Business men have learned that advertising creates business. Thus a wholesale dealer in fond writes: "To stop advertising in this age is like taking out your telephone—you have no way of telling people about your goods, so you do not get the trade. Nor does the other fellow get it—there is no trade. People simply do with less to eat. Advertising educates them to buy the best."—Philadelphia Record.

A Pennsylvania editor is responsible for this: "If you are fool enough to bite at a proposition which proposes on its face to give you something for nothing, you deserve to get stuck, as you most surely will, and yet ten such suckers can be found in every civil township in the country. If you are one of the ten, don't solicit sympathy when you get pinched, but take your medicine and profit by the experience."

A Somerset county man, who has been divorced, advertised for a wife recently. He said he wanted a "beautiful, accomplished, true and honest woman," and that none other need apply. Dairy and Food Commissioner Cope last spring issued a notice to all dealers in meats throughout the State that after August 1st, they must not sell any meats that are treated with preservatives of any character, the Supreme Court having decided that these meats are prohibited under the pure food law. Mr. Cope sent a circular letter to all of his agents in the State, notifying them to secure samples of meats of all kinds and send them in for analysis, and not to fear or favor any dealer. If the meats are found to be treated with preservative the dealers will be prosecuted at once. It is a wholesale raid on the embalmed meat sellers.

If for no other reason, the September Woman's Home Companion would be notable for two features. In "The Real Stringtown on the Pike" the scene and the people of Mr. Lloyd's. The other great feature tells of recent excavations in Bible lands. It throws some new and startling light on Biblical history. Besides these there is a timely article by Mrs. Walter Camp on "Outdoor Sports in Girls' Colleges" and a symposium by well-known educators on "Should the Girl Go to College?" The fiction for the month includes stories by Cyrus Townsend Brundy, Stanley Waterloo, Zoe Anderson Norris and Hermon Lee Ensign, whose animal stories have attained a wide popularity. Miss Gould's fashion articles and the departments devoted to cooking and household matters make up a number of unusual interest. Published by The Crowell Publishing Co., Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy, sample copy free.

Letter to Frank Shives.
Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: If you buy paint by the gallon, look out for short measure. There are great business founded on ten per cent short. It is queer that a man or concern'll expose his or its nakedness so; but he does, and it does. Look out.

But that isn't all to look out for. Some give full measure and cheat in the quality. What do you paint for, the looks? or to keep your house from rotting? Both, of course.

A big hotel-man painted Devoe eight years ago; was going to paint it again—a good long time for a hotel, you know—struck a bargain; saved five cents a gallon, and missed Devoe.

Poor fellow! There isn't an oz. of lead in his paint—we don't know how good or bad it is; but there isn't any lead in it.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by L. Taggart.
