EDITORIAL MENTION.

Certain citizens of New Mexico have named their county "Quay." The Democrats have a new toy in the Littlefield bill. "Everybody filibuster" seems to be made the sentiment of House and Senate.

Even the Anti-anarchy bill is to be made the subject of democratic antagonism and delay.

The new United States cruiser Baltimore is to be fitted with steel furniture throughout.

President Roosevelt is said to have converted Governor Cummings to the "stand pat" tariff policy.

Through a gross misconception of his duty, Senator Morgan is still trying to talk the Panama treaty to death.

The French chamber of deputies has just voted $240,000 to provide wine for the soldiers in the regular army.

Important as is the Aldrich bill to the welfare of the country, the democrats defeat it for party reasons.

We suspect Ex-President Cleveland agrees with all President Roosevelt has said on the subject of large families.

A unanimity of political policy promises to be the outcome of the National Editorial convention in Washington.

George Fred Williams' new party will find no trouble selecting a presidential candidate while George Fred lives.

Sealskin dog blankets made to order are on sale in New York. The cheapest have no handkerchief pocket, and cost $50.

The Anthracite Coal Strike Commission is approaching the conclusion of its labors. Its recommendations are awaited with interest.

Democratic senators might as well make up their minds that if they don't ratify the treaties they will be kept in after school.

Representative DeArmond of Missouri hurled a terrible invective against the action of Congress in the recent contested election case.

J. Pierpont Morgan may be a master of finance but Nelson W. Aldrich is the master of legislation. His word is always law in the United States Senate.

The republican editors of the country were handsomely entertained by Senator Dewey in his Washington home on the occasion of their recent visit to the capitol. A new canard, that the Agricultural Department is trying to produce a breed of featherless fowls is going the round of the press. There is no truth in it.

A United States Fish Commission expert has decided that fish can hear. This may make fishermen more careful of the stories they tell.

Many leaders of the republican party are opposed to tariff revision. They believe it would prove inimical to the interests of the country, would destroy prosperity and precipitate hard times.

It saved His Leg.
 P. A. Danforth of LaGrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For Sores, Wounds, Piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25cts. Sold by L. Taggart, druggist.

DR. FENNER'S KIDNEY and Backache CURE

ST. VITUS' DANCE Fenner, Fredonia, N.Y.

Beechwood.
 Miss Clara Toner has returned home to this place.

Miss Mazzie is still chief cook at Mr. John Lawson's.

Our two Miss Moons spent Sunday at home on North Creek.

Mrs. J. Herbstreit is on the sick list, but glad to state she is improving.

A. W. Mason is driving, now, employing a number of our young men.

We understand that our new neighbors are going to live on Pine street.

Irving Finkler paid his guest another visit and made but a short stay. I wonder why.

If you have any draying or baggage to deliver just phone to R. J. S., 240 B. city line.

Bob, what are you going to do with James this summer? He is too fast for a plow horse.

Mack arrived a little late the other night, but in time enough to get some pie and ice cream.

Miss Olive Quick Shank spent a week at home with George, but has again returned to Emporium.

Mack and Richard claim to be two pretty good eucher players. If you don't think so just come around.

Everybody looks as if they would like to see summer again for these warm days bring them out to sun themselves.

Mrs. J. Young left this morning for the West. There was a large number of her friends at the train to bid her good bye.

We see a large car of household goods getting hauled into one of our houses. That looks like a change in business, Peter.

We are sorry to say Mr. Richard Coleman, who broke his leg does not improve very fast. 82 is too old for broken limbs.

There is going to be a grand affair at the Truman school house on the 28th of March. A school entertainment. Every one welcome.

Mr. John Reid has returned home from Cameron where he almost met his fatal doom in the coal mines by falling rock. John how is your head.

The supper at Kirkpatrick's proved a success, thus making $12.76. Enough to finish paying the pastor off and making a start for the next one.

The ice went out on Saturday last, causing lots of damage, taking out the township bridge west of this place. Mr. Burt Housler was in town attending to the matter on Tuesday.

About a week ago our young men were walking around with their driving shoes, all caked up and wishing for high waters, but now they are running around rattling their teeth wishing for bark peeling, stating that the water is too cold to drive logs.

SIMPLE SIMON.

Find Your Own Affairs.

