TRIP TO CALIFORNIA. POINTS OF INTEREST NOTED.

EDITOR PRESS :

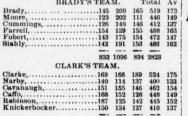

I send you another brief description of our trip, commencing where I left off in my last account:

Sacrimento is a very nice town, the streets are nice and clean with many ornsmental trees and flowers. The buildings are neat but not as high as in our eastern cities. We stayed one night only and on Monday left for San Francisco. On the way up here everything looked fine, having had plenty of rain, some places the fences being under water. Much of the land here is swampy. We get to the large ferry boat which crosses a neck of the bay, which will carry forty coaches and four engines. It is one mile across, and then we get into nice country again where they are plowing and sowing wheat and barley and we also see large herds of cattle and sheep. We get to Oakland City, which is to San Francisco as Brooklyn is to New York. Oakland is a very nice city and compares nicely with Sacrimento. It has fine streets nice residences, many of the business men of San Francisco live here. It has a fine electric San Francisco live here. It has a fine electric street car system and railroad cars run every thirty minutes to and from ferry. Tencents takes you from city to city, which is five miles across the bay. We stopped at Oakiand part of two days and took in many points of interest. Here we saw the aavy yard where the battle ship Oregon was built and the great awinging bridge across the neck of the bay. There are bridge across the neck of the bay. There are two bridges, one railroad and one for street cars These bridges are no less than 350 feet long and swing on a pier in the centre to let steam boats Chicago, everybody seems to be in a rush. The place is very hilly and on this account the street cars are mostly cable cars. We went through Chinatown first, which was very interesting, but did not spend much time here. Next we went to Presido to the soldiers barracks and gave Wes, ley Hughes a warm reception. We surprised him very much. We took him along out to the Golden Gate Park and to the Cliff House on the coast. From this point we could look out on some huge rocks and see the sea lions bathing in the sun. There is a lios a nice park here con-nected with the Cliff House. We then spent the remainder of the day at the Golden Gate Park. which I suppose, is the finest park in the United States. It contains about 1,200 acres and is laid out in drive ways, bicycle tracks and lwalks, also artificial and natural lakes. There are many arimals such as buffalo, elk, deer, bear and others too numerous to mention in the park, and many birds and flowers. Our time was too short to see all. The next day we started for LosAngelas and went down the valley, which is wonderfully nice, most of the way level and nearly as far as you could see to the foot hills. This is mostly a grain country and the farmers were busy plowing and sowing their grain. In someficids we saw as high a five sets of plows they have gang plows with three or four plows and from four to six spans of horses or mules hitched to a plow. The towns are mostly small through this valley. Night came on and in the morning we found ourselves going down a nar-row canyon, but after a while the valley widen-ed and got into fields of melons and pumpkins. Our next interesting scene was a pagen farm or city. There were many thousands of them We arrived at Los Angelas and passed the day, as we could not get a train to Azura until even-ing, where my brother, R. M. Sipple lives, and so we started out to see the city.

Los Angelas is a very progressive city. It is said to have doubled its population in the last ten years. Buildings are going up in every di-rection and it is not much to be wondered at for in one day, it was estimated that 2,400 people arrived in Los Angeles from the east and people come most every day. The city has several parks and we visited East Lake Park, which is a 974 856 870 2699 State Must Limit Good Roads Work. HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.-Township electors cannot arbitrarily fix the amount to be expended on good roads with the expectancy that the county and State must pay their proportionate share of the cost. This has been decided by Deputy Attorney General Fleitz, in an opinion given to State Highway Commissioner Hunter. The electors of Mideletown Township Bucks County, voted to issue $50,-000 in bonds to improve township roads law of 1903. Deputy Attorney General Fleitz in his opinion says:

"It appears that the citizens of Middleton Township are under the impression that, because they have thus provided $50,000 to be used for the construction of new roads within the limits of the said township, the county of Bucks can be required to raise its proportionate share of $50,000 more, and that the State is required to furnish the balance, or two thirds of the cost, to wit: $200,000 for the improvement of said roads, and you ask to be advised on this point.

CAN'T EXCEED PRO RATA SHARE.

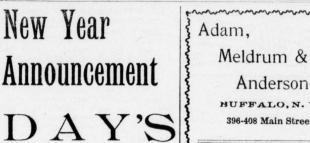

"I fine nothing in the act of 1903 which warrants this conclusion. A certain specific sum, which the State may use to pay its proportionate share of the cost of constructing roads is appropriated by the act and this must be apportioned among the various counties of the Commonwealth on a basis of the number of miles of road in each county. There is absolutely no authority for you or any other State official through. We spent a very busy day at San to increase the amount thus apportion-Francisco. This is a city like New York or (ad any county or to make the State ed any county or to make the State liable for a sum greater than that set forth in the act itself. Neither am I able to find any law which makes it obligatory upon the county to do more than furnish its proportionate share based on the State appropriation.

"The last provison of section 3 is to the effect that the township and county by agreement, may vary the proportion which each must pay to suit them. selves but in no case shall either town ship or county pay less than 5 per centum of the entire cost of such improvement. That is a matter which the local authorities may adjust themselves, subject to the restriction above noted, but the State cannot be required to pay to any county more than the amount thus specifically appropriated and proportionately determined." STATE SUPERVISION.

Mr. Fleitz also says that if the work is being done according to the specifications of the Highway Department, even though the State is not contributing to the cost, it is clear that the State Highway Commissioner should supervise the construction.

The Deputy Attorney General also decided that the request of the commissioners of Northampton County for State aid in rebuilding a mile of road in South Rethel Township destroyed by storm, should be complied with.
