EDITORIAL MENTION.

President Roosevelt is going to investigate the Dawes Commission and no guilty man will escape.

The postoffice investigation promises to reach a conclusion and go out with a blaze of indictments.

Too bad Mr. Bryan cannot have his sail area measured. It would doubtless reduce his time allowance.

There were two points on which Gladstone and Salisbury always agreed. Both were High Churchmen and both hated tobacco.

The President's earnest insistence for fair play throughout the government service will insure the support of the American people.

The effort to injure the administration by besmerching the reputation of Secretary Hitchcock promises to prove a boomerang for the newspapers that attempted it.

In the course of a very dull political season, the only sound to break the stillness is the strident voice of Farmer Bryan, "eliminating" another of his party's possible candidates.

The twenty-six year old man who sought entrance at Annapolis by giving his age as eighteen, should have tried a young ladies' seminary instead of a naval academy.

An American naval officer reports from Hong Kong that the only naval vessels in Asiatic waters which are not fitted with wireless telegraphy apparatus are the American and the Chinese ships.

The report that the President was conducting an investigation of the relations between union and non-union labor in all the executive departments indicates his determination to treat all laborers with equal fairness.

Before leaving for Europe, Secretary Root announced that every important problem which would come up for settlement before the first of January, by the War Department, save emergencies problems, had been disposed of.

The inclusion of the cost of repairing the injury to the Massachusetts in the expense of the Oyster Bay naval review argues grave ignorance on the part of many editors. The Massachusetts was injured going into Bar Harbor, not when starting for Oyster Bay.

The bookbinders' union has filed its charges against William Miller, their expelled member who was reinstated by order of the President. The burthen of the charges is that Miller was illegally married some twenty-five years ago and, although he has lived happily with his wife ever since, it is claimed that he cannot therefore properly bind books. As Hamlet sayeth, "treat a man according to his deserts and who would escape hanging," and as Kepling sayeth, "we are all of us liars, are half of us thieves and the rest are as rank as can be."

For Sale Cheap.

A quantity of second-hand window sash, casing and blinds complete. A number of doors and casings, all in good order.

Also a counter, drawers, shelving, show case, stove front, etc. Five barrels of mortar ready for use. Any one needing anything in this line will find it greatly to their interest to call on me.

The Democrats of This State.

This authoritative statement is made that the Democratic Bosses of Pennsylvania—there are such things, it seems—have decided upon the ticket which the State convention will nominate next week, says the Philadelphia Press. Nobody doubts that the selections thus made will be promptly ratified by the convention.

What more concerns the Democracy of Pennsylvania however, than the ticket it will nominate is its attitude respecting the great struggle now going on in the party to determine which way it will head in the coming presidential campaign. The Democrats of the State cannot hope to elect any of their candidates, but as in other States, such as Iowa, where the party is in the minority, they can have an influential share in determining what the party policy shall be. They can take a recognized place in the party councils of the nation, or they can stand aside timidly and supinely and let other States determine while they tag tamenly along.

Two State conventions have acted upon the matter this week. It was undoubtedly expected that Nebraska, being Bryan's State, would go back unequivocally to the Kansas City platform, and that is what it has done. In Ohio the situation appeared for a time rather different, but as Mayor Tom Johnson secured control of the convention and nominated himself for Governor the Kansas City platform and unlimited Bryanism have been endorsed. It is consistent with what the party in that State has been for a generation. Whatever may be said as to its wisdom, the Democracy of Ohio has never been wanting in the courage necessary to declare itself.

The Pennsylvania Democrats cannot ignore the issue now stirring the party in all directions without declaring to the whole country that they are lacking either in convictions or courage. They cannot deceive Bryan and that wing of the party he represents by silence. On all occasions the man who has been twice named as the party's presidential candidate has insisted that there shall be no departure from the Kansas City platform. On the other hand a mere failure to indorse that platform will not satisfy that element which is seeking to reorganize the party, and abandon the Populistic platforms that have been so disastrous.

Anything but a frank and unmistakable declaration on one side or the other is certain to invite the contempt of Democrats of other States, no matter to which wing of the party they belong. If the Democratic bosses of the State want to be leaders they have the chance open to them.

Letter to S. J. Hackett.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: We suspect you'd like the tale, how a woman beat two hardware dealers in Girard, Pa.

We tried our best to get those men to sell Devco lead and zinc in that bright town; and failed. Reluctantly took Mrs. E. R. Bowman, druggist.

They said they couldn't sell paint for more than $1.25 a gallon. Mrs. Bowman can. She has sold about all the paint, that has been sold there since.

She knew Devco; had sold our artists' materials. Had some sense and force, besides; she easily learned that cheap is dear in paint, and told the people.

Mr. Burt Young bought a gallon Devco for rooms that had always taken a gallon; had half left.

Mr. E. H. Hiler, jeweler, painted Devco, and says it goes futher—no particulars.

Mr. John Hanna, grocer, thought it expensive before he bought it; brought back nearly half of his paint, and said it was the cheapest job he ever had.

Mrs. Bowman reports universal satisfaction. So much for a cheap-paint town with a bright woman in it.

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVCO & Co.

Ten Thousand Churches

In the United States have used the Longman & Martinez Pure Paints.

Every Church will be given a liberal quantity whenever they paint.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linseed oil (worth 60 cents) which you do when you buy thin paint in a can with a paint label on it.

8 & 6 make 14, therefore when you want fourteen gallons of paint, buy only eight gallons of L. & M., and mix six gallons of pure linseed oil with it.

You need only four gallons of L. & M. Paint, and three gallons of Oil mixed therewith to paint a go. sized house.

Houses painted with these paints never grow shabby, even after 18 years.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mr. John Hamlett, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind." THE CHAMPION
MIXED PAINT

Sold by L. TAGGART has no superior.

Fourteen years ago I painted my house with these paints and am now, for the first time since, repainting it. H. L. Smith, the painter, says he never knew of a house in better condition for painting after having stood so long.

A gentleman, whose name I will not mention, living in our town, painted his house thirteen years ago, with these paints and he has engaged some painters to repaint, saying that he would have no other.

Dr. Heilman will also testify as to the merits of these paints. County jail painted four years ago. John Lind's two houses painted two years ago and many others, all speak for the virtue and staying qualities of these paints, and is better evidence than any man's word. Look at them; then buy the Champion paints and paint your house and be happy.

Also paper your house with the elegant wall paper at Taggart's and be doubly happy.
