

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

"No, Sir! You cannot palm off any substitutes on me. I've been using August Flower since I was a boy, and I'll have no other."

Forty million bottles of August Flower sold in the United States alone since its introduction! And the demand for it is still growing. Isn't that a fine showing of success? Don't it prove that August Flower has had unflinching success in the cure of indigestion and dyspepsia—the worst enemies of health and happiness? Does it not afford the best evidence that August Flower is a sure specific for all stomach and intestinal disorders?—that it is the best of all liver regulators? August Flower has a matchless record of over 35 years in curing the ailing millions of these distressing complaints. Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

Old Reliable

The motif in Grace Cody's story of "The Real Christmas," in the first of the December numbers of The Youth's Companion, is the present giving problem, and it is worth anybody's while to pause in the rush of Christmas shopping to read it. In all these December numbers of The Companion the Christmas note is sounded, and not one of them but contains something worth treasuring in the memory. Ian MacLaren, the Duke of Argyll, Harriet Prescott and Sir H. H. Johnson are among the contributors. There is an interesting traveller's account of Tunis and Tangier, by William H. Rideing, and article giving some incidents and experiences in "The Life of a Revivalist," by the Rev. W. J. Dawson, the English Evangelist who has been conducting meetings throughout America during the last year. The thousands of readers who followed with interest last spring Grace S. Richmond's story of "The Second Violin" will eagerly await the opening chapter of the sequel to it, "The Churchills' Latch String," which is announced for the issue of December 14th.

DEBSE.

FIRST FORK.

The concussion of the explosion of the Keystone Powder Works at Emporium last Monday was felt here.

On Saturday at ten o'clock the funeral of Fred Nelson of Lyman Run, was held here, Rev. E. Simpson officiating. He had been at work for a number of years for Geo. Haat, lumberman, and being taken sick was sent to the Williamsport hospital where he died. He leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters, also a mother, a brother and sister, living at or near Lancaster, Pa.

The great law maker took the protection of the game into his own hands and did it pretty thoroughly, by not sending any tracking snow during hunting season. So the "sports" from the cities went home empty handed as far as deer is concerned. Some of them at least.

A game warden would have had a good chance for "biz" if he had been here when some parties were running deer with their dogs. At least a deer came into Gess Bros. field with a hound a close second. He might have started it on his own hook, but circumstances go to show he had help to start it. But Game Wardens are never around only, when some poor person catches a little trout under size, then he has to settle to the full extent of the law.

The snow and rain of the last few days has made a flood in the stream and now a body can breathe God's pure air without having to breathe the stench or the pollution of the stream by Potter county industries. Cameron county has not much chance to go back on Potter county's pollution of the streams as long as she allows the refuse from the dynamite to kill all the fish in the Driftwood branch.

Sinnamahoning Liars Club.

As the hunting season has closed the members have more time to devote to the cause. The club has ruled out J. R. and Pap Blodget. The young members are getting too frisky. They have a hard time to beat our tonsorial artist; he always manages to hold his own. We expect some new members. T. W. Snyder visits us twice a week on our visiting nights. Metzger takes a look at our quarters when he passes by. We think he is straddle of the fence with one foot on each side. We expect some surprises when Chas. Snyder gets after coons. One member reported killing four coons on one limb; another reported that he had killed as many coons in one tree that would fill a wagon box, all a team of oxen could haul. Railroad yarns are sprung often. Our agent on the B. & S. can beat the world in that line. Abe Florin springs some good ones. He is a good member. No further business the club adjourned until Tuesday night.

FIDE.

Sully's Court-Ship.

While on a secret mission to Paris in 1583 Rosny had fallen in love with the daughter of the president, St. Mesmin. The young lady was handsome and kind, but while paying her his addresses he heard of a Mlle. de Courtenay, who was reported to be beautiful, well born and wealthy besides. Prudence suggested that he should make for the Baroness de Rosny, but he was already half committed to the other. While he was pondering the subject he arrived one day at an inn in Nogent and found, to his dismay, that by an unlucky chance both ladies were lodged in it. Mlle. de St. Mesmin in the left wing and Mlle. de Courtenay in the right. Both were ready to marry him, and he was ready to marry one of them, but could not decide which. It was a very awkward position for the wavering lover, and at first he thought of saving himself by instant flight. While he hesitated Mlle. de St. Mesmin's younger sister saw him and expressed her surprise that he had been half an hour in the house without visiting them. The decisive moment had evidently come. "Turn to the right," whispered the friend who was with him. He did so, and Anne de Courtenay became his wife.—H. C. Macdowell in Macmillan's Magazine.

A Versatile Parish Clerk.

The ancient parish clerk in England had many functions. Letters were not so common in those days as today, and the clerk was the learned man of the community. One of his functions was writing epitaphs, but this was not the sum of his accomplishments, as may be seen from the advertisement of John Hopkins, clerk of Salisbury in the eighteenth century:

John Hopkins, parish clerk and undertaker, sells epitaphs of all sorts and prices. Shaves neat and plays the bassoon. Teeth drawn, and the Salisbury Journal read gratis every Sunday morning at 8. A school for psalmody every Thursday evening, when my son, born blind, will play on the fiddle. Specimen epitaph on my wife:

My wife ten years not much to my ease, But now she is dead in caelo quies. Great variety to be seen within. Your humble servant, JOHN HOPKINS.

He Stopped the Coughing.

One Sunday morning a clergyman was greatly annoyed by the unusual amount of coughing among his congregation. He had not a strong voice and could only be distinctly heard when the people were still and attentive. As the coughing went on, and even grew worse, he suddenly stopped right in the middle of the sermon. All eyes were instantly turned to the pulpit, every cough was hushed and there was perfect silence.

"My friends," said the minister, with a smile, "it seems you stop when I stop." This gentle rebuke had the desired effect. The people found that their coughing could be kept down when they liked to a great extent, and the minister proceeded with his sermon under far more favorable conditions.

Also best for cuts, burns and injuries. 25 at L. Taggart druggist.
