A Chinese Fish Story. The fish editor of the Courier de Tientsin is going strongly at present. Gloat over this, O ye disciples of Mun chausen, and cull a passing pointer, O ye followers in the footsteps of Ananias:

"Some days ago an enormous fish thirty-six feet long was caught in the vicinity of Peitang, near Tangku. It was cut up and sold in the surrounding villages. The carcass of the fish was probably poisonous, as 300 inhabitants who had eaten of it are dead and many others are ill."

What royal fiction such a man would scribe about the sea serpent!—Shanghai Times.

Where He Failed. "Offenbach," said a musician of wide experience, "once had an unusually good valet. The man could shave, cook, tailor, market, doctor horses—do, in a word, a thousand things. Offenbach nevertheless discharged him."

"Why," his friends said, "did you dismiss a servant so apt?"

"Oh, because," said Offenbach pettishly, "in beating my clothes outside my door he would never keep in time."

A Friendly Suggestion. "I'm at a loss to know what to make of my only son," said the trust magnate. "He seems to have no brains for business."

"Permit me to hand you a suggestion," rejoined the merchant prince. "Make a society leader of him."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Not Twins. She—I hear the stork brought something to your house the other day.

He (proudly)—Yes, indeed.

She—Of course it's just too cute.

He—No, it isn't too cute, thank goodness! Only one.—Philadelphia Ledger.

That Painful Cough. "No matter what you go to see a doctor about he is bound to end on your lungs."

"How is that?"

"Well, he always makes you cough up."—Exchange.

Fools and Money. She—A fool and his money are soon parted.

He—True, and a fool and her money are soon wedded.—Yonkers Statesman.

The man who said "All men are liars" had just met a fisherman, a politician and a man in love.—Augusta Journal.

Puzzles. Miss Sarah reads: "Rev. Mr. Mari-gold taken to the hospital, a victim of locomotor ataxia." How dreadful! I wonder whether the poor man was run over or whether the thing blew up with him?—Harper's Monthly.

Mastication.

The primary object of mastication is to break up the food so as to facilitate the swallowing of it and, still more important, to insure its intimate admixture with the digestive juices, not only within the mouth, but throughout the entire digestive tract. Mastication has, however, other important and far reaching effects. Thus it promotes the flow of saliva and, when properly performed, secures a due insalivation of the food; it increases the quantity of alkaline saliva passing into the stomach; it stimulates the heart and circulation, and it finally influences the nutrition of the jaws and their appendages by stimulating the local blood and lymph circulation.

Washington and the Twins.

The Hartford Courant demolishes one of the numerous Washington traditions. George Washington, Father of His Country, stopped overnight once at the home of Oliver Ellsworth. Tradition has it that on that auspicious occasion he took the twin Ellsworth boys in his lap and was found in the nursery dandling them on his knees and singing to them the well known hymn called "The Darby Ram." But the visit of General Washington was in 1789, and the twins were born in 1791.

Fish Flour For Food.

The fishery represent one of Norway's chief industries, and quantities of fish are sold at very low rates, particularly during summer. One way in which these are utilized is by means of an invention which quickly dries and pulverizes the flesh of fresh fish. The resulting product, called fish flour, is easy to transport from one place to another and has great nutritive value.

Those Dear Girl Friends.

Miss Utaplace—I had my pictures taken last week, and today I got some of them. They are just as natural as life.

Miss Paravenue—My, but you bear up cheerfully under misfortune! Aren't you going to even bring suit or anything?—Baltimore American.

A Cat and a Mouse.

Many, says a contributor, are distressed by the way in which a cat "plays" with a mouse before killing it. That the mouse does not suffer so much as might be expected is proved by certain facts told me by a friend a short time ago. Her cat after catching a mouse and "playing" with it for some time left it to go and eat some meat in a plate on the floor. To my friend's surprise, the mouse followed in spite of a broken leg and fed for awhile out of the same dish, the cat occasionally pushing the mouse aside when it came too close. When both had finished, the cat ate up his companion, who evidently feared death as little as the condemned murderers who, we are often told, "ate a hearty breakfast on the morning of their execution."

THE MI-ONA TREATMENT.

Flesh-Forming Food in Tablet Form That Increases Flesh—Guaranteed by L. Taggart.

The discovery of Mi-on-a, the remarkable flesh-forming food that builds up good, healthy, solid flesh and makes thinness and scrawiness a thing of the past, has revolutionized medical practice in certain lines.

Its power to do all that is claimed for it was so clearly proven to L. Taggart that he has sold Mi-on-a with the understanding that if it fails the purchase price was to be refunded.

L. Taggart certainly exhibited courage in taking up this method of selling Mi-on-a, but the results have fully proven his judgment that the Mi-on-a treatment for stomach troubles, emaciation, general weakness and run down condition is the only efficacious and reliable cure.

Mi-on-a possesses healing and soothing qualities that make it especially valuable in cases of chronic indigestion and dyspepsia. Two or three tablets taken each day in connection with the regular food prove it a true flesh former.

All that many a woman lacks to be positively pretty is a little more flesh on her face. To look haggard or not fat is never becoming. The use of Mi-on-a will cure this defect.

With every 50c box of Mi-on-a that L. Taggart sells, he will give a written promise to refund the money if it does not give an increase in flesh and restore strength. What a trifling cost this is if it makes you well; if it fails, the expense is absolutely nothing.

Be Quick.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or ever after the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Jno. E. Smith, Sterling Run.
