EDITORIAL MENTION.

There has been filed in one of the courts in Chicago a bill asking for an injunction against ticket scalpers. It is the purpose of an injunction to preserve property, but it will be a queer application of this instrumently if it can keep up the price of railroad tickets.

A crank with a loaded revolver was recently found in John D. Rockfeller's Bible Class in New York. He did not get a chance to ase his weapon and was handed over to the police. Mr. Rockfeller kept cool when the discovery was made. He said it was hard to understand why the wicked so often live at ease and prosper, while the righteous suffer. It is a puzzle. Perhaps they have neglected to buy stock in the Standard Oil con-

One of the questions to be considered by the Methodist conference in session at Los Angeles, Cal.; is what can the church do to mid the cause of temperance? It might at least allow its clergy to preach a temperance sermon, now and then. There is much need of this in Boston, where the police hauled in last year 27,700 "drunks." Witchcraft has again broken out as Salem, Mass., or at least many people in that town think so. A Sanday Crusade has been started which closes up everything in the city except drug stores and charches. Florists, undertakers, restaurants, etc., all have to subzait to the law. Some people journey to Lynn to get something to eat. The attempt' to force people to be good at the point of she law always fails. In Brooklyn, N. Y., the courts have decided that it is legal to play base ball on Sanday. This would never do for Salem.

Last year scientific circles were egitated over mosquitoes, and some of the government entomogists incubated much literature regarding their destruction and the assertion that they inoculate assertion that they inculate assertion and the artificial alight is soarranged as to throw a soft radiance over the can ablosomed on all sides. garding their destruction and the assertion that they inoculate human beings with fever germs. The mosquito still thrives and manages to get in his work. There has recently arrived in New Orleans, from Cuba, a consignment of 600 live mosvuitoes en route to St. Louis. They are for the transmission of yellow fever germs. They are kept in a cage and fed on sugar and water. Their eggs are hatched in a short time and the species are kept in existence in this way, since the youngest take the place of those which die. It is assured that microbes are bequeathed.

MAGNIFICENT STORE.

NEW HOME OF THE WILLIAMS HENGERER COMPANY WAS THROWN®OPEN TO THE PUBLIC YESTERDAY.

BEAUTIFUL FLORAL

Business Competitors of the Great Department Store Showed a Generous Spirit by Contributing Floral Testimonials of Good Will--Thousands of Persons Visited the Great Store and Were Amazed at What They Saw.

Words cannot fittingly or adequately describe the opening of the William Hengerer Company's new store in the big steel and stone structure that has risen on the site of the old Tifft House on Main street. Business and professional men who visited the store last evening said that it was simply magnificent. The matrons called it beautiful and grand, while the young debut-antes fresh from school said that it was perfectly lovely and a dream of beauty. Extravagance of statement is always a charming fault in a charming girl, and yet of all the different characterizations yet of all the different onaracterizations made by those who visited the store yesterday she undoubtedly came the nearest to telling the truth. The store is indeed, from to top to bottoma dream of bootty. It is nearest to realize the contract of the store is the store of the st is indeed, from to top to bottoma dream of beauty. It surpasses in loveliness the anticipations of the friends of the William Hengerer Company. It demonstrates that art and good taste can combine with wealth to make a store in Buffalo not surpassed in all its appointments by even the great metropolitan stores.

It is doubtless true that there are big.

New York and Chicago. It is doubtless true that there are bigger stores in New York and Chicago. John Wanamaker can boast of his immense establishment and Marshall Field's place in Chicago is the wonder of the west, but it is also true that there is not to day a department store that is more complete in every line ard better equipped with every convenience bordering upon luxury than the Hengerer store In all that goes to make up a first class, modern, up-to-Hengerer store In all that goes to make up a first-class, modern, up-to-date establishment catering to the personal and household necessities of the human race, this store leaves nothing to be desired.

The crowds that gathered from early in the morning until late at dight indicated the eagerness with which the public had been waiting for a chance to inspect the new store People began to press for admittance before the doors were open in the morning. They came in increasing numbers during the day. Late in the atternoon the establishment was a vertiable human the day. Late in the afternoon the establishment was a vertiable human hive. At night no goods were sold, but the recption went on The crowds kept coming. They listened to the music of the Marcus orchestra. They gathered around the great soda water fountain. They rendezvoused in and about the rotunda and spent no little portion of the time around the railings on the upper floors gazing down upon the restless, moving, surging crowds that room could be found in which to place them.

President William Hengerer was greatly touched by this display of friendship and good will. But that which touched him most were the floral contrbutions of some of his competitors. The H. A. Meldum Company and J. N. Adam & Co., presented some beautiful flewers to the Hengerer Company, and evidenced that in spite of business rivalries and stern competition there is a sincere admiration for those who have bonestly earned success and that not the least among those who are willing to offer congratulations upon this evidence of success are the men who have won similar success in

THE CAFE AND KITCHEN.

No description of the opening of the William Hengerer Company would be complete without mention of the cafe on the sixth floor. This restaurant is complete in every appointment. There is a separate dining room where men may smoke their after dinner cigars, while the apartment for women is most elegantly furnished. It is large, airy, and from the Main street windows a glimpse of Lake Erie and the Niagara river can be obtained.

