Secretary Root to the Mayor.

Secretary Root has at last put his opinions upon paper and upon them Mayor Weaver undoubtedly will act. The upshot of the advice is that, since District Attorney Bell has refused to make arrests upon his own responsibility, it is the privilege of the Mayor to proceed.

Of course, the advice is absolutely sound, and there is not a lawyer in Philadelphia with an experience of three days at the bar who could not have given it. It is precisely the position taken by District Attorney Bell and precisely the point made by The Inquirer.

The District Attorney, by his swift action in the election cases and in those of Messrs. Caven and Hill, has shown conclusively that it is not his intention to shield any wrong-doing, no matter by whom. He has simply tried to make it plain—and he has made it plain to every lawyer in Philadelphia—that it is not the duty of the District Attorney to indict persons previous to their arrest and a hearing in a regular way before a magistrate.

He has said in language as pointed as language can be written or spoken that he will proceed against any persons duly brought before him in the regular and orderly and legal way. What is more, he has invited Judge Gordon, the representative of the Mayor, to join with him in any prosecution. Therefore, the implied doubt cast upon the District Attorney's purity of motive is entirely uncalled for.

There has never been the slightest need of any mystery, of prolonged conferences in New York, of mid-night meetings and of Waldorf dinners. The Mayor has had his experts at work. If they have discovered criminality, then the way is perfectly simple. The District Attorney will prosecute after a magistrate's hearing. If there is evidence to convict a jury will vote to convict at the trial. If there is not then the cases will fall. That is all there is to it.

The trouble heretofore has been a very evident design to try the filtration business in the newspapers for political reasons. It is that design against which The Inquirer has protested. The matter is altogether too serious to be made the plaything of politicians or the football of politics, as we have frequently declared. Cut politics out and get down to facts. Quit trying to make the Republican party of Pennsylvania responsible for the filtration situation. Then the people will be able to understand and there will be a good deal less confusion.

The attack on the District Attorney was political and was intended to be such. There was no need of it whatever. The Mayor has all along had the example of Mayor Stuart as a precedent, and a great gathering of lawyers was superfluous. Mayor Stuart appointed experts to investigate the city department presided over by John Bardsley. His experts reported. Upon their report warrants were issued. After that the District Attorney stepped in. Mayor Weaver, in an exactly similar manner, has had experts at work. All that he has had to do at any time was to follow the example set by Mayor Stuart. There was no fuss, no feathers, about the arrest of Bardsley—no politics. Quietly, purely in a business way, the warrants were issued. There was no mystery. The whole affair was conducted in a dignified manner, and it was not made the subject of newspaper fireworks.

The Bullitt bill gives a Mayor full power to conduct investigations at any time without notice and to make use of experts. He is expected to act upon the advice of his experts. To this point Secretary Root has at length brought the present investigation, and the Mayor need not have gone outside his own law firm to fix his authority and his method of procedure.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Dents Run Mill.

The DuBois Courier says: When work ceased Saturday for the week at Mr. DuBois' Hicks Run mill it was with the expectation that the new mill would be started this morning for a season's cutting. The erection of the mill has been going on since spring and it has been made a very complete plant. There is approximately two hundred million feet of lumber to cut on it, and the present plans are to cut fifteen to twenty million a year. There is probably no more complete plant, or one having the assurances of a longer run, in the state, than the Hicks Run mill.

Cultivating business is in some respects very much like cultivating flowers, says the Philadelphia Record. You cannot make a success of flower gardening if you water your plants at the beginning of the season and let them go dry all summer. You cannot make a success of business getting if your advertising ventures are so far and few between as to lose their cumulative effect. Unless you keep everlastingly at it the public will have forgotten by the first of August that you existed on the first of June. When Tom or Dick or Harry discovers that he must make a purchase he goes to the merchant whose advertisement is in the paper every day rather than to him who last manifested signs of life a month ago.

Three Stories.

Here are some bits from the diary of Sir Mountstuart E. Grant Duff: "A gentleman who rather overvalued himself, looking at a case of birds, said to an ornithologist who was with him, 'What is that bird?' 'That,' said the other, 'is a magpie.' 'It's not my idea of a magpie,' was the rejoinder. 'Perhaps not,' replied his friend, 'but it's God's idea of a magpie.'"

A man named Faber lay ill. "You are very ill indeed," said the doctor. "Then you had better," the sick man rejoined, "order the prayers for the dying to be read." "No," answered the person to whom he spoke, "I think you will live four and twenty hours." "Oh, in that case," rejoined Faber, "read me Pickwick."

"Things one would rather have put differently," writes the diarist. "Mr. Cecil Rhodes to his neighbor at dinner, an extremely pretty woman: He—I hate Germans. She—Well, I don't hate them, but I by no means like them. He—Oh, I thought you were a German!"

Could Not Qualify.

A well known Scotch horse couper, who was considered a respectable member of a congregation, was frequently pressed by the minister to allow himself to be nominated for the eldership. He always put the matter off with evasive answers, but at length the minister demanded the reason for his refusal. Thus driven into a corner the worthy replied: "Man, I wonder to hear you, Mr. McNab! How can a man be an elder and sell a horse?"—Scottish American.

Not Mere Curiosity.

The world has a store of pleasures in waiting for the unaccustomed traveler. Sometimes, indeed, they may be mostly in anticipation, as was the case with Amos Riggs of Plumtown.

