WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) Washington, April 2, 1904.

While delegates to the St. Louis convention are being instructed for Parker, Olney, Hearst, and others, and many are talking of Gorman and many are talking of Gorman the auspices of the Knights of the as a possible candidate, there is but Golden Eagle on Friday evening, one man thought of by the Republican delegates for Chicago, and he is the President. His nomination by acclamation is now assured, for practically there is no opposition in the party. All that remains to be done after the nomination is for the voters to go to the ballot box. In vain have the Democrats, in and out of Congress, tried to pierce the Republican armor; not a seam can be found. On the whole the Democrats in this Congress have by their votes endorsed the measure of the Republican party, while at the same time clamoring loudly for investigations, for reducing appropriations, and having much to say about fraud, violation of law, disregard of precedent, et cetera. In the end they have voted for all the measures proposed, and have been unable to present a solid resisting front on any question. This is a great complaint to the honesty and ability of the Republican party. Indeed, things have got to such a pass that the leader of the minority in the House, John Sharp Williams, announces that the party cry in the coming campaign will be: "Anything to beat Roosevelt." A transliteration of this would be. "Anything to elect a Democrat," and this is what may be expected as the months roll by. But such an appeal will not convince the masses; for them the President is the ideal man-plain, blunt, honest; one who would sit up nights, to guard and protect the interests of the country and promote the welfare of the people.

The Senate spent most of the last day of March in speechmaking about alleged Post Office frauds, the 62 year pension order, the protective tariff, and cognate questions. The debate was carried on by Senators, Pa., McCreary, Ky., Dolliver, Ia., and Heyburn of Idaho. Nothing new was elicited, and only expressions of opinion were given. Mr. Heyburn doubted the constitutional right of oneco-ordinate branch of the government to investigate another independent branch. He said it is the duty of the special inspectors to investigate the departments, and not the duty of Congress. Mr. Dolliver taken. The echo of that evening upon ably and vigorously defended the the streets is nothing but praiseful President and Postmaster General pleasant sound. Payne.

Mr. Knox Leaves.

The Rev. R. J. Knox recently assigned to the Lock Haven circuit is in town getting his household goods, ready for shipment and taking final leave of his friends. His departure is regretted, but his promotion to a better appoint ment is most gratifying to all. His successor has not yet been named.

Easter at the First Methodist Church. Last Sunday morning the large audi torium of the First Methodist Epis copal Church was filled with member and friends to greet the Rev. O. S. Metzler who has been returned to this charge for another year. Two able and eloquent sermons were preached morning and evening and the confer ence year starts out auspiciously.

A very enjoyable session of Sunday School was held, 314 being in attendance, each one receiving a handsome Easter remembrance. The Easter offering for Missions was $19.64.

Married.

In the parsonage of the First Meth odist Episcopal Church last Wednesday afternoon Mr. Murry Ellis Mitstifer and Miss Martha Louisa Bauer both of Driftwood, were joined in marriage by the pastor, the Rev. O. S. Metzler. Mitstifer is the interesting daughter of Mr. and Mrs John Cole of Driftwood, while Mr. Mitstifer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Mitstifer. He is an employee of the Penna Railroad and a young man of much promise. They will reside in Driftwood and that happiness and success may attend them, is the wish of their

Easter Exercises at Baptist Church. The exercises began with a process ional hymn which was heartily sung by the whole school while filing entirely around the outside aisle, then up centre aisle to be seated. A very noticeable and pleasant feature, in each and every number, was the fact that the smaller children in the school were selected to fill all places and that they did it with credit to parents, school and themselves. The responsive singing by the little boys upon one side and the little girls upon the other was especially pleasing to the assembly. The church was so crowded that after chair space added to seating capacity, standing room also was fully

Miss Marian Larrabee The world's masterpices when once we begin to appreciate them, fascinate and enchain us.

"The Teachers Preparations"

Miss May Moon The higher the education of the teacher the better the preparation for his work. Modern times require more preparation than formerly, the teacher that neglects this is soon cast aside. Recitation-"Going to Bed," Marguerite Faucett "Training the Will," Prof. R. M. Steele School training fits the child for life whatever it may be. The will should be carefully trained as it is the most important part of the child, for the will is the man.

AFTERNOON SESSION. Music by institute.

Home Study....Miss Mattie M. Collins In the primary grades no work should be done at home, as very often the wrong methods are used. There should be little home study in the intermediate grades except in a research for history and literature. Arithmetic should not be studied at home until the High School is reached, or until the mind is developed so they can reason for themselves. When the High School is reached there should be home study and each home should take an interest in school work.

"The home as a factor in School Work,"......Prof. Gortner The teacher should have the co-operation of each parent. The teacher should not be discussed before the pupil in the home.

