The barber tucked a towel under customer's chin and then cleared his throat, relates the Philadelphia Press.

"A victim—I mean a customer of mine, he began, "told me a story the other day which illustrates to my mind, at least, that some men really don't know the difference between patent medicine and Schuylkill water. It was this way:

"This customer of mine had a friend who had a great deal of trouble with his hair. It was all the time falling out. He asked all his firends what he could get to keep it in. Most of them suggested that he get a basket, but finally one of them told him of a patent medicine.

"So the man whose hair was bothering him got a bottle of the medicine and discovered that it was a dark brown sticky stuff that he was to rub on his hair five times a day. He tried it the first day, and it appeared to do good, but the second day some one got there first, and emptying the bottle of medicine, filled it up with sarsaparilla. And all day long that poor man rubbed the soft drink on his hair and never noticed the difference. But he did notice, though, that there was an unusually large number of flies swarming about his head. Bay rum?"

A good one is told on a well-known minister who was walking along the street the other day and saw a crowd of boys sitting in front of a ring with a small dog in the center. When he came up to them he put the following question: "What are you doing with that dog?" One little boy said: "Whoever tells the biggest lie wins it." "Oh," said the minister, "I am surprised at you little boys, for when I was like you I never told a lie." There was a silence for awhile, until one of the boys shouted: "Hand kim up the dog!"—Mount Olivet (Ky.) Democrat.

NEW HEADACHE CURE.

It Consists of a Miniature Refriger ating Plant, Recently Patented by an Indiana Man.

No matter whether a man was out all ight the night before, has strained his eyes or eaten something which does not agree with him, the resulting headache incapacitates him from duty of any sort which requires him to use his brain to any great extent. Every one has his Lavorite remedy, from a headache powder to a day off, and after the affliction has been cured or outworn it is soon forgotten, and the man will "repeat the dose" when the next opportunity offers. Of course, the best kind of a cure is the prevention of the cause, but since the preaching of this doctrine is not often carried out in practice, we give our readers the benefit of the latest ingenious idea in the line of headache cures, introducing the use of chemical refrigerating liquids just as though the head were a cold-storage warehouse, around which refrigerants must be pumped in order to keep the temperature of the contents down below the normal level. The main difficulty seems to be that a

MACHINE FOR CURING HEADACHE. man cannot fold the apparatus up and put it in his pocket as he can a headache powder or other medicine, and, consequently, he must go where the refrigerating plant is located if he desires this form of treatment. It is in reality just what has been suggested above, a miniature refrigerating plant, with the proper chemicals placed in the flexible bulbs in contact with the temples and a quantity of the liquid which completes the chemical reaction contained in the compression bulbs held in the hands. The apparatus can be adjusted by means of the turnbuckle to increase or decrease the pressure of the cooling bulbs on the forehead, and as soon as the patient begins squeezing the bulos to force the liquid from one receiver through the pipe and temple bulbs to the opposite receiver the cooling agent will commence to act on the head, reducing the tem-perature and driving the blood back to the other portions of the body, in-stead of allowing it to enter the head

Incandescent Rays Are Said to Produce an Effect Even More Beneficent Than Steam.

The electric light bath is one of the atest luxuries to command the attention of the wealthy. The bath consists of a cabinet, which may be built for sitting in or lying in. The square cabinet occupies comparatively little space, and may stand in one corner of the bath-room. The obiong cabinet takes up considerable room, but it is preferable to the square one, as the occupant can lie at full length and relax comfortably.

One hundred incandescent electric light bulbs, each of 16 candle power. line the interior of the cabinet. Spaces are left between for beveled mirrors and reflectors, so that thousands of rays are multiplied and focused on the occupant of the cabinet. These direct and reflected rays, argue the exponents of the new bath, are concentrated on the body and penetrate into the deepest tissues, therev stimulating all the vital forces

The oblong cabinet has a sliding table on rollers, whih is pulled out for the bather to lie on. This is padded, has a sheet on it and a pillow. After the the bather to inhale fresh air con-

Agricultural stations have experimented with the electric light, and have found that it stimulates the vital functions of both plant and animal life. It is, therefore, argued that it cannot be otherwise than beneficial when used on the human body, even if the subject is in perfect health.
