Very Encouraging

The good people of Beechwood are rallying about their new pastor, the house at Bellefonte last Thursday, Rev. R. J. Knox. The interior of the church has been made very inviting through the kindness of Mrs. Nyhart, a Presbyterian lady, who worships with these people, she having furnished a handsome carpet for the pulpit and entire front of the church back to the second pew. Other improvements is very much encouraged by the interpeople. He hopes to organize a Sunday School in the near future. One member was taken in at the services on Sunday evening, and two more are to be taken in two weeks later.

An Object of Contempt.

The street loafer is an object of contempt everywhere. He has no social standing anywhere. His influence, if he is so fortunate as to have any, is always in the wrong direction. No one has ever found out what he is good for except that of being in everybody's way. He is considered a common nuisance for which no one has found a successful remedy. No successful business man will employ any one whom they see hanging around on the street corners. The boy who can find nothing to do but loaf around the streets would not be of very great value to his employer. When you have nothing else to do you should spend your time in trying to learn something that will be a benefit instead of spending it in closely when you are not at work as you are when you are. Business men are on the lookout for boys of energy and thrift. A position is always ready for this kind of a boy. A street loafer does not want to work and could not get a position if he wanted it. "Loafer" is the only proper term for a being of this kind. He cannot be termed a boy, for a real boy cannot be idle. He cannot be called a man, for there is not a trace of manliness about the habit; so it is nothing but ignorant, idle, useless, abominable "loafer."

RIDGWAY WOMAN ASSAULTED.

Attacked in Woods While She Picked Berries.

RIDGWAY, Pa., August 10.-Fully two hundred men quit work this afternoon at the ringing of the bell in the Court House and volunteered to search the woods and country round for a vi!lain who outraged Miss Singer, a young lady aged about twenty years.

The tragedy occured almost within sight of town. The young lady was picking berries at the time. A sister who accompanied her missed her for a few minutes, and receiving no reply to her calls started in search, finding her sister bound and gagged, her body terribly bruised and scarcely a stitch of clothing left on her body.

Large numbers of men armed with guns and revolvers are looking for the brute, who is described as being of medium build, smooth face, two gold filled teeth in front and dressed in a plaid suit.

Here to Stay.

The following we clip from the Mt Jewett Hearld and it will be seen that the tanning business, is like every other, changed to meet the new conditions, and a tannery may be figured as stable and long lived:

Instead of great piles of bark surrounding a tannery at present, as was formerly the case, and a side track holding many cars of bark fresh from the tree, as in days of yore there is to be seen a much smaller store of bark, and in place of the long line of cars there will be cheaved as contract for there will be observed one or two of an entirely different pattern. The car that to-day supplies the tannery with the required material for tanning hides closely resembles those in which oil is transported, having a tank containing thousands of gallons of extract taken from both bark and wood of different

On the siding of the Mt. Jewett On the siding of the Mt. Jewett Tanning company, there at present stands one of these cars, No 444, and stamped as the property of the Kistler, Lesh & Co., who are, in reality, the Mt. Jewett Tanning Co. This car recently arrived in Mt. Jewett containing 57,950 pounds of the extract of chestnut oak bark. While the extract comes in a liquid form it is reckoned by pounds. This is one of the peculiarities of the business with which we have nothing to do at present. As 200 have nothing to do at present. As 200 pounds of this extract is the equivalent of 2,000 pounds, or one cord, as bark is now reckoned—the long ton of 2,240 pounds having been discarded within the last few years—this single car represents 289 cords of bark or between 24 and 25 car loads. Or to put it in dollars and cents at a rate of $9.00 per cord, the present price of bark delivered, $2,601.

"Sufficient of the extract is used bark delivered, $2,601.

"Sufficient of the extract is used daily to offset 11 cords of bark, or about one half the amount required by the plant. In addition to this it has left the firm independent of the local bark supply, and assures the life of the plant for such period as the extract may be obtained, and as it is now made from a number of different trees and plants which grow throughout and plants which grow throughout the world, in addition to hemlock, oak and other barks, the business can said to be a continuous one.

State Gets Fish Hatchery Site.

At a public meeting in the court Judge John G. Love, representing the citizens of Centre county, publicly presented to State Fish Commissioner W. E. Meehan, representing the Commonwealth, the deeds for the land donated as a site for a State fish hatchery.

The speech of presentation by Judge Love, was responded to by Commisare under consideration, and the pastor sioner Meehan, who announced that the new hatchery would be called the est manifested on the part of the young | Bellefonte Hatchery. After the public meeting the commission and the local reception committee were driven to the site of the new hatchery, which is located about four miles from Bellefonte, near Pleasant Gap station, and along the line of the Lewisburg and Tyrone Railway. There are fifteen acres in the plot and the hatchery, which will be built at once, will be the largest in the State.

May Have Two Murder Cases. It looks as though Potter county would have two murder cases on her hands, Byron McNess who was shot by Ebert Pierce, near Savoy, on Thursdey, died Friday. About 1.30 o'clock Saturday morning John Berdamier was stabbed twice in the breast, and it is feared he will die The man who did the stabbing escaped.

Berdamier was talking with James Wade, in East Coudersport. They were standing alongside a building, about ten feet from the sidewalk when a man-said to be a stranger to bothidleness. You are watched just as rushed up and without a word, stabbed Berdamier twice in the breast before he could defend himself. The man then ran away.

