WASHINGTON LETTER. (From our Regular Correspondent.) Washington, July 16th, 1904. Editor Press: Whatever the President does, whether in this city, or out of it is read with interest by the vast number of people employed in the departments here, as well as population generally. While the work of the Government must go on without intermission, and while the heat of the city is at times intense, it is a pleasure to know that President Roosevelt is sleeping out of doors with his boys, or is taking a row on the Sound, crabbing or fishing, or sets a good example by chopping at the family woodpile, or is playing tennis, and perhaps receiving delegations of visitors from all points of the compass who want him to settle the affairs of the world, and do it at once by rule of thumb. Meanwhile he is preparing his speech to be delivered on the 27th inst., when he will be officially notified of his nomination. It is denied that there is any politics in the recent strikes, or that any action the President may have taken has anything to do with current labor troubles. The fact that the packing house magnates and their striking employees are willing to arbitrate their differences is proof that the trouble is non-partisan. Nor is it at all probable, as has been stated, that the President has issued orders through the Department of Justice, that the injunction case against the beef packers must be taken up by the Supreme Court immediately after convening for the October term. The President cannot issue such orders. The Court is a coordinate branch of the Government, and attends to its business according to its own rules, without pressure from any source. It is as independent of the Executive as the Executive is of it. Prominent Republicans who have returned to Washington since the Chicago convention, express utmost satisfaction with the political attitude of the West. Senator Foraker of Ohio, who lives on Sixteenth street in this city, said yesterday that everything is calm, confident and prosperous in the great middle western states. He says the sentiment is overwhelming for Roosevelt, and he predicts a large Republican majority in Indiana and Wisconsin. Senator Dick says: "I am unable to see how the Democratic party has even the ghost of a chance to win. One reason why there will be no Democratic victory is the eminent success of the Administration of President Roosevelt, and the fact that people have not forgotten the last Democratic Administration." The new Secretary of the Navy has a brother named Joy, who lives at Arbor Lodge, the home of the late Sterling J. Morton, Secretary of Agriculture under Cleveland. Mr. Joy Morton is naturally much rejoiced that his brother has a Cabinet position under a Republican President as renowned as is President Roosevelt. He has arranged to fetch a train load of eastern people to Nebraska city to attend a banquet which he will give to his brother Paul. The entertainment is booked for this evening, and the Secretary has left Washington to be present. One special train will run from Chicago and another from Omaha. Both Joy and Paul were raised on the home farm in Nebraska. It is sometimes the farmer boy who wins. Senator Fairbanks was an Ohio farmer's boy. Nearing Completion. Very silently and rapidly the crews of Italian laborers who have been grading the B. & S. roadbed from Driftwood to Sabula have vanished, this part of the new railroad building having been nearly completed. There is still however somewhat of a stretch east of Sabula that has not yet been dug nor graded only the surface having been cleared off. Where the numerous streams cross the line of grades, temporary wooden culverts have been put in. Afterwards the permanent structures will be built. Where the large streams cross the line, the creeks have been driven thickly with spiles. The track laying, when it is going on, proceeds at the rate of about a mile a day. Below Medix Run the track is being rapidly ballasted and put into complete and permanent shape and by the 15th proximo the rails will be laid into Tyler. Hence the months will be comparatively few until the new railroad will be an accomplished fact in Bennett Branch Valley.—Ex.
