Dear Sir: Would you rather have your customers speak of your shoes as wearing well, as not running down at the Frank W. Taylor, who has been heel, as turning water, and taking a shine, or wag their heads and say noth-

We'd rather have ours, at long intervals, say, "We want some more paint, and we want Devoe." We know it isn't in human nature to paint very often; we don't expect them to come very often; don't want 'em to. All we want is to paint what they have to paint, whenever they paint it; the longer the time, the surer they are to come-back. Colonel Guffey Has no Hope of Victory.

Members of Colonel Guffey's Penn

North American.

Members of Colonel Guffey's Pennsylvania Democracy have been given to understand that the Colonel virtually has abandoned hope of Democratic success in the national campaign.

Naturally, no person of consequence among the Colonel's followers will stand for a public acknowledgment of such a deplorable state of affairs. Nevertheless, among the rank and file of the State or anization it is generally accepted that Colonel Guffey's conspicuous absence from Esopus and the Democratic national headquarters in New York is the result of a firm conviction that the Parker-Davis ticket cannot win.

Though he managed to conceal it from all but his closest confidants until quite recently, the conviction of defeat is said to have come to Colonel Guffey more than a month ago. Through his extensive private business relations he learned in advance of many of his fellow-members of the National Committee that the much talked of "Parker sentiment" of "big business interests" was intended for convention purposes largely, and not for the campaign, and that, aside from Belmont group of financiers, there was to be little encouragement for Parker from the business men of the country. Convinced that the chief object for which the Bryanites were overthrown at St. Louis could not be attained, Colonel Guffey's followers now understand that he practically gave up the fight even before Candidate Parker's disappointing speech of acceptance. Guffey, it is said, believes that the Parker campaign has been very poorly managed, and particularly, that the failure of the Parker managers to make suitable terms with Tammany was a fatal blunder.
