Republican Congress.
 (Belleville Republican.)

Whilst there is no question as to the election of Hon. S. R. Dresser for congress, we appeal to the Republicans to make his majority as large as possible in order that we may proclaim with no uncertain ground our confidence in the policy of the national administration. It is important to have a Republican congress in order to continue this era of prosperity.

The whole country looks to Pennsylvania for help in doing so and our state is more deeply interested in a continuance of Republican control than almost any state in the union.

With our vast iron and steel industries, a tinkering with the tariff would work incalculable harm.

In Mr. Dresser, our candidate, we have a man who can be depended upon every time his vote is required, to advance the material interests of Pennsylvania, or our congressional district.

The Soldier's Burial Veto.

The veteran soldiers of the Rebellion are in arms against Pattison, and the "Boys in Blue" are demanding Pattison's defeat because of his heartless veto of the act entitled: An act authorizing and requiring the county commissioners of each county in the State to appoint a sufficient number of suitable persons in each township and ward of the county, at the expense of the county, to look after, bury and provide a head-stone for any honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine, who served in the army or navy of the United States during the late rebellion, or any war, and shall hereafter die in their country leaving insufficient means to defray the necessary funeral expenses.

In his speech at Carlisle, on September 17th, Mr. Pattison said: "From a reading of the events of eight years of my administration I have not one time, or one act of that administration to change. If elected I will do over again just what I did before."

The grizzled veterans construe that to mean that Robert E. Pattison still glories in his attempt to give the poorest of alms-house burial in a potter's field, without even a stone to mark where they were buried, instead of the honorable burial their services to their country warrants, with a stone to mark their last resting place or that on Memorial Day their surviving comrades might plant a flower above their honored remains. Sixty thousand veterans will resent that insult to their unfortunate comrades with a charge upon Pattison that will cause Pickett's charge at Gettysburg to fade into insignificance.

The churches are the creatures and not the creators of Christianity.

New York Tribune on Pennsylvania Politics.

The appearance of the Grout bill and its course through Congress brought about a change which, even had the contest been closer than it is, would have resulted in the re-election of Senator Penrose. Day after day have been coming in endorsements by organizations of farmers.

The Pennsylvania State Grange has 550 local and more than fifty county organizations, with a total membership of 60,000 or more, chiefly heads of families. Collectively considered, they are a representative class of citizens, and in rural communities, because of the eminent respectability of the members, the grange exerts a decided influence. When the Grout bill, which taxes uncolored oleomargarine, when sold as oleomargarine, one-quarter of one cent a pound, and taxes oleomargarine, when colored to imitate butter, 10 cents a pound, was under consideration, more than a thousand petitions and eight thousand personal letters were sent to Senators Quay and Penrose urging the passage of the bill. In addition to these appeals by mail there were numerous personal visits by delegations of grangers and dairymen.

Senator Quay's vote in the Committee on Agriculture of the bill by a vote of 6 to 5, and when it reached final passage Senator Penrose made a strong speech in its favor. The effect of these two incidents is being felt now. The grangers and dairymen have been gratified, and more than four hundred of their organizations have passed resolutions indorsing Senator Penrose and urging all persons interested in the manufacture and consumption of pure dairy products to support candidates for the State Assembly who will vote for Senator Penrose's return.

In several legislative districts in the State wealthy oleomargarine manufacturers and dealers have shown their hands in fomenting contests to elect anti-Penrose Assemblymen. This has resulted in positive activity by the granges and other allied farmer organizations in selecting a local committee in each agricultural county in the State and establishing headquarters in Philadelphia, with the sole purpose of electing members of the legislature pledged to Penrose. The fact that nearly every Democratic member of the United States Senate voted against the Grout bill had a tendency to prejudice Pennsylvania farmers against running any risk by voting for Assemblymen who would support a Democrat or Fusionist for the United States Senate.

The Republican campaign managers were never more hopeful of a successful campaign, and they count upon securing, through the farmer influences, several legislative districts which in off years have sent Democrats to the Assembly.
