Many Railroad Accidents.

The Interstate Commerce Commission issued a bulletin showing collisions and has derailments of trains and casualties to persons for three months ending March 31, 1902. The number of persons killed in train accidents was 212, and of injured, 2,111. Accidents of other kinds, including those sustained by employes while at work and by passengers in getting on or off cars, bring the total number up to 813 killed and 9,858 injured.

During this period there were 1,220 collisions and 838 derailments, of which 221 collisions and 84 derailments affected passenger trains, resulting in 41 fatal accidents to passengers and 826 injured. From other accidents there were 12 passengers killed and 433 injured, making a total of 53 passengers killed and 1,259 injured. The damage to cars, engines and roadway by these accidents amounted to $1,914,258.

Never Saw the Dying Weep.

Kansas City Journal. "I have stood by the bedside of hundreds of dying people," said an old physician at Topeka, "and I have yet to see a dying person shed a tear. No matter what the grief of the bystanders may be, the stricken person will show no signs of overpowering emotion. I have seen a circle of agonized children around a dying mother—a mother who in health would have been touched to the quick by signs of grief in a child—yet she reposed as calm and unemotional as though she had been made of stone. There is some strange and inexplicable psychological change which accompanies the act of dissolution. It is well known to all physicians that pain disappears as the end approaches. And nature seems to have arranged it so that mental peace shall also attend our last lingering moments."

Gold in Manila Bay.

A remarkable contract entered into with the Philippine government by contractors at Manila to raise the ten ships sunk by Dewey in Manila Bay has suggested here that the contractors and others believe there is treasure on board these hulks. A lot of money was found on the vessels of Cervera's squadron.

The Navy department is advised that the authorities in the Philippines have accepted the bid of the Philippine Engineering and Constructing company to do this work. The wrecks are to be raised and removed within one year from the date of signing the contract, which will be June 2.

The company has deposited the sum of $10,000 as a guarantee that the contractors will receive no payment from the government, their profits being derived from the junk raised.

The company has had an expert diver and wrecker for some time, and he has made a close examination of the wrecks and their value. This is a big undertaking, and will involve the expenditure of several hundreds of thousands of dollars.

There was four bidders, a Japanese company, the Philippine Transportation and Construction company, and a firm at Cavite, and the Philippine Construction and Engineering Company.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats anything she wants, remarking, that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. R. C. Dodson.

The Liars Club.

The Sinnamahoning liars club visited Emporium last Monday, prepared to meet all comers. The following talent represented that honorable body: Pap Blodgett, J. V. Hanscom, John Logue, Alex. De Shetler, Chas. Peasley, Jr., Geo. Gore and Abe Jones. W. L. Thomas got wind of their arrival and chased the Emporium club out of town. Even Justice on the dome of the court house threw up her hands as the train pulled in to the depot. John Hogan hid behind an empty beer keg. As they could find no talent in Emporium that day they proceeded to amuse themselves rolling ten pins and at various other sports. Pap and De Shetler had a game of ten pins, in which Pap came out on top by a large majority the score being: Pap 105 to De Shetler's four. The boys all returned home sober, something very unusual.

Whence Comes Electricity?

At a time when electricity is rapidly transforming the face of the globe, when it has already in great measure annihilated distance and bids fair to abolish darkness for us, it is curious to notice how completely ignorant "the plain man" remains as to the later developments of electrical theory. Some recent correspondence has led me to think that a vague notion that electricity is a fluid which in some mysterious way flows through a telegraph wire like water through a pipe is about as far as he has got, and if we add to this some knowledge of what he calls "electric shocks" we should probably exhaust his ideas on the subject. Yet this is not to be wondered at. Even the most instructed physicists can do nothing but guess as to what electricity is, and the only point on which they agree is as to what it is not. There is, in fact, a perfect consensus of opinion among scientific writers that it is not a fluid—i. e., a continuous stream of ponderable matter, as is a liquid or a gas—and that it is not a form of energy, as is heat. Outside this limit the scientific imagination is at liberty to roam where it listeth, and, although it has used this liberty to a considerable extent, no definite result has followed up to the present time.—Academy.

Licking Her Stamps.

We find the following anecdotes in a Naples paper: "At the postoffice yesterday, amid the large crowd gathered around the window, was a young English lady, handsome, well dressed and accompanied by her maid. The young lady had just purchased some stamps and was about to affix them to a number of letters which she held in her hand. Delicately tearing off a stamp, she said to her maid, 'Pull (sic) out your tongue.' And the maid, with English impassivity, thrust forth her tongue, while the mistress passed over it a postage stamp, which she subsequently stuck on a letter. She went through the entire package of letters, and for each one the obedient waiting maid thrust out her tongue for the mistress to moisten the stamp. Curious manners these English people have."
