The Tariff and 1904.

Some of the Democratic leaders say they will attempt to make the Tariff the leading issue in 1904. It is safe to say that the Republicans will be glad to asssist them in this endeavor. If there is anything that the Republicans would be grateful to the Democrats for in 1904, it is for bringing the Tariff question to the front, if they do this. Two or three Democrats in Congress have been making anti-Tariff addresses recently, with the intention of using them as campaign documents. The Republicans will be glad to assist the Democrats in disseminating all of that sort of literature that they will want to send out.

The Tariff is a pretty old issue. It has been talked about in many canvasses. In several campaigns it has turned the scale. For a great many years the Republican party has stood out sturdily for a Tariff which will give adequate Protection to American interests. For many of those interests the Republicans have been able to secure considerable Protection. All the interests that deserve aid of this sort at the custom house the Republican party will defend. Let the Democrats be under no illusions on that point. The Republican party would be very glad to see the issue of Protection brought to the front by the Democrats. The wiser members of the Democracy know there is peril for their party in assailing the Tariff, but perhaps some of the tenderfoot leaders of 1904 may be deluded into making an assult on this system.

Several excuses were made for Hancock's defeat in 1880, but the Tariff was the real cause of his overthrow. It was the Mills bill, which never passed, that laid out Cleveland in 1888. The Republicans do not need the Tariff as an aid in 1904, but they will accept it if the Democrats are obliging it it the Democrats are obliging enough to furnish it. Under the Republican Tariff of 1897 the Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered Republican Tariff of 1897 the country has had a prosperity almost without example in its during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. annals. THE TRUST QUESTION.

THE DEMOCRATS DID NOTHING, BUT THE REPUBLICANS PASSED THE LAW AND ENFORCED IT.

[Omaha "Bee"]
The Cleveland administration held the anti-trust law of 1890, a Republican measure, to be defective and inadequate, yet the Democratic Congress make no effort to remedy the defects and strengthen the law and only a perfunctory attempt was made to enforce it. Its value has since been successfully tested by a Republican administration. Furthermore, a Republican Congress has enacted legislation for the supervision of the combinations by the Government, to the extent of requiring them to furnish information in regard to their organization, financial condition and business methods. Publicity is provided for in the case of a corporation found to be conducting its affairs in a way inimical or injurious to the public interests.

Every intelligent man knows that this legislation has been repressive and beneficial. It has been largely instrumental in putting a stop to the promotion of trusts and overcapitalized combinations. What assurance can the Democratic party give that if restored to power it would even carry out this Republican legislation, to say nothing of adding to it? That party did not make any serious or sincere effort to enforce the anti-trust law when it had the opportunity and there is no reason to believe that given another opportunity it would make an honest effort to enforce any of the laws dealing with trusts and combinations en-acted by the Republican party.