If the school work requires home study, the parent should see that the time is given to it. Recitation-"The Inventors Wife,"

Vocal Solo—"The Tempest,"

The Midgets.

An army of midgets will be seen at the Opera House next Friday and Saturday nights, while the advance sale of seats insures a large attendance The operetta has won very high praise in other cities. There will be a chorus of two hundred trained voices to sing the new and popular music designed for this opera. The costumes are beautiful and artistic and the use of the calcium lights will heighten the good effects. See the midgets and hear them sing. Tickets at Lloyd's.

Mrs. Jones Taken to a Sanitarium. Mrs. Byron E. Jones, whose long and serious illness has proved a source of painful apprehension to her many friends, was last Saturday removed to the Warren Sanitarium in the hope that her recovery might be thus expedited. Learned specialists have been in consul tation with our local physicians and every thing possible has been done to alleviate her condition but without avail. Mrs. Jones is one of our most excellent ladies always prominent in church and charitable work and that she may speedily regain her shattered

One of the greatest labor saving devices of the times is the invention of William Stoughton, of DuBois, Pa. A former Emporiumite. This wonderful machine will dress up a stone in a few minutes which would require a full half day's work by hand in the old fashioned way.

The machine practically takes the place of the hammer and point, the chisel and bushing hammer. It will cut a stone in any desired shape and put any kind of a finish on it in such a short space of time that it hardly seems worth while running it through the machine. Mr. Stoughton's chief aim in his invention bas been simplicity. There is no complicated mechanisms or parts that will easily get out of order. A detailed description of the machine is too lengthy to be given, suffice to say, the machine consists of a plurality of eccentrics, a set of bits or cutters each running at the rate of two hundred and twenty-five strokes a minute. On a machine carrying sixteen bits the combined number of strokes would be three thousand and six hundred a minute.

It is capable of doing twenty men's work or having an earning capacity of $80.00 per day. The motive power is

The machine is operated by one man. Mr. Stoughton has been a year and a half perfecting his device and has finally been rewarded by success. Not being financially able to carry on the business himself he interested Chas. M. Kresge.

A considerable sum of money was spent for experimental purposes and finally a crude machine was set up. This looked so promising that a company was immediately organized to manufacture the machines The second machine has just been complet-

WEATHER REPORT

(Forecast by T. B. Lloyd.)

PRIDAY, Showers

SATURDAY, Fair SUNDAY Fair.

Mr. Josiah Howard, the Republican nominee for Assemblyman needs introduction to the people of Cameron county. For seventeen years he has been a resident of Emporium, and during that time has been identified with one of our largest lumber firms. As a business man he stands among the first in the county, in the capacity for organization and management. Progressive in spirit and method, he is also prudent in judgment. It is no injustice to his able associates to say that the success of the firm has been chiefly due to the leadership, at once cautious and progressive, of Mr. Howard. We mention his success as a business man because of the guarantee it affords of his possession of those qualities of alertness, independence, energy, and of integrity and stability of character, which constituents have a right to demand in their representatives. He has also shown these qualities in the offices of councilman and Burgess of Emporium. Mr. Howard is well recognized as being some thing more than a business man in the narrow sense of that term. Too often corporations and firms care nothing for the broader interests of the communities in which they operate. In numerous ways it has been made manifest that Mr. Howard has sincerely at heart the permanent upbuilding of the industries of Cameron County and its sure advancement in the higher concerns of religion, morality and intelligence. Even his political opponents bear hearty testimony to his fearless and consistent opposition to the misuse of money in the political campaigns of the county. No one questions the nobleness of his purpose nor tne honesty of his aim in his devotion to the public wefare. No one can doubt the sincerity and earnestness of his appeal to the county to have faith in itself and in its own future.

Mr. Howard is admirably qualified to serve as the county's representative at Harrisburg. A good Republican, he is no narrow partisan, but will conscientiously and intelligently serve the interests of the whole people. Already he is perhaps as well known outside the county as is any man in it, and he has not been without exper-lence in affairs of more than local scope. He has frequently represented Emmanuel Parish in the Conventions of the Diocese; three years ago he was one of the representatives of the Diocese in the General Convention at San Francisco; last year and the yeer before he represented the Diocese in the Missionary Councils at Philadelphia and Washington. He is to day one of the vice-presidents of the state organization of she State Sunday School Association. Loyal to his own church and active in its concerns, he heartily recognizes the good part that other churches are taking in advancing the moral and religion and by the members of other churches, regardless of creed, he is recognized as a libe. I minded and generous friend of every worthy cause and object.

It is gratifying to note the unforced tributes to his character and his fitness as a candidate, which come from the members of the other party. Certainly it will be a long time ere the county will have an opportunity to vote for a better man than Mr. Josiah Howard. The people know this and will elect him by one of the largest votes in the history of the county.

Annual Parish Meeting.
