EDITORIAL MENTION.

Senator Gorman may yet be known as the Jim Crow candidate for the presidency.

Many Southerners will not join their state militia for fear that they might some day be forced to serve under a negro officer.

About 3,000 witnesses and 50 lawyers will take part in the coming trial of those who participated in the massacres of the Jews at Kichineff.

The President is much pleased with the success of the recent army maneuvers and will recommend to Congress liberal appropriations for their continuance.

Three New York papers, the American, the Journal and the Morgan Journal are booming Randolph Hearst for the presidency.

If Delegate Prince Kalanianacle visits Queen Liliuokalani, it is hoped the person who makes the introduction will have a successful tuck with the names.

A New York paper safely declares that if the right candidate is nominated on the right platform and gets the right number of votes, the democratic party may win next year.

Several days ago the House of Representatives held a five minutes session. After prayer by the chaplain and the reading of the journal a motion to adjourn was carried.

W. J. Bryan has sailed for Europe. His last words were a parting shot at former President Cleveland, who "made the White House a rendezvous of syndicates and exploiters."

All the land held by the religious orders in the Philippines will probably be bought by our government for $6,000,000. This will put an end to one of the most aggravating questions concerning the islands.

Some of the leading agrarian papers of Germany have started an agitation against that country taking part in the St. Louis Exposition. Their hostility to America is due to the fact that we do not permit them to send their products here free of duty.

According to the report of the Adjutant General, the regular army now consists of 55,500 men, 3,681 officers. The united strength of the State militias amounts to 116,542 men. 14,667 regular troops are now stationed in the Philippines.

A colored barber at the national capital said business had been bad ever since the Cleveland administration and that he hoped for a democratic administration next year. When asked to explain, he said, "The democrats don't shave themselves."

Ernest Graigwell of Brooklyn, the first negro immigrant inspector to be sent to Ellis Island, arrived at his new post carrying his own lunch, in case his white companions should object to his eating in the restaurant. They said that they had not the slightest objection, however, and now Graigwell takes luncheon with the rest of the inspectors.

President Marrovin, of Columbia, says we shall have a Boer War on our hands. He has not yet threatened to "stagger humanity."

Under women's suffrage Carrie Nation would be the logical candidate for the presidential nomination of the prohibitionists.

Bryan says "The people do not know Tom Johnson." They know that he is a Bryanite and that is sufficient for them to decide which way to vote.

In granting reciprocity to Cuba and in negotiating a canal treaty with the new republic of Panama, the republican policy met with such favor with the public that the democrats do not dare oppose it.

The bigoted attack on Senator Reed Smoot, by the W. C. T. U. and other feminine organizations, is an indication of the kind of political questions which would be forced upon the country if women were allowed to vote.

The new Panama minister has received many applications for commissions in the Panamese army. These soldiers of fortune seem to forget that the days of fighting on the Isthmus are over. They might have better luck if they applied to Colombia, as that country threatens to raise an army of 100,000 men to invade Panama.

John Sharp Williams, the democratic leader of the House of Representatives, says that tariff reform should be the issue of the next campaign; Gorman favors the race question; Hearst declares for "Democracy Labor's ally; and Bryan insists on the Kansas City platform and says that free silver is not dead. The prospects of a united Democracy are not bright.

OPERATOR'S SLAYER BOLDLY ROBS AGAIN.

Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 24 - The whole country is aflame with excitement again to-night over a desperate robbery and murderous assault made on Miller Vincent Sharp, at Curtin, a village on the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad, twelve miles west of Brown's tower, where operator William Clendenen was murdered.

The robbery was committed by a man answering the description of the fellow who was seen in Brown's tower, and a special train bearing a corps of detectives has been sent to the scene.

WIELDED HEAVY IRON BAR. This afternoon a stranger came into Sharp's grist mill and engaged a sack of cornmeal, saying he would call for it this evening. At 7:30 o'clock to-night he returned and found Mr Sharp in the mill office alone. He tendered a $5 bill in payment of the meal, and when Sharp turned to make the change the stranger drew a heavy iron bar from under his coat and knocked him unconscious. He then obtained $100 out of the safe, got his own $5 and escaped.