One of the thrusts pierced Berda mier's lung, and the doctors say that it will be remarkable if he recovers. Berdamier is about twenty-three years of Attempted Murder.

Esther Murphy, a pretty waiter at the Allegheny house, at Clearfield, last Monday morning, was shot and dangerously wounded by a young man named Wainwright, of Benezette, Elk county, in the lobby of the hotel.

Wainwright carried an insulting note to the girl, it is alleged, and she struck He was ordered from the house, but returned and awaited an opportunity to see the girl.

After shooting Miss Murphy Wainwright escaped through the front door, closely pursued by a crowd of men-He was captured after a spirited and exciting case and taken to jail.

On his person were found two revolvers, some poison, three rings, five purses and $7.99. He was porter at the house.

THE TREATING HABIT.

It Costs its Victims Many a Dollar and Many a Pang.

Is it not a fact that men really spend in treating, amounts that they would hesitate to give away no matter how deserving the charity? It is a trait of human character that comes through this all absorbing disposition to "hold your end up" when with a friend. Hundreds of men take thousands of drinks that they do not want, and other hundreds pay for thousands that are not desired.

Two men meet, and one says: "Mighty glad to see you, let's have something." Neither generally needs or even wants a drink. But the man who offers it wants to show that he is generous. He takes this method of proving that he is glad to meet his friend. The friend after he has taken the drink he did not want to prove saloon, taking a drink and paying for it and for no others, if adopted in America, would prove a blessing. The American custom of treating is decidedly a curse. What we do for friendship's sake costs us many a dollar and many a pang.—Springfield Union.

A Relic of The Accident.

silver watch which belonged to one of the ill-fated crew, which went through the Lycoming creek bridge with the oyster train on that stormy Sunday morn-Was found in the sand just below the bridge Tuesday.

The fatal accident of December 15, 1901 when the oyster train on the Philadelphia and Eric Railroad ran through the Lycoming creek bridge, carrying down with it the engineer, fireman and a brakeman to death in the raging muddy waters of the ereek, was brought vividly back in the memory of the people of Williamsport yesterday by the finding of a watch which had belonged to one of the unfortunate men, the body of one of whom has never been recovered.

The watch is a heavy open faced time piece. The ring by which the watch chain was attached is gone and the water has entirely destroyed the mainspring In the back of the case is a photograph but long exposure has faded it out so that it is no longer of any value as a means of identification.

The watch was found by some young men who were digging in the sand for lamprey cels, and is now in the possession of James A. Moyer, 487 Hepburn street.

For a year and a half the watch has been buried under the sands of the creek before being found and brought to the surface for identification.

The report that the President refused to permit a picnic of the poor children on the White House grounds because colored children had been excluded when the invitations were sent out is another newspaper "fake." The real reason is that the "little dears" do nearly a thousand dollars damage every Easter Monday, when they are permitted to roll eggs on the White House Lawn, and the officers at the White House thought one such pienie a year was enough.

A Sensible Mayor,

Mayor Kennedy, of Butler is a broad minded and sensible man. When peti-The hail storm on Thursday afternoon tioned by the Ministerial Association of that growing city to enforce the closing day he replied in the following spirited and sane manner.

"Please be consistent. Why ask the dispenser of soda water or a toby to relinquish his trade, while the Mayor of Greater Butler keeps open house with a fine lot of horses at the service of the public seven days a week? Why ask the man with big rent on Main street, who has a hard enough time getting along, to cut down his sales and leave the Standard Steel Car Company alone? Why is supplying means to quench the public thirst not a matter of public good when the Butler street railway lines are ready to take you to the park to cool?

There are also within the borough limits oil men working more than 12 hours a day who hardly know what Sunday is or when it comes, and yet some oil magnates are called philanthropists.

As Mayor I will enforce the laws in existance, but will not make new ones that will lead the outside world to think I am a fossil or beloug to a past generation. If action must be taken on the Sunday question, and that action the closing of the soda water stores, the Ministerial Association is referred to the District Attorney for aid in the cause."

No Apology.

"Be men," said the doctor to his class of bright eyed students, "strong, self controlled, manly men. Build your character up to full measure, make it such that others can rely upon it and not be disappointed. Don't be apologies for men, nor men that need apologizing for. Did you ever notice how many people there are for whom their friends are continually having to make excuses?' "That's his way; we always have to make allowance for that." 'He is so quick tempered that it often makes him unreasonable, but he is good hearted down under it all.' 'You can count on him if you take him in the right mood' and so on. I charge you, boys, to be masters of your moods, your tempers and your ways. Never let them get so strong that they shall represent you to the world, that you shall be known by them rather than by anything else that may be in you. No one has a right to do business on the patience of his friends, or to expect those around him to excuse the faults and weaknesses he can remedy what the world wants is the man who has honestly made the best of himself and who needs no apology.'

Fear of Smallpox Epidemic.

The health authorities of Pennsylvania fear a general epidemic of smallpox as soon as the cool weather of autumn sets in, and the sanitary officers in all the towns and cities are being quietly urged to exert every effort to prevent the disease gaining a foothold in their respective communities. Smallpox is slowly but surely gaining a foothold in many cities of the state, but the fact is kept secret by the authorities and the press of the communities where the disease exists. Philadelphia last week there were ten deaths from the contagion.
