"Paddle wheels" are not gambling devices according to the opinion of an devices according to the opinion of an Armstrong county grand jury, who held that it is not unlawful to set up and operate on the public streets gamb-ling devices known as "paddle wheels." It emphacises this decision by placing the costs on Rev. L. A. Carroll, rector of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, of Kittanning, whom the district at-torney named as the prosecutor. Witnesses swore to losing money on the paddle wheel and that they were running openly on the streets.—Brad-ford Herald.

What a Hog Can do. John Rinker, of Scranton, holds, he believes the world's championship as a beer drinker says the Clinton County Democrat. One night last week he drank on a wager, eight gallons in twenty eight minutes. He bet he could do it in an hour. Rinker placed a tube in the barrel, and with a large crowd of men and women watching the test, he drank steadily for twenty five of men and steadily for twenty five minutes. Then he complained that no more beer came, so the keg was tilted and he drank the last drop So little was he inconvenienced that he stood at the bar and drank several glasses more.

wood Gazette, Mr. Kreider's home town, shows how he stands with his nighbors: It is customary, and in fact has be-come almost a necessity, to publish a sketch or history of every man coming up for public patronage, and as we have heard the praises sung of about every candidate before the people, it will not be amiss to publish a brief sketch of the life of Mr. Samuel P. Kreider, Republican candidate for County Commissioner. Mr. Kreider was born in Juniata county in 1857 and at the age of 12 years he followed the plow on his fath-er's farm. He was left fatherless and homeless at the tender age of 13 years and from that time to the present day he has paddeled his own cance. He came to Cameron county when but a lad 14 of years and was a brakeman on the P. and E, railroad at the age of 15 years, following that vocation for seven years. He took up lumbering on of Dr. R. P. Heilman, A. D. Ericsson, Jay P. Felt, Fred R. Heilman and Chas. T. Logan enlivened the occasion with song from start to finish. The attendance from all parts of the county manifested an interest in the success of the Republican nominations and augurs well for the entire ticket. Mr. L. W. Gleason, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, designated Hon.

Republican Party Supper.

The Republican Party Supper given at the New Warner House last Thursday evening was a very pleasant affair and passed off in a quiet, orderly and social manner. Covers were laid for sixty-eight. A Glee Club, composed

Josiah Howard, who was the chief promoter of the supper, to act as Chairman of the occasion, when the social gathering were seated around three long tables, abundantly supplied with all the good things. Before making an attack upon the tempting menu the Glee Club sang "America" all present joiuing in singing the National Anthem. After devouring the turkey and other delicacies, interspersed with several songs, Hon. Josiah Howard broke the rule to dispense with toasts and speeches, giving a description of the "work and practice of the Penn sylvania Legislature," describing in a very intelligent manner to the evident satisfaction of all present, who listened to his remarks with marked attention. This is the first of the Republican Party suppers to be given in this county and we hope the one to be given next year, if the custom shall be permanent, will be held at Driftwood. These oc casions, being strictly of a social order, cannot fail but result in good. After listening to and assisting in singing "The Star Spangled Banner," Chairman Gleason distributed a box of Hon. J. Lee Plummer buttons, when every Republican marched from the banquet hall wearing the standard bearer's button. Even Hon. I. K Hockley, a guest, editor of the democratic Independent, was protusely decorated on all sides with "For State Treasurer, Hon. J. Lee Plummer." We have it from close authority that Mr. Hockley never since the days of husking bees and boiled cider has he slept so peacefully and innocentlynot even one snore.

Death of D. D. Colcord. Dr. D. D. Colcord, who had been at Coudersport several weeks, answered the last roll call and "went over the Divide" on Oct. 4th, at the ripe old age of 84 years and 12 days. He was a vet-eran of the civil war and a pensioner. Funeral was held Saturday 7th, and interment made in Homer Cemetery beside his first wife. He left two brothers, M. B., of Port Allegany and Albert of Homer, Pa., and one sister, Mrs. Eliza Peet, of Coudersport, also a widow and two sons, Dr. A. W., of Clairton, Pa., and M. J., of the Potter Journal. In his younger days he took up teaching as a profession and had taught schools all over Potter and Cameron counties to the amount of nearly 100 terms. Later he took up the practice of medicine, in which he was quite successful, and saved the people of this section a great many dollars, which they would have had to pay doctors from a distance had they been employed. He also filled the puplit on many occasions, when there was a scarcity of preachers. He has served as post master at First Fork, for about 30 years, but had resigned a few weeks previous to his demise. INDEX. Death of D. D. Colcord. INDEX.

Sizerville Magnetic Mineral Water. One of the most unique mineral springs in the country is at Sizerville, One of the most unique mineral springs in the country is at Sizerville, in Pennsylvania. Oil prospectors were responsible for the discovery of this spring. In drilling for oil the water came to the surface when the drills had reached 500 feet. Some of the work-men tasted the water, and finding that it possessed some unheard of qualities reported the find to their employers, who concluded that the water was far more valuable than oil. The water was tested by thousands, and as many cures were affected the springs soon became famous. As a remedy, especially for indiges-tion, rheumatism, kidney and liver troubles, the Sizerville Magnetic Water is strongly endorsed both by physic-ians and their patients. The present proprietors, Edward D. Sizer & Co., bottle and ship the water in large quantities all over the country. 'Dora Thorne' as a novel is a beautiful story and has been so widely read and re-read by lovers of a sweet story that comments on the re-production of 'Dora Thorne's story on the stage are superflowes. The play abounds in pather and are superfluous. The play abounds in pathos and mirth, and the actors who assume the roles in this pretty play are well fitted to their parts and certainly do justice to their respective roles."
