people of Emporium are fortunate in securing the services of such a capable instructor. Professor Ling is a schol-arly man, an enthusiastic and progresarly man, an enthusiastic and progres-sive educator and a perfect gentleman. By his upright life he has won the confi-dence and esteem of the people of Bed-ford. His work in the school room has been highly satisfactory, his relations with the pupils who were under his charge being always cordial and pleas-ant. Ling, of New Buena Vista, Pa, has been elected principal of the public schools of Emporium, Cam-eron county, Pa. Prof. Ling served as assistant principal in Bedford public schools for eight years, porforming his duties in a most successful manner, he having almost the exclusive control of the High School during that time, and being in position as an advisor with the board in the arraingements for com-mence exercises of each year. Eight years ago Mr. Ling came to Bedford almost an entire stranger to everybody in the town. He was chosen for the position which he occupied up to the time of his resignation this spring. In this time he won a host of friends in Bedford by his integrity. No more efficient work was ever done in the Bedford High School than that done by Prof. E. S. Ling. When it was learned that Mr. Ling had resigned his assistant principalship of our schools it was a surprise to all, and general expression of regret exist-ed among our young people as well as the citizens of Bedford. We feel that fails to give comfort and relief in the worst cases. Foley's Honey and Tar is without doubt the greatest throat and lung remedy. Refuse substitutes. L. #### A Dream.

A Dream. Editor Press:--On the night of June 30th, 1902, E.C. Davy, of Four Mile, had to him a very curious and troublesome dream or vision. A voice from some unseen person, the voice of a man said to him, "Go up Dodge Hollow, (which is about one-half mile from his home) and there you will find a large snake, but be very careful or it will bite you." The next morning he went to Empor-ium, still his dream haunted him, he could not get rid of it. So after getting home and hastily eating his dinner, he took his rifle, without telling his family where he was going or his purpose, and walked as ucarly as possible where the voice directed. Seeing nothing and being weary with his walk and the oppressive heat thought he would sit down and watch a short time. He sat down on the ground leaned against a tree and soon fell asleep. Thinks he slept one-half an hour and at once be-gan to retrace his steps fearing his wife-abouts. He walked but a few steps and there not over six feet ahead in the same path he traveled going there lay abouts. He walked but a few steps and there not over six feet ahead in the same path he traveled going there lay a large black rattle snake in a deadly coil ready to spring on his victim. It was only the work of a moment for his trusty Maynard was soon brought into requisition. His snakeship was just four feet long and is the only one known to have been killed in this vicinity this season. Can anybody explain from whence the voice came, from whom and why? from whom and why? Four Mile,July 7th, 1902.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a regular review of Sterling Run Tent, No. 55, K. O. T. M, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: WHEREAS, It has pleased the all wise Creator to enter our ranks and take from our midst our friend and Brother, Sir Knight P. J. O'Rouke, Therefore be it friend and Brother, Sir Knight P. J. O'Rouke, Therefore be it Resolved, That while we feel our less and deeply sympathize with the afflicted family in their sad bereavement, we recommend that in their sorrow they turn to Him alone who can comfort the af-flicted and ever remember that there is no sorrow but has some hidden blessing, and no cloud but has a silver liming. Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and published in our local papers, a copy sent to the bereaved family and our Charter draped for ninety days. A. W. MASON.

The Lumber Industry.

According to a census bulletin just issued, the lumber industry of the United States, taken as a whole was in 1900 the fourth among the great manufacturing industries of the country, being exceeded in value of products only by iron and steel, the textile, and the slaughtering and meat packing industries. There were 33,035 establishments. with a total capital of $611,611,524. They employed 283,260 wage earners, exclusive of the administrative and clerical force, an average of 86 employes per establishment, and paid in wages $104,640,591. The average wages per wage earner was $370, and per establishment, $3,-171. The cost of materials used was $317,923,548, and the value of products was $566,832,984. The product per establishment was $17.17 and per employe $2,003. The amount of lumber produced by the mills was 35,084,166 M feet, B M. The average product per mill was slightly in excess of a million feet.

IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Pennsylvania was orginally forst clad, with pine and hemlock on the higher parts of the Allegheny plateau, and with an increasing mixture of hard woods as the altitude diminishes to the westward. The southern part of the state, outside of the Appalachian region, timbered with hard woods almost exclusively. The result of over two centuries of lumbering has been to reduce the wooded area onehalf, leaving, as is estimated, 23,-000 square miles or 51 per cent., wooded. This wooded area, more-over, has been in great part depleted of its merchantable timber, especially of its white pine, although there still remains a large amount, as is shown by the fact that the cut of this species in 1900 was nearly three billion feet.

The earliest estimate of the stand of timber in the state are Sargent's. He assigned a white pine stumpage of 1,800 million feet, and of hemlock, 4,500 million feet, figures which are far below the truth. Pennsylvania has always been a state of great importance in the lumber industry. In 1850 it was exceeded in product only by New York, and in 1860 it took first place. 1870 and 1880 it was ex-ceeded by Michigan only. In 1890 Michigan and Wisconsin produced more, and in 1900 the third of the lake states, Minnesota, also took rank above it, making it the fourth state in the country.

A Flower Pot can be Used.

Frequently campers find it hard to keep ice at hand, and the food suffers for the want of it. A common clay flower pot may be made good use of in keeping the butter cool and firm. Place the pot over the plate of butter and wrap around it a cloth wet in cold water sprinkling water over the outside of the cloth as it becomes dry. Milk will remain cool and sweet if treated in the same way.
