DEATH'S DOINGS.

WILLIAMS. Benjamin Williams, of Emporium, aged 57, died at the hospital shortly before noon Monday, says Williamsport Bulletin.

KRINER. Ex-Sheriff John W. Kriner was called to Philadelphia on Monday to attend the funeral of his brother, Reuben Kriner, who was a contractor and builder. He resided in Emporium many years ago and made many friends here. He was a very elegant gentleman.

SEEGE. The death, from apoplexy, last Tuesday morning, of Mr. OLIVER SEEGE, is a terrible shock to his family. He was employed as a driver by Mr. L. K. Huntington and on Monday, the day's work being done, was at the stable taking care of the team, when he suddenly became blind and helpless. His little son, who was with him, alarmed the family, who with the assistance of the neighbors, carried him to his home, where he lingered until Tuesday morning, when the end came. Mr. Segee was a hard working, industrious man—held in high esteem by the community and toward his family was an affectionate husband and father. He is survived by a widow and six children, the youngest of whom is two and-a-half years. His age was 52 years. Impressive funeral services will be held at his late home on Sixth street, Thursday afternoon, by the Rev. O. S. Metzler, of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

ZIMMITT. MICHAEL ZIMMITT, aged 63 years, who was fatally injured June 17th, by falling from a scaffold at Frank Shives' new residence, died at his residence on Plank Road Hollow, Tuesday afternoon, after three weeks' suffering. All that medical skill and careful nursing could do was cheerfully rendered but all to no avail. His back was broken and all the heretofore industrious citizen and kind husband and parent could do was to patiently await the silent summons. He was conscious almost to the last moment and passed to the other side. Mr. Zimmitt came to Emporium about 23 years ago and entered the employ of Contractor J. W. Kriner as carpenter and up to the hour of his unfortunate accident, continued in his employ, faithfully fulfilling all work assigned to him. That he should take the fatal step will never be explained, after working on the largest buildings in town and in the most perilous places. The funeral took place this morning at nine o'clock at St. Mark's Catholic Church and was very largely attended by our citizens, all of whom respected the deceased. Mr. Zimmitt leaves a wife, four daughters, two sons, two sisters and two brothers to mourn his death, viz: Mrs. Geo. Eckstein, Mrs. Joseph Kinsler, Misses Lizzie and Katie Zimmitt, also Michael, Jr., and Joseph. In addition to the immediate members there are two sisters, Mrs. R. Seger, Emporium, and Mrs. Jos. Meyer, Erie, Pa., also two brothers, who reside in the west. The PRESS as well as our citizens generally, deeply sympathize with the afflicted family in this hour of terrible sorrow.

A Cowboy Funeral. Lee Marshall, of San Antonio, Texas, a cowboy employed by the Yonger & James Wild West shows, was killed at DuBois on Tuesday afternoon last while in the act of riding a wild horse. The horse was a very vicious animal and it reared and fell backward on the rider, the horn of the saddle striking him in the stomach and injuring him so seriously that he died some two hours afterward. The remains were brought to Ridgway and placed in the hands of Dearolph, Warney & Co., for burial. A fine casket was purchased and about fifty dollars' worth of flowers to give the poor man a nice funeral. After the show in the afternoon, the show people turned out en masse and marched to the undertaking rooms of Dearolph, Warney & Co., and then followed the remains to Pine Grove Cemetery, where a very nice funeral was conducted by Rev. E. DeGeller, D. D., who himself was a resident of Texas for many years. After the regular burial service, Dr. DeGeller made a very nice address, in which he spoke of the good traits of the cowboys of the wild west. The deceased was not married and was but twenty-seven years old. Every effort was made to find the parents of the young man by telegraph, but no answer came and so he was buried here. The remains were nicely embalmed, and his relatives can lift the remains and take them home later if they desire to do so. The liberality and kindness with which the proprietors of the show provided for the funeral of this unfortunate young man is very much to their credit. Though no relative was near, it was a sad funeral and there were tears in the eyes of many of the show people. One poor colored man wept so loud that he fled from the grave and the assembly until he could control his feelings.—Ridgway Advocate.

Notes From Howardville. Theo. Newton, wife and child, spent Monday in Buffalo.

On Friday the tire ran off the "hog" at the new mill and shut the mill down for the afternoon.

Everybody are welcome at the "shoot" held every Wednesday evening, near the Iron Works.

Miss Lily Card, of Moore Hill, is staying with E. L. Mason's family until the fall term of school opens.

The proudest man in town is Mr. Dalrymple, better known as "Dell." Cause: He is wearing the sharp-shooting badge of the Emporium Gun Club, this week.

Mr. Connie Newton, of the Pennsy, has a two weeks' vacation, which he is spending in Meadville, Pittsburgh and Beaver Falls. Just before leaving he had the misfortune to lose his pocket-book, containing forty-one dollars.

A son of Wm. Swartz, a camp cook, fell from the dock at the new mill Monday, sustaining a severe shaking up and spraining one wrist. It is a drop of more than 12 feet where he fell and it is surprising that he was not more seriously injured.

Silas Gardner has sold over $15.00 worth of ginseng, which is doing well for so early in the season. Persons who have never seen this plant in growing season may avail themselves of the opportunity by calling at the residence of Daniel Downey, cor. Vine and Fifth streets.

Mr. Henry Auchu, spent Sunday in Buffalo, looking up the manufactories and lots between there and Niagara Falls, with a view to investing in lots at the latter place. It is very interesting to hear Mr. Auchu tell of the power plants and dynamos, factories and machinery. It is well worth one's time to hear him explain what he saw on this trip.

The order forbidding riding on the side walks makes it very inconvenient to the employees at the new mill, as some of them live at least a mile-and-a-half from the mill, and in case of muddy roads such employees must get up at 4:30 a. m. in order to be at the mill in time to begin work at six o'clock. The west end of Sixth street is simply impassible for a wheel most of the time and some of the time not fit for lumber wagons. It overflows with water in wet seasons, consequently is left full of rubbish. Then, that little hill at the corporation limits, is a mass of loose stones, making it hard to ride down, and almost impossible to ride up. If people must ride in the streets these two places, at least, ought to be repaired. If the Borough cannot do it, tax each bicycle one dollar a year and use the money to cinder a path along Fourth street and up to the top of the hill. The township road is much better, as there is a path on which to ride, but the trouble is to get out of town. This dollar a year plan would soon build a good path from the Junction to the mill. Some towns license wheels to ride on the walks, under certain conditions, at a fee for the privilege. If one of the stipulated rules is broken the license of the offender is null and void for that year. This works well, but we prefer the cinder path expressly for wheels. In several counties in New York State, a wheel is taxed in order to even ride the roads and the money is used to build walks and paths and has been in effect so long that it is a pleasure to ride a wheel in those counties. Let us hear from someone else in regard to this matter, either to license the wheels to use the walks, or build paths.

The August number of the Woman's Home Companion begins with a keen article by William Allen White, on "The Typical American Girl." There is a wealth of short stories by such writers as Eden Phillpotts, W. D. Alden, Gelett Burgess, Richard Stillman Powell, Elliott Flower and Frederick M. Smith. "The Philanthropia Work of the Roman Catholic church" is treated of by the Rev. John Talbot Smith. The departments are given over to summer matter. Mrs. Herriek tells how to give a high tea; the fashions are devoted to the vacation girl, and the editor has a department of reviews of books for summer reading. Altogether this is especially suited for summer holidays. Published by The Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

The light familiarity is worse than a dead formality.

Brutally Tortured. A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobiek of Colusa, Calif., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by L. Taggart Druggist.