It is somewhat difficult for some people to mind their own affairs. Somehow or other, they seem ill at ease if their noses are not in other people's business up to the hilt, says the St. Marys Gazette. They are never so happy as when they are munching over the faults and shortcomings of their neighbors. They seize upon a juicy bit of scandal as does a hungry hen-hawk upon a green gosling. They seem supremely blest when they can twist and distort a story or rumor to such an extent that it savors badly and leaves a dark brown taste in the mouth. Their mission seems to be fulfilled whenever they succeed in branding the character and blighting the name of their victims.

There is not a community but that is cursed with a crew of these pestiferous busybodies, and when they set their venomous tongues into action the good citizen has need to tremble. When a poisonous reptile crosses your pathway you have the opportunity to beat it into the dust with a club. No such satisfaction is afforded however, when your life is poisoned by some foul slander, for it is usually a difficult matter to trace the story to its origin. But when this can be done the offenders should be brought to their senses in a manner that will inspire them with a wholesome respect for the name and reputation of their fellowmen.

The many friends of John Blount will be pleased to learn that he has entirely recovered from his attack of rheumatism. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him after the best doctors in the town (Monon, Ind.) has failed to give relief. The prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by L. Taggart.

Why Americans Have Small Families.

Harper's Weekly.
 The great thing that keeps the size of American families down is social and pecuniary ambition. There are a few thrifty parents in the land farmers, miners, mill workers and the like who look upon children as a potential source of income, and raise a good many because their keep costs little, and their labor is valuable. We don't approve of persons of that way of thinking. Our American feeling is that the parents should work for the children, but not the children for the parents, except in cases of special necessity. Almost all of us want our children to be better off than we are ourselves. We would rather have two children and give them what we consider special advantages of nurture and education than have five and be unable to do for all of them what we want done. We are impatient of the common lot. Unless our children can rise above it, we think it a doubtful advantage to have secured them an entry in this world.

Now that is not altogether a bad characteristic. It makes progress to a certain extent, but we carry it too far. We are too prudent, too selfish, for both ourselves and our offspring. It is by no means the children who have the most "advantages" that do best in the world, but those, rather, who are born with the best brains and bodies, and are hardest prodded by the spur of necessity. For the sake of pampering two children we forfeit the chance of drawing a great prize among the three others that we might have and don't.

"Editing a Newspaper."
 An Indian Territory editor very truthfully says: "Editing a newspaper is a pleasant business—if you can stand it. If it contains many advertisements a subscriber complains that they take up too much space. If there is lack of advertising, it is unpopular and the people won't have it."

"If we attend church regularly, they say we go for effect. If we stay away from church, they say we are monstrously heathenish."

"If we accept an invitation to a wedding, they say we are only invited to write it up."

"If we go to the opera house, they say we go on free tickets."

"If we are seen upon the streets too often, they say we neglect our business. If we avoid going on the street, they say we don't hustle around after the news."

"If we publish a man who has brought disgrace upon his family, the friends of the family never forgive us. If we, out of goodness of heart, decline to say anything on the subject, the man's enemies are disappointed and we are branded as white-livered cowards."

How often you hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. It always cures and is pleasant to take. Sold by L. Taggart.

The man who says there is no truth in the world has mistaken a mirror for the universe.

Wakeful Children.
 For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N. Tenth St., Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it very hard for her parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble, and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by L. Taggart.

Everything comes to the man who waits—and keeps on walking.

If it's a bilious attack, take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and a quick recovery is certain. For sale by L. Taggart.

The losses of childhood are the gains of manhood.

READ IT THROUGH.
 'Twould Spoil This Story to Tell It in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale." Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon of Melfa Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try and be convinced as I was." For sale by L. Taggart.

The Place to Buy Cheap

Get Children Started Right

Measles, scarlet fever, mumps and whooping cough are universally prevalent.

With all these, the disease itself is often trivial, but the after effects are very serious.

Close observers say that one-half the people suffer from eye trouble (result of measles), or bronchial, ear, or kidney trouble (result of other diseases of childhood).

Now a child in robust health will throw off these diseases. A weak ailing child will probably suffer all its life.

We have just the medicine for puny, ailing children. It is Vinol. It is pleasant to take, it is free from dangerous drugs, it is nourishing and gently tonic, it helps the food to digest and gives strength.

It has been used in this town with great success when children were slow in getting over whooping cough and measles.

It seems to give them a start, and they become bright and healthy. Used with Vinolax, the bowel regulator, it is safe and sure, both for ailing children and burdened mothers. Take home a bottle on our guarantee of money back if it's not good. Don't let your little ones remain weak and ailing.