"How d'ye do?" said Mr. Riggs cordially to the stern visaged man who was his seat mate in the car on the occasion of Mr. Riggs' first trip to Boston. "Now what might your name be? Do you live in Nashua or beyond?" "I should like to know what business it is of yours where I live or who I am?" said his companion crossly. "Well, now, it ain't any particular business o' mine, strictly speaking," said Mr. Riggs mildly, "but it's just like this: I've got a cousin up in Canada that I've never seen, and I've always thought I might come upon him some time just by asking folks their name and so on."

Tides and Storms.

When a tempest is approaching or passing out on the ocean, the tides are noticeably higher than usual, as if the water had been driven in a vast wave before the storm. The influence extends to a great distance from the cyclonic storm center, so that the possibility exists of foretelling the approach of a dangerous hurricane by means of indications furnished by tide gauges situated far away from the place then occupied by the whirling winds. The fact that the tidal wave outstrips the advancing storm shows how extremely sensitive the surface of the sea is to the changes of pressure brought to bear upon it by the never resting atmosphere.

Green.

Owing to its derivation the word "green" was originally applied to the color of vegetation, but not to the color of the sea. No application of "green" to the color of the sea is quoted before Chaucer, but as early as the year 700 it was used for vegetation. The word is akin to "grass" and "grow," which verb originally belonged to the vegetable world alone. Vegetables "grew," but animals "waxed." "Green" comes from an Aryan root, "ghahr," meaning to be green or yellow, and "yellow," "gold" and "yolk" come from that same root.

Taploca and Pearl Taploca.

Taploca is manufactured from the plant called in Brazil manioc, in Peru yuca and in the West Indies cassava. When the true starch is separated from the root it is placed on hot plates and while it is heating is stirred with an iron rod. The starch grates burst, and the whole agglomerates into small, irregular masses. Pearl taploca is not a product of the plant at all, but of potato starch.

American, All Right.

A countryman registered at a hotel in Kansas City the other day. He did not explain on what "plan" he purposed to become a guest.

"European or American?" asked the clerk.

The guest looked surprised. "American," he said emphatically. "Born and raised up here in Platte county. I don't look like no foreigner, do I?"

A Different Meaning.

Beaks—What brought on old Wilkin's paralytic stroke? Peaks—I didn't know he was afflicted with one. Beaks—But you just told me he was paralyzed. Peaks—Quite true; but I didn't say he was suffering from a paralytic stroke.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Doomed.

"He'll never reach the top in his profession."

"Why, he believes he's there now."

"That's the very reason that he'll never get there."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A good action is never lost. It is a treasure laid up and guarded for the doer's need.—Calderon.

Song—Entitled, "My Mountain Home."

I've a charming rustic cabin in the mountains, Where my little family lives from day to day, Where the winds they gently fan the emerald verdure Of the trees and flowers blooming by the way, I am not blessed with bags of gold and silver, Or have I servants upon whom to call, But two treasures that we have will far exceed them, Love and good health surely are the best of all And when my daily tasks have been completed, And with quickened footsteps homeward I do go—There my wife and children then do fondly greet me, As my mother did in childhood long ago, Oh, my little home is ever bright and cheerful, "The simple life" it is the poor man's joy, No business cares and troubles to perplex me, Or no train of liveried servants to annoy.

As a poor man now I've told my little story, Of my mountain home and little family too, I dare say there's many poor men in this wide world Who will say that I have spoken very true, And when our span of life on earth is ended, And the angel beams with his hand to come, May our blessed Saviour guide us through the valley, To eternal joy up in His heavenly home.

REMEDY FOR HAY FEVER.

After Trying Other Treatments, Hyomei Was Used With Perfect Success.

Before the discovery of Hyomei the only advice a physician could give his hay fever patients, was to go away from home, but now anyone who is subject to this disease can, if used, stay at home without fear of the annual attack of sneezing, watery eyes, and other discomforts.

J. F. Forbes, a well known Western railroad man, whose home is at McCook, Nebraska, writes "I have never had any relief from hay fever, even temporarily, until I discovered the merits of Hyomei. I always recommend it when occasion requires."

There is no offensive or dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. This reliable remedy for the cure of all diseases of the respiratory organs is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that the air taken into the throat and lungs is like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts, where hay fever is unknown.

The fact that L. Taggart agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei without success, should inspire confidence in its power to effect a cure. A complete outfit costs only $1.00 and extra bottles but 50 cents.

The Most Fatal Disease.

Diseases of the kidneys cause more deaths than any other one class of diseases. Most people who have kidney disease do not know they have it. The first symptoms are either not noticed or mistaken for something else. This is why insurance companies always require a strict analysis of urine before granting insurance. Thompson's Barosma will at once relieve any congestion or inflammation of the kidneys and has made remarkable cures in Bright's disease, sciatica and all diseases of the kidneys and liver. Pleasant to take. Thompson's Barosma 50c and $1.00 at R. C. Dodson's.

How to Retain Youth.

Middle aged and aged people can retain their youthfulness by keeping certain organs in a healthy condition. In a man the liver and kidneys will cause him to look, feel and act careworn. In a woman the liver and organs peculiar to her sex will give her a careworn, sallow, wrinkles look and dragged out feelings. All this can be avoided by Thompson's Barosma. It builds up and strengthens all those functions giving renewed youth. Thompson's Barosma retains youth. R. C. Dodson's 50c and $1.00.

The Lassies

Who use molasses demand the best syrup obtainable. Treacle is not molasses although there's much treacle sailing under false colors. The difference between treacle and molasses lies in the fact that treacle comes from sugar in the process of making, while molasses is obtained in the process of refining. You can not get good out of bad, but you can get the best from the best which comes from the sugar.
