Preserving America's Forests.

The redemption of the country, writes Charles Zueblin in the Chautauquan, must begin with the proper use of its natural advantages. The development of irrigation, of canals and of water power, is of fundamental importance in furthering a return to nature. The most obvious and beautiful of the newer expressions of this old faith is an appreciation of the trees. The treeless street and road and schoolhouse will not much longer disfigure the landscape.

Thanks to J. Sterling Morton, we observe throughout the country Arbor day, which he insitituted in Nebraska in 1872. We are almost ready to accept the declaration of William Morris that anyone who would heedlessly cut down a tree, especially in a large city, need make no claim to caring for art. Let us ern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the decaying lumber towns of the great lakes, the freshets of the Mississippi and its tributaries, so unhappily in evidence this spring, and perhaps cyclones and drought, all testify to man's criminal folly, negligence and destructiveness. Even in our national forest reserves from 1881 to 1887 it is claimed nearly $37,000,000 worth of lumber has made. been stolen, while that consumed by running fires during the same period is set at $200,000,000.

These are painful facts, but we may cheer ourselves by some great accomplishments. Sixteen states now have forestry commissioners. The federal government has established 53 reservations containing 62,000,000 acres of public forests, protected by 500 public employes.

This is a magnificent beginning, but Prof. Fernew says that we need 600,000,-000 acres to maintain our annual consumption of 350 cubic feet per capita. We may, however, learn to thrive with less, as England uses only 15 cubic feet forestry, at Yale, Cornell and Baltimore (although that at Cornell is unfortuproduct of the twentieth century. They are a tardy recognition of the fact that in spite of the previous destruction of forests the annual consumption of timcrop exceeded among agricultural products only by corn.

A Perfect Bicycle.

It is an attribute of human nature | home. articles with which he is familiar, says a writer in Leslie's Monthly. If a price for a house and lot or a collar button is named lower than that which he has in his mind, he thinks he is either getting a bargain or being cheated. Many swindlers have made use of this price, but one genius originated an offer made a few years ago of a complete bicycle for the preposterous price of $3.48. It was nickel plated, said the advertisement, had a durable frame, rams' horn handle bars, and all other modern improvements. "With this machine." it went on, "you will never get into trouble by puncturing or cutting your tire." In short, so the advertiser enthusiastically asserted, the wheel was "a perfect charm." It was, in the literal sense of the word, as the purchasers found cut, for the mail brought a bicycle watch charm, made of plated wire wrought in the form of a bicycle The tires were indeed unpuncturable. Every statement in the advertisement was literally and exactly true.

The men who really "run things" at national conventions grow constantly fewer in numbers. The average delegate, nominally the direct representative of the voters of his party, is nowadays scarcely more of a factor in the choice of candidates than the slowestwitted voter in his home ward. But for each dozen delegates in every national convention there is one practical politician, who wants a little something more than the honor, says Leslie's Monthly. It is this one man in 12, or thereabouts, who does the nominating. The ordinary delegate is merely a red or black pawn in the game. After the local convention he is carted to the national con ention and voted as he has Cleveland and Watterson, but if our une. been tagged.

Principle of Protection and General Policy of Reciprocity Advocated Everywhere.

As the various state conventions are held and the sentiment of the republicans of the country is made known, it is seen that the convention at Chicago will be composed of men who will de-clare anew and unmistakably their dehope this new zeal has not come too votion to the historic and fundamental late. The grim spectral forests of northclear, and becoming clearer every day, that the tariff will be a chief element of discussion in the coming campaign, it is most gratifying that even in those portions of the country where the cause of tariff revision might be supposed to have the strongest support the declara-tions for the Dingley law and the maintenance of the protective principle are as emphatic as they can be The republicans of Iowa adopted unanimously and with cheering the platform presented by the committee on resolutions, which committee had voted down by a large majority a plank declaring that tariff rates should be changed from time to time and changed from time to time and officers for forest work, 12 of them being favoring a general policy of reciprocity. It was felt that in the state which had given the name to the "Iowa idea" there should be an unmistakable stand taken against those policies of tariff reduction which are the stock in trade of the democratic party. So a platform which favored reciprocity in non-competitive products only and which gave no encouragement whatever to the revisionists was unanimously chosen. Even Gov. Cummins, who has been the sponsor of the "Iowa per capita. There are three schools of idea," in a speech after the platform was adopted said that he would stand squarely on the resolutions which nately suspended by Gov. Odell's veto convention had approved. A declaration in favor of increasing merchant shipping on the oceans was also included. Nebraska upheld protection and sound money, declaring the protective principle to be a fundamental party doctrine.

Although Comrade Bunko Bill ininstinctively shrinks from all associaation of his name with the vice presidential nomination, we believe that he is too loyal a democrat and too pure a patriot to put aside the burden if, in the judgment of the party, he should assume it. # GREAT DAMAGE BY FLOODS.

The State of Kansas Suffers from Too Much Rain.

The Santa Fe System Reports the Worst Delay from Floods Ever Experienced by that Railroad.

Kansas City, Mo., June 4.-The heavy rains in the last few days in Kansas are confined mostly to the counties south of the Kaw watershed As a result the valleys of the rivers which flow southeast are flooded. The tributaries of the Kaw are not danger-ous. The worst floods yesterday were in the Neosho, Cottonwood, Verdigris, arkansas and Marmaton rivers. All creeks through this section are flooding and impassable. The rivers all drain to the southward. The rivers are flooding their valleys and doing great damage to town property, oil fields and farm lands throughout their length in Kansas. At Emporia, the Cottonwood is now as high as last year, when it reached the highest water mark ever known. At Fort Scott and vicinity the flood of six weeks ago has been repeated. Several hundred persons have been driven from home.

At Newton the flood is receding. Not less than 100 homes are uninhabitable as the result of the high water. The flooded section covers an area of 30 blocks. Not a train from east or south has reached Newton for 30

NINE PEOPLE KILLED.

Passenger Trains on the Missouri Pa cific Road Collided Near Martin City,

Kansas City, June 4.-Nine persons are reported to have been killed and many injured in a collision of passen ger trains on the Missouri Pacific rail road near Martin City, 15 miles south of Kansas City. The trains, which met head on, were the westbound Colorado limited, No. 1, and the eastbound Hoisington, Kansas, accommo dation, No. 36.

A message received by Missouri Pacific officials here ordered them to send a relief train as soon as possible and to get all the surgeons obtainable from which it is inferred that numer ous passengers were hurt.

Two Murders and Three Lynchings Greenville, Miss., June 4.-This sec tion of the state is excited over the murder of a planter and his manage by negroes and over three lynchings which followed. The thorough development and maintenance of the up-to-date passenger service of the Nickel Plate Road leaves nothing to be desired by people who travel. Ladies traveling alone or accompanied by children will appreciate the clean and well-lighted coaches, made so by the corps of colored porters in uniform who attend the wants of both first and second-class passengers without extra charge. The dining car service of the Nickel Plate Road has become very popular with the patrons on the line and one of pride to the management. This service is conducted under the system of individual club meals. Carefully prepared menus are compiled into booklets, containing suggestions for breakfast, luncheon or supper that will not cost you more than thirty-five cents and on up to one dollar, which is the limit, hence the disbursement may wait for the appetite. Meals are also served "a la Carte." As no excess fare is charged on any train, it will be to your advantage to purchase your tickets via the Nickel Plate Route, where rates are lower than via any other line.
