SILVER STILL TO THE FORE.

Cheap Dollar Democrats Make Their Last Stand on the Philippine Currency Bill.

Notwithstanding all the talk of the democratic party repudiating Bryanism, it is very evident that the taint still clings to it, especially that part of the Bryan doctrine which favors the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the 16 to 1 ratio.

LADY ON EDITORIAL STAFF OF LEADING RELIGIOUS WEEKLY

Sends the Following Grand Testimonial to the Merits of Cuticura Remedies in the Treatment of Humours of the Blood, Skin and Scalp.

"I wish to give my testimony to the efficiency of the Cuticura Remedies in what seems to me two somewhat remarkable cases. I had a number of skin tumours—small ones—on my arms which had never given me serious trouble; but about two years ago one came on my throat. At first it was only about as large as a pinhead, but, as it was in a position where my collar, if not just right, would irritate it, it soon became very sensitive and began to grow rapidly. Last spring it was as large, if not larger, than a bean. A little unusual irritation of my collar started it to swelling, and in a day or two it was as large as half an orange. I was very much alarmed, and was at a loss to determine whether it was a carbuncle or a malignant tumor.

tended down into my chest was all gone, and my neck now seems to be perfectly well. About five or six years ago my sister had a similar experience. She had two large lumps come under her right arm, the result of a sprain. They grew rapidly, and our physician wanted to cut them out. I would not listen to it, and she tried the Cuticura Remedies (as I did a few months ago) with magical effect. In six weeks' time the lumps had entirely disappeared, and have never returned.

"I have great faith in the Cuticura Remedies, and I believe they might be as efficacious in similar cases with other people, and thus save much suffering, and perhaps life. I have derived so much benefit from the use of them myself that I am constantly advising others to use them. Recently I recommended them to an office boy for his father, who was disabled with salt rheum. The man's feet were swollen to an enormous size, and he had not worked for six weeks. Two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment worked a perfect cure. You never saw a more grateful man in your life.

"I am very much interested in another case where I have recommended Cuticura just now. My housemaid's mother has a goitre which had reached a very dangerous point. The doctors told her that nothing could be done that she could live only two or three weeks, and that she would die of strangulation. She was confined to her bed, and was unable to speak, when her daughter, at my suggestion, tried the effect of the Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent. Strange to say, she was very shortly relieved of the most distressing symptoms. The swelling seemed to be exteriorized, and she is now able to be around her house, and can talk as well as ever.

"It seems to me that I have pretty good grounds for believing that Cuticura Remedies will prove successful in the most distressing forms of blood and skin humours, and if you wish to use my testimonial as herein indicated, I am willing that you should do so, with the further privilege of revealing my name and address to such persons as may wish to substantiate the above statements by personal letter to me." Chicago, Nov. 12, 1902.

THE DEMOCRATIC RING MASTER.

Mr. Bryan Says He Will Not Ride But He Proposes to Hold the Whip and Rein. —Minneapolis Journal.

currency, seeking an adjustment which will give gold its proper place as a standard of value and fix the relation of silver to gold at a reasonable ratio, and with silver at such a low valuation in the markets of the world, it would seem that the most ardent friend of the white metal would perceive the inevitable and act accordingly. But Bryanism is hard to eradicate from certain minds, and its latest outcropping shows what a strong hold it still has upon a large and influential element of the democratic party, notwithstanding the unchallengeable verdict given against it by the American people in the two most recent and very strenuous presidential campaigns.

The argument put forth by these obstructive democratic senators and which has been heard with nauseating iteration and reiteration of late years—that to deny free coinage to silver at the 16 to 1 ratio is a gross discrimination against the white metal—has no foundation in fact. The American people have never discriminated against silver. It is one of the great and valuable products—though very far from being the most valuable—of the country, and the popular judgment has been on the side of fair treatment. In reality the discrimination has been rather for it than against it, as the enormous number of silver dollars now in existence demonstrate. Much of the national legislation relating to silver has gone to the utmost limit of safety in "recognizing" that metal. But congress and the people could not be induced to favor anything so disastrous as would have been the opening of the mints for the unrestricted coinage of "dollars" that were worth less than 50 cents.

It looks as though the cheap dollar men were making their last stand on the Philippine bill. And there are hopeful signs that even with the obstructiveness permitted under the senate rules they are destined to another and let us trust a final defeat.

Free trade papers that note the falling off in iron and steel exports and the increase in imports of the same articles forget to say that the home demand is by far the greatest ever known, and that the supply from all sources can scarcely keep pace with it. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The American people, however, have no desire to exterminate any corporation engaged in any legitimate industry. They recognize the necessity of the corporations. They desire only that these industrial organizations shall not do evil and shall not be permitted to employ their powers oppressively. And in promoting legislation limited to that purpose the administration has obeyed the will of the people. That the enactments of this congress will solve the whole trust problem is not to be expected. That problem is too complex. But these measures are a beginning of a solution. They are steps in the right direction, and as long steps as it was safe to take at the present time.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

- Col. Bryan is rather "choosy" as to his company at democratic dinners. —Cincinnati Enquirer (dem.).
The republican party in the state and throughout the country will remain united, strong and a power for the good of the people. —Albany Journal.
Condensed into the briefest possible space, Mr. Bryan's refusal to accept an invitation to dine in the presence of Mr. Cleveland means that the baby won't play at all unless the baby can play the baby's way. —Philadelphia Inquirer.
The thing that stands against ex-Secretary Olney as a democratic candidate for president is that it was on his advice that President Cleveland ordered the regular troops to Chicago in 1894 to suppress the Debs strike. That should coin him votes, but democrats look at it differently. —Indianapolis Journal.
Chairman Jones, of the democratic national committee, says that "we can do nothing better than to drift along quietly until the presidential campaign is within sight next year." The democrats are drifting, they have been drifting for a long time, but they don't drift quietly, and Jones can't make them. Jones himself couldn't keep still if he tried, and he will not try. —Cleveland Leader.

what confusion people are thrown by feigning wisdom; presuming to know things when you don't know them. The good old professor stood before the young man who had asked such a question, and said, frankly, "I don't know." Seeing a quizzical look on the face of the young man, he said: "Look here, you are surprised at my saying, 'I don't know.' The truth is, I do not know—but I might have attempted an answer, and so given you the impression that I did know." Then, looking into the young man's face, he said, earnestly: "William, never be afraid to say you don't know—if you don't. It will save you much trouble. You think I know a lot; but there are a great many things of which I am ignorant, and I am not ashamed to say it." Long years have gone since the old professor talked with his young friend, says the Baptist Union, but the meaning of the old man grows clearer as the years grow shorter. Only the foolish and ignorant pretend to "know it all." "Professing themselves to be wise, they become fools," said Paul, speaking of the Romans; but that tribe has not passed from the earth. It is only the humble heart that is the teachable heart; he who thinks he knows everything is in a doubly sad way; he is ignorant and does not know it, and his heart is closed to further light.

The business for 1902 on the New York stock exchange, though less than for 1901, was still such as to indicate abnormal activity. In 1901 247,000,000 shares were sold; last year 175,000,000. Of 29 active stocks 96,000,000 shares were sold. In Union Pacific alone 19,500,000 shares changed hands; the entire capital of the road was sold five times over in New York alone! The par value of stock sold came to the total of $17,500,000,000. This is four billions greater than the combined revenue and expenditure of the civilized nations of the earth; it is eight times the value of our foreign commerce. So, allowing for all of what may be called legitimate investment, it would seem that there had been a vast amount of speculation.
