ROOSEVELT'S NEW AIDS.

Execution of Theories Regarding the Regulation of the So-called Trusts.

The choice of George B. Cortelyou to be secretary of the new department of commerce and labor, and of Hon. James R. Garfield to be chief of the bureau of corporations in that department, means more than the selection of two young, aggressive, and well-equipped men to have charge of the important work that will be assigned to them under the provisions of the law creating the new department.

It means, says the Cleveland Leader, that the president is determined to put into execution the theories he has enunciated in his messages and other public utterances concerning the regulation of the so-called trusts. It is generally conceded that Messrs. Cortelyou and Garfield are admirably qualified for the discharge of the duties they are to assume.

These are all very favorable omens for Parker. It is said that President Roosevelt has expressed a desire to see Parker nominated. Possibly the president thinks he could beat Parker easier than he could some of the other men whose names have been coupled with the democratic candidacy.

Parker would be just as strong as his party, and no stronger. There is no good reason to suppose that the democracy will be able to come nearer victory in 1904 than it did in 1896.

Heretofore Mr. Roosevelt has adhered very closely to the politics favored by his predecessor. Thus far he has carried forward the work that was inaugurated by President McKinley, and in that way he has won the confidence and support of all the late president's friends.

The talk about a deal between the republican national committee and the Mormon leaders, whereby Utah is to go republican hereafter, is, of course, a myth. The republicans carried Utah at the outset of that community's life as a state, before anybody thought of a deal.

Editor Bryan continues to talk of his free silver "principles." Editor Bryan takes himself too seriously.

"It is too early," says W. J. Bryan, "to discuss presidential possibilities," but that does not deter him from denouncing presidential impossibilities.

There are rumors that the ladrones or bandits in the Philippines are organizing for an uprising. What American anti-imperialist is encouraging these criminals?—Troy Times.

Free traders who declared that the removal of the duty on foreign coal would bring the fuel monopoly to terms are at a loss for something to say next.

Mr. Bryan does not fill so much space in the columns of the democratic papers as he did four or six years ago, but his suggestion relative to organizing Kansas City platform clubs may be worth the attention of the reorganizers.

Antitrust laws have been enacted, and the administration is satisfied with what has been done thus far, according to Attorney General Knox.

It is rumored that David Bennett Hill has not abandoned the hope that he may be the democratic candidate for president, now that Mr. Bryan is out.

THE CHANCES OF PARKER.

Status of the Most Prominent Figure Now Posing for the Democratic Leadership.

For the moment, at least, Judge Alton B. Parker is in the lead of all the other persons who have been mentioned in connection with the democratic nomination for president in 1904.

These are all very favorable omens for Parker. It is said that President Roosevelt has expressed a desire to see Parker nominated. Possibly the president thinks he could beat Parker easier than he could some of the other men whose names have been coupled with the democratic candidacy.

Parker would be just as strong as his party, and no stronger. There is no good reason to suppose that the democracy will be able to come nearer victory in 1904 than it did in 1896.

THE SAME OLD POLICY.

Democratic Congressmen Still Pursuing Their Dog-in-the-Manger Tactics.

When a citizen of the United States is elected to represent a certain number of his fellow citizens in the national legislature, he is charged with the duty of taking part in the enactment of laws.

Unfortunately it is possible, under the rules of parliamentary practice, for a few men to constitute themselves an obstacle in the way of legislation to the nature of which they have no objection, but which they desire to defeat because the majority which is politically opposed to them desires to put it through.

How the democratic minority in the house of representatives can reconcile its present attitude with a proper sense of duty to the people is one of those things which "no fellow can find out."

So in the senate, Senator Morgan having become incapacitated, through illness, to continue his task of talking the Panama canal treaty to death, two of his democratic colleagues have announced their intention to continue it in his stead, under protection of "senatorial courtesy."

Thus the democrats in the national legislature stand before the people as champions of their party's old policy of obstruction—obstruction for obstruction's sake, obstruction that is purely partisan, obstruction that utterly disregards public interests.

The bill to pension ex-slaves seems to trouble democrats in congress, not because it will ever become a law, but because it will be used by rebels to get money from the ignorant ex-slaves.

Col. Bryan again announces that he will not take another nomination for the presidency. And he is going to make the next democratic nomination so worthless that nobody will want it.

PROSPERITY IN CANADA.

The Farmer in Western Canada Achieves Wonderful Success.

