recent declarations of Thomas S. Bigelow, leader of the Citizens' party, in favor of Mr. Elkin, has made the Allegheny situation the subject of much discussion. It is claimed almost solidly by both Elkin and his opponents.

Keen interest is also manifested in the counties of Northumberland and Huntingdon, where it is expected that there will be a popular vote on the governorship at the coming primaries. It is not known whether Judge Pennypacker's name is to be submitted to the voters of any county, but should Elkin, Watres and Pennypacker figure in a triangular contest at the polls the struggle for delegates would be certainly a lively one as well as one calculated to arouse great party interest for the canvass after the nomination shall be made.

GOOD FEELING MANIFESTED.

It is remarkable how the party workers throughout the state have held within proper lines and not permitted the contest over the governorship to engender feelings of bitterness such as would be likely to affect the polling of the full party vote after the ticket shall be placed in the field.

While it is believed that the coming state convention will be the best attended gathering of Republicans ever held in Pennsylvania yet there is every reason to believe that it will be one of the most harmonious and at the same time most satisfactory conventions held in this state in many years. That the nominee of the convention, whoever he shall be, will be loyally and ardently supported in the contest at the general election there can be no doubt. The party organization was never in a better condition, and the Republican voters of Pennsylvania will stand by their party candidates when they shall be named by the convention.

Miss Collins Re-elected.

The school directors of Cameron county met in convention last Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. for the purpose of electing a County Superintendent for the ensuing term of three years. Mr. L. K. Huntington was made president and Mr. Bernard Eagan and Mr. H. Drum secretaries. The roll was called and 28 responded present.

Mr. Frank Moon stated that inasmuch as the average annual school term within the bounds of the county now exceeds seven and one half months, by a provision of the state law the incumbent of the office was entitled to an annual salary of $1,500. This fact being clearly established and after a free and full expression of opinion, the annual salary of the superintendent was placed at $1,500. It was further announced that the above advance would diminish in no sense the state appropriation to the several school districts within the county.

Nomination of candidates for the office of Superintendent being in order, Mr. Robert McDowell nominated Miss Mattie Collins, the present efficient incumbent which was promptly seconded by Mr. Frank Mitchell. There being no other candidates present the voting was proceeded with and Miss Collins was unanimously chosen, to succeed herself. Much satisfaction was manifested over the result, which though unmistakably foreshadowed, was highly gratifying to all. Miss Collins expressed her appreciation to the directors, for the honor conferred and pledged herself anew to a faithful performance of the work required by her office.

The Baccalaureate Service.

The audience that filled the auditorium and lecture room of the First Methodist Episcopal church was a thoroughly representative one and bespeaks the interest felt by our people in cause of popular education in our public schools. The sermon of the Rev. J. M. Robertson of Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal church, was most able and appropriate and very favorably impressed his auditors. His theme was the "Secret of True Womanhood" and the ideal set before the class of twelve young ladies, while high, is not impossible of realization and must stimulate in them a desire to reach the best things in life.

Assisting in the services were the Rev. W. A. Pugsley of the First Baptist church, the Rev. Robert McCaslin of the First Presbyterian church and the Rev. O. S. Metzler of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Excellent music was rendered by the choir, the vocal duet of Miss Grace and Mr. Geo. A. Walker Jr., being particularly pleasing.

Rear Admiral Sampson Dead.

Rear Admiral William T. Sampson, U. S. N., retired, died at his home in Washington, Tuesday afternoon. He had been in a semi-conscious state for several days and on Tuesday suffered a severe cerebral hemorrhage. His remains will be buried in the Arlington National Cemetery.

The Curfew Law.

The adoption of a Curfew ordinance by our Borough Council is a move that meets with general commendation. The presence of children, unattended, on the streets till a late hour of the night is clearly an evil that calls for correction, and it is now hoped that parents and all classes of people will unite with our peace guardians in firmly but kindly carrying out the provisions of the new order.

Will Celebrate.

Arrangements are being made to have a big celebration at Emporium on the Fourth of July. Some of the business men have taken the matter in hand and large bills will soon be issued announcing the attractions.

As it has been several years since Emporium has celebrated, this promises to surpass anything of the kind ever held here.

Foot Amputated.

Murry Teater, an employee at Howard & Co.'s new mill while attempting to hold, with his foot, the last cut, the piece being very springy, slipped, throwing his left foot against the revolving saw, last Tuesday, cutting it off back of the toes. Drs. Bardwell and DeLong were called and found it would have to be amputated below the ankle, and performed the work. The young man is resting easy at this writing.

Under the Car Wheels.

Monday night, William Love, of Johnsonburg, formerly of Gardeau, who was riding between the baggage, car and engine on Erie mail, went to alight at the depot, made a mistep, and fell with his left foot inside the rail, which was frightfully crushed by the wheels. He was taken to the Warner House, where Dr. Hellman, assisted by Drs. Bardwell and DeLong amputated the leg below the knee. At this writing the man is resting comparatively easy and is on a fair way for recovery.

Fire Alarm.