Sharp recovered in a few minutes sufficiently to give the alarm. The authorities are convinced that the robber is the Clendenen murderer and the Allenwood robber.

A WOMAN IN THE CASE. The mother of Clendenen, the murdered operator, at her home at Youngdale to-day, said:

"I don't think my son was killed entirely for money, and I don't think it was my son who sent that message out of the tower."

"I guess he had an enemy that he did not know of, for bachelors will do things that they oughtn't to."

The story that the detectives had found a clew which pointed to the murder having been committed by a woman dressed in a man's clothing originated in the declaration that a woman is now known to have figured in the case. This woman, however was not near the tower that night. It is known that she was at home.

Day operator Gill, who was yesterday reported had been arrested, to-day strenuously denied the imputation. He says that he and Clendenen were the very closest of friends.

AGREE ON THE WOMAN THEORY. Detectives who have investigated the case agree with Mrs. Clendenen that her son was the victim of a deadly feud engendered in jealousy, and that his murderer was a personal enemy well known to him. It is believed, moreover, and the belief is based on strong evidence, that the man who killed Clendenen was so well acquainted with him that he was freely admitted to the office, from which strangers were barred.

Evidence has been obtained which tends to show that the man who killed the operator was in the tower for some time before the shooting, and two men have been found who saw the murderer just before and just after the shooting. Neither recognized him but both give the same description of the man.

The description tallies with that of the man who was known to be a bitter personal enemy of Clendenen.

Sinnamahoning Items.

We are having a little colder weather since the flood.

Warren J. Mead and wife left for Renovo Monday, where they expect to Lank Crum and party captured two fine deer last week. Bobby Light is all right on a hunt.

One span of the R. S. & S. bridge at Driftwood, which was on trestling was washed away in the late flood.

M. N. U. L. Brooks and party of this place captured two fine bears one day last week, an old one and cub.

The Citizens band was up to the Colonial supper at Driftwood last Friday evening and report having a very nice time.

Frank Burk and party, who are hunting on Karthaus mountain report no deer yet. They see lots of deer and get a good many shots, but no meat.

make their future home, Mr. Mead being a fireman on the middle division of the P. & E. railroad. The best wishes of their friends go with them.

The big derrick was up from Renovo the first of the week to lift the wrecked engine on the B. S. & S. out of the creek at Bailey Run.

Charles Clontz, the bee man of this place, has found and cut fifteen bee trees this season. He hived several of them and took them home in patent scapes.

The chicken and oyster supper held Saturday evening by the Citizens Band and the P. O. of A. was all right. It was the best supper for the price that has been given here for some time.

Well, the hoodoo spell has not yet been lifted from the hunters on Karthaus. A party of them got a deer cornered and it did not know where to go, but after their ammunition was gone, they took to starting it. It would not stand this kind of warfare and got away from them. Another consignment of recruits went out Sunday to reinforce them with a new supply of ammunition and spirits and they are in hopes to get at least one deer before the season is over and they have to return home.

Doesn't Respect Old Age.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. Sinnamahoning Liars Club.

The Liars Club has reorganized for the winter. Pap Berfield hasn't been home since the club divided the surplus and disbanded last summer. There are but a few of the old members allowed to be reinstated without the regular fee, as it is the intention to run the club on scientific principles this winter. Any member telling a whopper without proof, will be fined seven cents and stand suspended until the fine is paid.

We have the best of material and the club will be a grand success as there are sixty applicants for admission. Pap Blodgett furnishes the room but refuses to tell a lie until he makes another trip to Emporium and takes a few points from John Hogan and Geo. Burkheart. One man told one for the truth. He said he saw a square stick of timber 48 inches without any "wain" 164 feet long. John Logue took his hat and left. Hanscom rapped for order and adjourned.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. Arthur Chapman writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says: As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that if they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat the baby was sucking it would no doubt cure the child. This they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby. This remedy is for sale by L. Taggart.