The caterer in charge of the restaurant is the veteran Cretien Mugel, formerly of New York, but for the past 14 years one of Buffalo's most celebrated chefs. Mr. Mugel knows the art of cooking and serving as well as any chef in the country. The kitchen is on the same floor as the restaurant, and the whole arrangement is made with a view of supplying a meal speedily and at a minimum of labor. The kitchen is supplied with great Jewett refrigeris supplied with great Jewett refriger-ators, where meats of all kinds are kept in cold storage. All washing of dishes is done by machinery, a great saving of labor. Filtered ice water is used not only in the restaurant but all through the building. The service is ample and a delightful lunch can be furnished within five minutes after the order is given.

A French baker from New York has been engaged and he will make a feature of the bread and rolls used in the restaurant. A French pastry cook will be in chrige of that line of the cuisins Every attention will be paid to the wants of customers, that the restaurant will prove a success is evidenced by the fact that on the opening day more than 1000 persons were fed THE GROCERY DEPARTMENT.

THE GROCERY DEPARTMENT.

The visitor who combined economy of effort with a desire to see the store from top to bottom began his or her tour of inspection with the restaurant on the top floor. After preparing for the trip with a substantial meal, the first visit was paid to the grocery department on the same floor with the restaurant. The cleanliness, the newness and the neatness of the grocery department were the things that impressed a Commercial reporter as he passed by counters loaded with choice bottled goods, canned goods of all bottled goods, canned goods of all kinds, smoked meats, cheeses and butter, and in fact everything that is needed to supply a first-class table.

HANDSOME FURNITURE.

On the fifth floor is the furniture department, which is one of the most complete in the city. The line of oak and mahogany tables, stands, chairs, buffets, bedsteads and pieces of every description needed to furnish a cottage or a mausion is as complete as could be desired. It is a wonderful department. THE ART GALLERY.

Many persons spent a delightful half hour in the art gallery on the fifth floor. Here are gathered some of the works of the masters. They are all works of art and fit to hang in the parlors of a nabob. The pictures are arranged according to their character. The oil paintings occupy a room apart and the artificial light is soarranged as to throw a soft radiance over the can vas. The connoisseur in art can spend a most profitable hour in looking at the pictures in the Hengerer gallery

The Hengerer Company has in this department a Persian silk palace rug of antique make, which is said to have come from the thorne room of a Persian potentate. In the rug are contained the composite representations of all the famous periods in Persian history. The flowers in the rug are a contribution to beauty and happiness. They are surronneded by a red ground of magnificent hue denoting the life blood of the nation. Through this ground are Iran effects with animal and floral decorations representing the spirits of are Iran effects with animal and floral decorations representing the spirits of misfortune overshowed by the gods of protection and prosperity. Upon each corner of the center panel is a column which is said to testify to the power of the ruler. The center of the rug is surrounded by a series of borders executed in an old and masterly manner in complete harmony with the center design. The colors produced in the rug are of dyes extracted from a wood which is long since extinct. The rug is a master piece in textile fabric.

It will not be necessary to turn on the electric light to show a single carpet in the department. The window light is so arranged that all rugs and carpets appear to the best advantage. By showing carpets by the light of day their true effects in color are brought out.

THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS The third floor is primarily known as the millinery floor, although the stock of ready-to-wear women's goods stock of ready-to-wear women's goods is on display here, together with a complete line of corsets and muslin underwear. The offices of the firm are also located on this floor. The William Hengerer Company's display of millinery is as complete as could be desired. Everything for everybody is a motto of the department. The most expensive creations in lovely headgear are for the purse that can afford it. are for the purse that can afford it, while for the less fortunate woman are while for the less fortunate woman are hats and toques in keeping with her cir-cumstances. rich and poor alike and all will be served with the very best for the money.

The great attraction on the second floor is the soda water fountain. All day long thousands of persons methere and regaled themselves with nectar fit for the gods. This department has already become famous, and women out on a shopping tour make arrangements to meet their friends at the fountain. The fountain is said to be the third largest in America, and it is a remarkable and beautiful piece of architecture. The front is of Mexican onyx, the rarest obtainable, and the massive woodwork is of solid mahogany. The serving counter is of mahogany, on which rests chocolate marble two inches thick. The fountains and its fittings are fifty feet long. Two statuettes, carved in Carrara, Italy, flank the immense central mirror on each side. The tables for those who desire to refresh themselves in private parties aro well arranged and are hidden from multic view by stands parties aro well arranged and are hidden from public view by stands covered with immense ferns and tropi-cal plants. All kinds of hot and cold drinks, ice cream, ice cream soda and bouillon are served.

The main floor is devoted to notions, ribbons, laces, handkerchiefs, drugs, books, hosiery, umbrellas, shoes and jewelry. The jewelry department is a marvel. Diamonds of the rarest purity and value are in stock, some of them costing thousands of dollars. The department is in charge of Clement H. Davison, who came to this city from Chicago.

The elevator service is marvelous. Six immense el evators are in constant commission. Each of them holds 30 persons. They are equipped with double folding doors, so that when they are opened the full front of the elevator to thrown open to allow an easy access to and exit from the elevators.

It is only necessary to add in conclusion that the entire stock from top to bottom is entirely new. That fact shows for itself and was the subject of favorable remark by visitors to the store yesterday. The variety and volume are simply wonderful.

No one can go through the store of the William Hengerer Company without a certain sense of personal pride, a pride inspired by the knowledge that this is a Buffalo store, built up by Buffalonians, managed by Buffalonians, and largely for the benefit of Buffalonians.

Protruding Piles Cured.

Five years ago I was troubled with protruding piles. They were very painful, and for six weeks I was unable to replace them. I used one 25c bottle of San-Cura Ointment, which relieved the pain and cured me entirely. I have had no return of them in five years. San-Cura also cured my daughter of the piles.