On Wednesday morning about one o'clock our citizens were awakened from their slumbers by the alarm of fire, sounded by the several whistles in Emporium. The fire was soon located at the furniture factory, where a large pile of shavings had ignited, the men at the factory had been fighting it some time before the alarm was sounded but the fire could not be subdued. The fire companies soon responded to the call and the fire was extinguished without much trouble. The damage done was little. Henry Wheaton, while on the roof of the fire room stepped off and fell among some posts severely cutting his face and spraining his right arm. Dr. A. W. Baker dressed his injuries. Bennett Leutze was also severely burned about the face and neck.

Religious.

There will be quarterly meeting services, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 9th, to 11th, in Free Methodist church, Emporium, Pa., in charge of district elder, W. B. Ronpe. All are invited.

MONTEREY, CALIFORNIA, A VERY OLD TOWN, WITH AN ATTRACTION THAT IS NEW AND MARVELOUSLY BEAUTIFUL.

Sub-Marine Gardens That Probably Eclipse In Natural Beauty Anything Yet Discovered.

The quaint old town of Monterey, California, while it is to-day only a village of some 1,800 population, was the first capital of the State of California, and was as well the capital of this part of Mexico's domain while this vast territory was yet under Mexican dominion.

The first landing was made here, by "Don Sebastian Viscous" on Dec. 10th, 1602, three hundred years ago. He named it Monterey, or "Mountain King," in honor of Caspar De Zuniga, Compt De Monterey, Viceroy of Mexico. Of course the town was not here at that time to assume proprietorship of this pretty and romantic name, but the place was, as well as the beautiful and quite as romantic bay upon the shores of which it is built. The "Bay of Monterey" is twenty-eight miles wide at the entrance, and is most beautiful in contour. It has never been improved much as a harbor, as the importance of the place, doubtless has never demanded it, but it could be made a very fine and commodious harbor.

The town, looking from the bay has a beautiful back-ground, in the Mountains that were doubtless responsible for the name it bears. They are unlike most of the mountains of the southern part of the state, in that they are well covered with a timber growth that makes them in strong contrast with many of the mountain systems of the south, and are a source of great relief to the tourist who has had to be content during his winter sojourn in a summer land, to gaze up at these lofty eminences, about as destitute of trees as they are of snow. The latter however can be seen on the highest peaks at a distance of 50 to 75 and 100, and even 150 miles, but he can get closer to them if he but takes the trouble.

To the old "Franciscan, Fathers" belongs much of the credit of first settling California, and to them is also due much of the credit for the very amiable and peaceable attitude of the native Indians towards the pioneers of civilization here. In all they established twenty-one missions in favored spots along the coast of California, beginning as early as 1769 by founding the "San Diego" Mission in "Old Mission Valley" about four miles from San Diego, and in June of the following year, was founded "Carmel Mission," five miles to the south of Monterey, by "Padre Junipera Sevrá."

There are many points of historic interest in Monterey. Here stands the first house built of lumber in the state of California, the lumber coming from Australia; "Colton Hall," the first capitol building in the state, wherein was signed the State Constitution, the first Convention was held in this hall Sept. 1st, 1849. The first theatre built in the state of California is here, where Jennie Lind sang in 1847. Monterey also boasts of the first brick house in the state, and here is seen the home of Robert Louis Stevenson. At the end of main street stands the "House of Four Winds" or Hall of Record. This old building served as headquarters for General Halleck and General Sherman, during their respective commands at Monterey. On Alvarado street is still seen the "Sherman Rose Tree" not so old as the buildings—referred to but dating from the time when Sherman was in command here, when he was a young man, and commemorating a very interesting romance in which the young officer took, not an unimportant part. The romance, on the other side, was represented by a sweet young "Senorita" and before Sherman took his departure from the land in whose genial sunshine his admiration for the Senorita soon kindled into love, he planted the rose bush that has long since grown into a tree, vowing that as long as the rose should live and bloom his love for the Senorita should not fail, but alas, the rose tree still stands as a memorial to loves young dream, the then "Senorita" still contemplates the tree as once holding for her so much of sweetness and happiness, and the love is not.

Many other old buildings and memorials are still to be seen within the irregular boundaries of "Old Monterey," among them being "San Carlos" Roman Catholic church, built in 1794—the first Roman Catholic church built in California. Interest attaches to "Colton Hall" the old capitol building from the fact that it was built by Chas. Colton, from a fund collected as penal

On Wednesday morning Lawrence Holland, working in C. B. Howard Co.'s old mill yard, broke through one of the runways and fell to a board pile below. He fractured his right arm and wrist. He went to Dr. Heilman's office and had the injury repaired. The doctor says it means six to eight weeks idleness for the young man.

John B. Wykoff, of Sinnemahoning, has just placed a handsome monument on their family plot in remembrance of his father, Bainbridge V. Wykoff. The style is of a rustic stamp. And the material is of the best eastern granite. The work was completed by Maxham & Moon, of Port Allegany, Pa.

A Munificent Offer.

Mr. Josiah Howard offers to donate $4,000 for paving Fourth street, if the citizens, or any of them, will raise $8,000 for the same purpose, or he will give $1,000 for every $2,000 raised by the borough or its friends for that purpose. This is a most generous public spirited and liberal offer and it seems to me that our people should unanimously accept an opportunity that will probably never occur again. This offer is unique and it stamps Mr. Howard as being one of the most public spirited men in the country. If Mr. Howard will pay one-third the entire cost of paving Fourth street, and Fourth street is not paved, we may well admit that Emporium is an old back number.
