Sinnamahoning.

I see in the PRESS of the 9th inst.. some one has made a personal attack on me, accusing me of writing for the Press and Independent. I wish to inform the writer that I write for neither of these papers referred to or any other paper. I attend strictly to my own business. To be sure I run a peanut roaster and work on the shoe bench and strap the razors, all of which belong to me and I have a right to use my outfit as I see fit. Should I lose funds in making an honest living, I am willing to lose them. I own a gum slot machine which I don't deny, but I never ask anyone to patronize the machine. Should the writer see it he probably would drop a cent in the slot. thinking it was a contribution box, unless some "kid" would tell him the difference

As far as the Gazette is concerned. I have never written a word for that paper. Should I ever happen to send a local, I assure the writer, I will not say anything personal to the injury of another. I don't know enough.

My name will be signed to all articles that come from me.

SINNAMAHONING.

I am unable at this writing to state when the ladies auxilliary of the R. P. U., will give their next fete. It all depends on the Committee having charge of the G. & S. C. C., to whom we are much indebted for news of what is going on I am told.

The R. P. U's entertainment was grand You wouldentthink they could command Good feeling of a community Not over loaded with!unity Putting forth good fellowships hand The Ball rolled away fine And we all danced in line
Amid the bright streams of light
As we did not get tight We gave a hearty goodnight And were glad that we had a good time. But it was a great task For us all to unmask

All to go away We reckon ther'll be a shootin' match here on Mr. Washington's birthday which comes on the 22d of February very year. Spose they'll be a big kick if they try to run it at the same old place where they used to viz: Ike Barber's long field which runs clean up to the woods. The B. & S. cut right and lett times through this patch and moren likely the'll be mad as thunder if any of our Citizens get to shootin' through it. Wonder how many of our Citizens recollect the shootin' match way back in the 80's when they tied a turkey with a string by the leg way up at the head of the clearin' and Ike Barber flopped its wings the first pop also the glancin' shot Bill Foultz made when he killed D. P's spotted calf. Ike was in our midst agin

When I was ridin' down the 'Fork one day last week behind Little Dick' Crum's team on his bob sleds I couldent help thinkin' how the stealin' hand ov time has changed things in our little village and joggin' down the long hill by the Red Bridge my mind couldent help re verten back to once before when I rode down with Wash Bailey behint his yoke of oxen and we tied up at the blacksmith shop at the foot of the hill and chatted a lyng spell with Josiah Fink and as Dick and I cut the corner I thought Joe M. would not be standing on the porch with his welcome for every 1 nor G. A. at the store with his cane and his dog with 'em maybe and as we drove on up I couldn't help thinkin' how the hand of civilization had tore Squire's farm assunder and drove him like the lone Indian further into the west. When we reached the bridge where I met the sleigh load that night I left and hobbled home to other re

We have a powerful lot of brave men in our midst O. K, when last week some of them was workin' for Arthur Barclay up Ellicks Run gettin logs out they treed an old bear and four cubs in a cave in the rocks. While they were shufflin around to draw cuts to see who would go in, Newell Bushore crawled right in and chased the old one out and got the four cubs. Then they drawed cuts agin to see who would fall heir to the cubs. Tanner Losey got two, Jim Fiskus got one and Newall got one. Fiskuses froze, Troner fed hisn too much becaused it whined and it puffed up and died. New all has his alive yet.

Pap Blodgett who we mentioned in the columns of these papers once before is 1 of our most respected citizens, he and his estimable wife are liked by exery one. When we wrote the piece about Pap we reckoned he'd crack his sides laughin' over it and understand it the same as w

The compassionless current which speeds its message of gladness to some and its message of sadness to others, broke its sad one to our community. Monday afternoon, when it told of the death in Philadelphia of one of our boys, David Fulton. Dave, as we were wont to call him, grew to manhood in our midst, and his many warm friends here cherished the hope that in his long bat tle with the grim messenger he would finally win, but it was not to be. Rather let us believe that he did win even in death and that his closing eyes caught visions of sweet fields beyond. He will be remembered as a man who tried to do his duty well, one who was held in high esteem by his employers and known all along the P. & E. as one of the best Passenger Conductors in the service.