One of the first things that the man who wishes to change his residence endeavors to find out is where he may go and succeed. It need be a matter of little doubt or indecision now. During the past four or five years the development of Western Canada has been so rapid, and the conditions of life there so widely known, that upwards of 100,000 Americans have taken up their homes there, and the experience of these people is that they are thoroughly satisfied with their choice of home.

The methods of farming there are similar to those adopted in the United States, but the operations are simpler, the yield of grain greater, and the profits more satisfactory. Ranching is carried on with lots of success. Mixed farming is always profitable, while the results in grain-raising are as certain as splendid soil, excellent climate and lots of sunlight can give.

A good, intelligent farmer, named Mears, John Mears, to be exact—left Cavalier County, North Dakota, two years ago, and followed the thousands who had already gone to Canada. He had twenty-five years' experience in Minnesota, in buying grain, including flax. But in all his experience he never saw a district so well suited to the growth of flax as Western Canada.

The financial results of Mr. Mears' operations in a single season are as follows: Wheat, 3,000 bushels, 1 hard at 57 1/2c, $1,725.00, 2,650 bushels, 1 Northern at 54c, $1,437.20; oats, 1,750 bushels, at 35c, $612.50. Speltz, 154 bushels at 75c, $115.50. Flax, 324 bushels, at $2, $648. Total, $4,598.20.—A return of more than $4,500 from a little over 250 acres, an average of $18 per acre—is surely testimony sufficiently strong to satisfy the most incredulous as to the money to be made out of the soil of the Canadian West.

A number of Americans who have chosen Western Canada as a home had the idea that a man enjoyed less freedom in Canada, but they soon found their mistake, and say the laws of Canada are the most liberal in the world, and such as prevent the litigation which breeds so much bad feeling between people in the United States and costs them so dear in lawyers' fees.

The Government has established Agencies at St. Paul, Minn.; Omaha, Neb.; Kansas City, Mo.; Chicago, Ill.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Wausau, Wis.; Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie, and Marquette, Mich.; Toledo, Ohio; Watertown, S. Dakota; Grand Forks, N. Dakota; and Great Falls, Montana; and the suggestion is made that by addressing any of these, who are the authorized agents of the Government, it will be to the advantage of the reader, who will be given the fullest and most authentic information regarding the results of mixed farming, dairying, ranching and grain-raising, and also supply information as to freight and passenger rates, etc.

"Perhaps," ventured the unsuccessful contributor, "you didn't consider my little ode true to life." "Oh, it was true enough," replied the editor. "I assure you there was more truth than poetry in what you said."

PRESIDENT FULLER OF THE JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION

Threatened With Loss of Hearing, Smell and Sight From the Ravages of Catarrh.

Pe-ru-na Cured Him.

"I Feel Like a Young Man Again."

Mr. J. W. Fuller.

A GREAT many remedies to temporarily relieve catarrh have been devised from time to time, such as sprays, snuffs, creams and other local applications, but, as a rule, the medical profession has little or no enthusiasm in the treatment of catarrh.

It is generally pronounced by them to be incurable. It therefore created a great sensation in medical circles when Dr. Hartman announced that he had devised a compound which would cure catarrh permanently.

The remedy was named Peruna and in a short time became known to thousands of catarrh sufferers north, south, east and west.

Letters testifying to the fact that Peruna is a radical cure for catarrh began to pour in from all directions. Thousands of such letters are on file in the office of The Peruna Medicine Co. Rev. E. Stubenvoll, Pella, Wis., writes: "I feel obliged to extend you my personal thanks for my complete restoration. All through the winter I suffered from throat and lung trouble, but recovered my entire health by the use of your excellent remedy, Peruna."

The following letter from a prominent gentleman of Los Angeles, is a case in point: Mr. J. W. Fuller, President of the Jewelers' Association of Los Angeles, Cal., has been in business in that city for seventeen years out of the forty-five that he has been engaged in business.

Concerning his experience with Peruna he says: "I was troubled with catarrh of the head for many years. It affected my sense of smell, hearing and sight. I spent lots of money with doctors and the use of local applications to relieve me but to no purpose, until my attention was called to the wonderful effects of Peruna."

"I must say that I met with surprising and satisfactory results. Peruna took hold of the complaint and drove it entirely out of my system. Although well along toward allotted span of man's life, I feel like a young man again."

Such letters as the above are not used for publication except by the written permission of the writer. A pamphlet filled with such letters will be sent to any address free. This book should be read by all who doubt the curability of catarrh.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
