Current Comment.

Senator Beveridge imagines that he will occupy the second place on the next national republican ticket.

Senator Elkin's wide knowledge of railroads has enabled him to frame an equitable and far reaching anti-trust bill.

The western demand for tariff revision is dying away as time goes on and the present tariff continues to prove its merits.

Senator Fairbanks deserves great credit for the persistence with which he has fought the battles of the Immigration bill.

There is an evident desire on the part of foreign ambassadors and ministers to cultivate the friendship of the United States.

When Senator Spooner had outlined the real situation in regard to the Indianola postoffice, there was little left of the case of the southern democrats.

Senator Hanna is made the subject of many cartoons and the butt of many jokes but his hard business sense has often saved his party from blunders.

The President's firm stand on Cuban reciprocity has had its effect in Congress and ratification of the Cuban treaty waits only for opportunity.

Things are getting to a point where the foreign ambassador to the United States will not be regarded as duly qualified unless he has an American wife.

Secretary Hay's Alaskan treaty has been favorably reported and will be ratified as soon as possible. It will be triumph for the Secretary of State.

The acceptance of the statutes of John Hanson and Charles Carroll of Calhoun, by Congress was made the occasion of an eloquent oration by Senator Hoar.

The energetic work of President

Roosevelt and Senator Hansbrough in establishing a system of federal irrigation has given an impetus to every industry in the western country.

The publicity amendment to the department of commerce bill promises to be adopted at an early date and to constitute the first anti-trust legislation of the session.

President Roosevelt's rigid application of the civil service law has resulted in saving senators and members of the House from much unnecessary worry and annoyance.

The republicans are in earnest about passing the Elkin's bill which contains the most important recommendation of Attorney General Knox, and will get it through if the Statehood senators will permit.

One democrat stands in the way of the ratification of the Columbian, Isthmian canal, treaty. Senator Morgan has threatened to talk it to death, notwithstanding the fact that no member of his party agrees with him in his opposition.

The most cordial relations exist between Sir Michael Herbert, the British Ambassador, Baron von Sternberg, the German Ambassador, and President Roosevelt, a fact which gives promise of close and friendly relations between the three nations.

The republicans in Congress are making every effort to pass adequate anti-trust legislation. In the House they will be successful but if the democrats continue to support the Statehood deadlock all trust bills may fail there.

What connection, if any, is there between the recent visit of Mr. Bryan to Mexico and that country's call for help to prevent a further drop in the price of silver? Time is negating all Mr. Bryan's prophecies.

Personal registration is demanded by the Philadelphia Press. It says: "Two successive Legislatures having large Republican majorities with practical unanimity approved the constitutional amendment opening the way for the enactment of an effective personal registration law. When submitted to a popular vote in November 1901, the amendment was adopted by an overwhelming majority. This action can be construed only as a demand on the part of the people for a personal registration law. If that had not been desired there would have been no purpose in the constitutional amendments, and the majority for the amendment must be accepted as indicating the force of popular sentiment on the subject."

A Story of Edith Wyatt.

Edith Wyatt, who wrote a volume of short stories, called "Every One His Own Way," has very decidedly her own way of writing. Some like it, and some don't, but no other short story writer comes anywhere near sounding the note, and those who like her kind of stories have to be satisfied with her stories or none at all. For anyone who does not know Miss Wyatt's work, and would like a taste of quality, "Snow White and Rose Red," which appears in the February McClure's, will do very well.

The American Bride.

There is a difference, it seems, between the American bride and the bride of other countries. The American woman adapts herself to changed circumstances more readily than any foreigner can do. As the wife of the farmer or the capitalist, she acquires rapidly the manners of her station. Such is the view taken by a writer on the subject of brides in the the February Cosmopolitan, whose article is illustrated with a dozen fine photographs of lovely woman in her wedding-dress.

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by L. Taggart.

The easily flattered end by flattering themselves.

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a number of years and have no hesitancy in saying that it is the best remedy for coughs, colds and croup I have ever used in my family. I have not words to express my confidence in this remedy.—Mrs. J. A. Moore, North Star, Mich. For sale by L. Taggart.

Silence overcometh all things, even life itself at last.

The scratch of a pin may cause the loss of a limb or even death when blood poisoning results from the injury. All danger of this may be avoided, however, by promptly applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It is an antiseptic and quick healing liniment for cuts, bruises and burns. For sale by L. Taggart.

A short acquaintance is always trying to make a touch.

Tragedy Averted. "Just in a nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and our darling was saved. He's now sound, and well. Everybody ought to know, it's the only cure for Coughs, Colds and all Lung diseases. Guaranteed by L. Taggart druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

To be superior to luxury is often better than being accustomed to it, and healthier, too.

A Most Fatal Gift.

Would be the power of foreseeing events. This would destroy hope. A knowledge of the future would unmake happiness. There are, of course, some things about the future we do know. If, for instance, a lack of energy, ambition and loss of appetite shows itself we know it will be followed by serious complaints if not checked. Often Liver and Kidney trouble followed quickly. In any event Electric Bitters will restore you to health. It strengthens, builds up and invigorates rundown systems. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by L. Taggart druggist.

Nearly Forfeits his Life.

A runaway almost ending fatally, started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. For four years it defied all doctors and all remedies. But Bucklen's Arnica Salve had no trouble to cure him. Equally good for Burns, Bruises, Skin Eruptions and Piles. 25c at L. Taggart's drug store.
